Appeal Denied

VIRGINIA BEACH — Lefroy W. Whitehurst Jr., 47, charged with holding up a 7-11 store at Robbins Corner, appeared in court Monday and was bound over to the Circuit Court grand jury.

Municipal Court Judge George Vakis turned down a plea by Whitehurst's attorney, Lee Kelberg, that his client be committed to a mental institution.

Whitehurst, according to testimony, apologized to store manager William L. Goodson, as he was robbing him of $81. Goodson said Whitehurst was a regular customer at the store and told him his name during the holdup and that he lived across the street from the Chesapeake Beach Fire Station.

Shortly after the robbery, police picked up Whitehurst at his home. There they found a toy pistol and $44.

BUREAUCRATIC BUNGLING DENIED

Federal Official Says Beach Aid Requests Not Filed Correctly

VIRGINIA BEACH — There is a relatively new federal agency called the Department of Housing and Urban Development, with regional offices in Philadelphia. The new department was created last fall to make the Federal wheels of progress move a little faster, but as far as Virginia Beach is concerned, it is beginning to seem that there are few kinks in the communication channels there.

Back in February the City of Virginia Beach made application for approximately $4.5 million in Federal funds for two water and sewerage expansion projects. The original application went to several state agencies then to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare before reaching the new Federal Department. There they apparently stopped, or went around in bureaucratic circles.

Meanwhile the City of Virginia Beach was anxiously awaiting some word on the requests before moving ahead. Early this week Richard J. Webbon, Coordinator of Urban Affairs, said the city may be forced to drop its requests if action is not taken within the next month.

The Coordinator had spent much time traveling to Washington and Philadelphia trying to get some kind of information on the status of the requests, but with little success. He says he had enlisted the help of both Senators and several Congressmen, who had met with about the same amount of success.

And that was the way matters stood until late Tuesday when the new federal department reacted to Webbon's remarks. A spokesman in Philadelphia said they were not delaying funds, but that the City of Virginia Beach had never made formal application for the money in the first place. The spokesman said the papers filed in February by Virginia Beach constituted only a preliminary application.

In describing the next step to be taken, Jerome Parker, regional director of the Communities Facilities Administration of the new department said Virginia Beach officials had also failed to prove plans for the water and sewerage projects with other area planning studies. Webbon, on the other hand, says he did not know until he was in Philadelphia last week trying to find out the status of the applications that such proving was necessary. He says he will now take the plans as soon as possible to the Southeastern Virginia Regional Planning Commission.

Parker said there is no way the applications could be processed in less than thirty days even if the formal requests were sent in immediately.

One of the major reasons that City officials are anxious to "cut through the red tape" in a hurry concerns the construction of two new schools in Virginia Beach which will open next fall. The Federal money is to be used partly for construction of water and sewerage facilities at the new Alanton School and at the new Oceana High School. According to Webbon, the contracts for the construction of these facilities have to be awarded by the first of June in order to get them finished on time. On the other hand, the City cannot sign contracts for the work while the requests are pending. If they do, the applications for Fed-

Chamber OK's Proposal

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce has endorsed the action of the Southeastern Regional Planning Commission in proposing the establishment of a Hampton Roads Standard consolidated area for the 1970 census to the federal government.

The chamber urged area chambers and all other interested business groups and government agencies to work toward the establishment of this consolidated area.

The Beach Chamber approved the measure in the form of a resolution presented to the body by R. Bradshaw Pulley, chamber president.

The resolution called for the formation of this consolidated area because water barriers between the cities of Portsmouth, Virginia Beach, Chesapeake, Norfolk, Newport News and Hampton continue to be reduced in significance with increasing road, water and air transportation.

The resolution also pointed out that "a community of interest in business, industry, shipping and tourism exists between the cities on both sides of Hampton Road."

Miss Long, the daughter of John P. Long, has maintained a "B" average and plans to go to the Medical College of Virginia.

Walter Mathias is the son of assistant Fire Chief Melvin R. Mathias. He plans to go to medical school, and is fifth in a class of 174.

Jerry Peck is the son of Mrs. Ardeha S. Peck, a teacher at Cox High School. Jerry plans to major in electrical engineering at VPI.

Inquiries Up

VIRGINIA BEACH — Albin R. Malhes, Executive Director of the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce, said his office has received more than 15,000 inquiries from prospective visitors so far this year.

Malhes said the chamber has received more than 3,000 more inquiries than at the same time last year.

The majority of inquiries are on coupons clipped from the city's advertisements across the country. Malhes said.

City Will Seek Aid

VIRGINIA BEACH — City officials in Virginia Beach plan to seek federal aid to help with beautification on highways, park, and other areas.

The City Planning Commission staff is, at present, gathering information on how much the city spent for beautification the last two years. This will provide a basis for the federal request.

Sources at city hall are hopeful that an aid request will be approved by July 1. The planning is in the preliminary stages and specific improvements and costs have not yet been determined.

Such aid for projects is available from the federal government on a 50-per-cent basis for such improvement projects as high-plantings, fountains and other physical work on existing parks and landscaping around historic buildings.

EXPECTED FRIDAY

No Decisions At Mixing Deadline

VIRGINIA BEACH — Friday, May 6th is the date set by the Office of Education of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for the School Board of the City of Virginia Beach to comply with earlier directives. As the deadline rapidly approaches, federal officials have not said whether they will accept a new plan submitted by the Virginia Beach School Board.

The details of the new plan have not been released, however it is known that the plan would further integrate both classes and faculties over integration during the present school year. In addition the School Board has offered to integrate totally summer school facilities this summer. Again no details of that plan have been released publicly.

The new proposal, offered by the City was sent to HEW officials Tuesday after the original freedom-of-choice plan was struck down and the city was told to integrate completely. A deadline for complying with the federal directive was set for May 6. Since the old plan was struck down a month ago, Frank W. Cox, Superintendent of Virginia Beach Schools has had several meetings with federal officials, but has not been able to find out just what is expected of the school system. Then the new proposal was sent in. No acceptance or disapproval has been forthcoming at the deadline.

At this time federal authorities have refused to comment on their position. Cox described last-minute negotiations as "nebulous," but would not comment further.

Cox told the Virginia Beach Sun Wednesday afternoon that he had called the school board into ex-

Garden Week Celebrated

VIRGINIA BEACH — Historic Garden Week in Virginia was celebrated here with the Virginia Beach Garden Club tour on Tuesday, and Princess Anne Garden Party on Friday.

It was a cool cloudy day, perfect for walking, when the tour began at “Four Oaks,” owned by F. Sheppard Royster Jr. at 1101 Cedar Point Drive. Many ladies, some men, and a few children were on hand to view this elegant country house which was built on the foundations of the old Princess Anne Hunt Club. It has been added to twice and it rambles on with great grace and charm.

Next was the Phillips house at 700 Cavalier Drive, a long low house of rosy brick, home of a young married couple. It featured many beautiful antiques blending well with the modern design. Owned by Mr. and Mrs. George C. Phillips Jr., it was opened for the first time.

The Whiteley House on 816 Cavalier Drive was built for the retirement years and is a little gem of a house in cool Williamsburg colors. Furnished in exquisite taste, the walls are hung with oil paintings and portraits framed in gold leaf. Mr. and Mrs. E. Clyde Whiteley are the owners and this was the first year it has been opened for the tour.

Another lovely home opened for the first time was the one story house of white painted brick with black-green shutters in the Colonial tradition. Located at 103 Ridge Road and owned by Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm W. Hillman, it features a highly contemporary interior. Men were especially interested in Mr. Hillman's study with its mounted grouse and hand-some gun closet.

Refreshments of punch and pastries were served in the Hull garden at 601 Cavalier Drive. The outdoor barbecue area, shady and hospitable, is paved with flagstone and brick, and from which could be seen the wide expanse of smooth lawn, banked with huge trees, dogwood, azaleas, and camellias.

Two homes along the ocean front were opened for the first time. Men were especially interested in Mr. Hillman's study with its mounted grouse and hand-some gun closet.

The sandy pink house belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood E. Liles is set on grounds blooming with pink petunias, cannas, hibiscus, oleanders, tamarisk, and ginger lilies. Very interesting were the paintings by local Tidewater artists.

This year's tour was splendidly interesting and featured many different but equally elegant homes amid settings of magnificent landscaping.

The Princess Anne Garden Club broke with its tradition of opening old homes and instead presented an outdoor historical pageant on the grounds of the Adam Thoroughgood House on Friday.

The pageant, written by the late Mary Sinton Leitch who was a charter member of the Princess Anne Garden Club, symbolized the landing of the first settlers at Cape Henry in 1607. Mrs. Alice West directed the cast of Virginia Beach school students, who were in costumes on loan from historic Jamestown.

Two performances were given of the thirty minute drama. The Princess Anne High School Madrigal Singers, under the direction of Clark Graves, sang during the time between performances. Madrigals, seldom heard today, were at the peak of their popularity at the time of the landing at Cape Henry. The singers were also in costume.

Refreshments were served between performances by the members of the garden club. All proceeds received from admissions during historic garden week each year are used for the restoration of grounds and gardens of shrines of national importance in Virginia.

PRE-NATAL CLASS

Motherhood Miracle Explained

By CASSANDRA

VIRGINIA BEACH — In the spotless Rescue Squad Lounge, located above the headquarters of their gleaming white ambulances, there is a prenatal class for mothers-to-be, operating without charge by the Tidewater Association of The American Red Cross. It meets each Monday and Thursday mornings from 10 a.m. to 12 noon and is taught by Mrs. Betty Thompson, a petite black-haired blue-eyed graduate nurse, who received her training in Oakland, Calif. Her little figure and tiny waist belie the fact that she is the mother of three sons. She instructed the opening class Monday.

Mrs. Eloise C. Bull, Director of Nursing Services of the Tidewater chapter, introduced Mrs. Thompson after sketching a brief history of Virginia Beach and its cooperation with the Red Cross.

Around the room upon the walls hung many pictures of Rescue Squad achievements. The female dummy — "Mrs. Chase," known to all nurses as in evidence. She's used in mouth-to-mouth resuscitation classes.

Across the room were many tiny baby dolls, measuring 18 inches in length and weighing five pounds — the average for a newborn infant. Piles upon piles of different shaped and of different material diapers were noted. This is indisputably the prime commodity in the life of any young mother.

Mrs. Thompson gave each student a typewritten first lesson with sketched illustrations of the sizes, types, materials and shapes of diapers. "In my experience," she said, "diaper service, as a gift to a young mother would be perfect. I'd rather have diapers than roses!"

Large medical charts and drawings of the female body were explained. She traced the position of the baby from conception to birth and everyone breathed to herself the word "miracle" when an actual birth was portrayed.

The need of low heels, rest, normal living and consideration by the father-to-be were learned. Such terms as "identical" and "fraternal twins" were explained. The newest way to hold the baby with one arm while cooking or telephoning with the other was demonstrated — it is called "The Football Hold."

Fear disappeared with fun, fellowship and facts. The class will continue for six mornings, and on May 19 at 10 a.m. the girls in the class will meet with their husbands at The General Hospital of Virginia Beach, when they will visit the delivery room, the expectant father's pacing area and see the doctors and nurses in action.

"We would like a larger class," Mrs. Thompson stated, "and it is not too late to join us." Among the girls who attended this beginner's class were service wives: Mrs. Ellen Drumheller, Mrs. Louise Cross, Mrs. Sandra Murphy and Mrs. Sandra Switzer.

Bay Shore GC

BAY SHORE — The Bay Shore Garden Club held its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Walter Renn, Mrs. Thomas J. Wornack was co-hostess.

The slate of officers was presented by the nominating committee and accepted by the club for the 1966-1967 year. Mrs. J. Sneed Schmidt was elected president; Mrs. Robert C. Courain, vice president; Mrs. Robert V. Fleming, assistant vice president; Mrs. Alvin Q. Jarrett, treasurer; Mrs. William P. Rudrow, recording secretary, and Mrs. Leonard Kuhl, corresponding secretary.

An outstanding program was given by Mrs. E. A. Hoffmeister demonstrating that beauty and originality can be achieved with vegetables as well as fruits in table arrangements.

After the program, the drawing was held to determine the winner of $25 worth of shrubs from Coleman Nursery. Mrs. Walter M. Phillips of Bay Colony was the lucky one.

Blue ribbons for flower arrangements were presented to Mrs. J. Sneed Schmidt, Mrs. Clifford Baughman and Mrs. Robert C. Courain.

Mrs. Maurice Jackson received a blue ribbon for her horticulture specimen.

Princess Anne WC

LYNNHAVEN — Mrs. C. W. Jernigan, Chairman of the Department of Garden Conservation and Decoration, will be in charge of the program to be presented at the May meeting of the Princess Anne Woman's Club of Virginia Beach.

The meeting will be held on Tuesday, May 10, at the Pine Tree Inn at 11:30 a.m.

MR. AND MRS. MALCOLM H. TODD fashioned this replica of Queen Karl's float in the recently held Azalea Festival Parade. It is made of azaleas, and miniature dolls represent the queen's attendant as well as the queen herself. Mrs. Todd is an accredited judge of flower shows, and is known all over the Tidewater area for her knowledge of flower arrangements and her originality in her lectures. Queen Karl carried the float to Norway with her.

That was the year they put the balance wheel into the watch and started watches ticking. Now the tick tock is obsolete. After 300 years, it's been replaced by the tiny Accutron tuning fork which keeps time through vibrations. The result: a very faint hum and the most precise wrist timepiece ever. Accutron guarantees average monthly accuracy within 60 seconds. We'd say this is the perfect gift of time.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

We Are Glad To Hear It

The General Registrar of the City of Virginia Beach says that new voter registration is heavy in some areas and moderately heavy in others, in anticipation of the forthcoming registration deadlines. We are certainly glad to hear this news, and hope that the interest in registering and actually voting will continue. Based on this new information, we look forward to the largest turnout ever in the upcoming Councilmatic election on June 14th and the largest turnout ever in the July 12th Democratic primary, which has two U. S. Senate races to settle.

We are extremely pleased that there seems to be so much interest in the municipal election this year. The candidates are conducting active campaigns and the prospective voters seem to be listening. This is fine, and should be the case in all elections. Unfortunately this is not always so.

To make matters easier than ever this year, additional hours are being added by the Electoral Board for registering to vote in several places in the city. There are always those who complain they could not get to a registration place during the day. What will these same folks complain about this time? The registrars' offices will be open at nights too in select areas until the June 12th deadline. At that time the books should be "full" when they are closed prior to the July primary. It should also make matters easier in the next two weeks for those who wish to register in time to vote in the Council election. The deadline there is May 14th.

Some of the precinct registrars have said they expect an increase in the number of registrants because of the doing away with the poll tax requirement. Others, and we are inclined to agree with them, say they do not believe the "no poll tax" will affect the

The Young Literary Giants

We take off our hat to the young journalists in three high schools in Virginia Beach. For outstanding achievements in school newspapers, yearbooks, and literary magazines, they have been honored by the Southern Interscholastic Press Association at Washington and Lee University in Lexington, Virginia.

The 37th annual convention of the SIPA was held last weekend, and three Virginia Beach schools walked off with high awards. More than 350 publications from nearly 200 schools in 11 states were entered. We feel great pride in our students from Princess Anne High School, Floyd E. Kellam High School and Frank W. Cox High School, whose work on publications was found worthy of recognition.

In the Newspaper category, The Princess Anne Page of Princess Anne High School was in the Honor Award Group and the Roundtable, of Kellam High School was in the Achievement Award Group. In the Yearbook category, The Talon, of Cox High School won a place in the First Place Award Group. And for its literary magazine, the Cavalier Folio, Princess Anne was again in the Honor Award Group.

The honors received by these students, schools and publications are well-deserved, and show much hard work and devotion on the parts of both students and faculty advisors alike. Our sincere congratulations to this year's SIPA winners in Virginia Beach.

voting rolls measurably. The people of Virginia Beach, for the most part, have not always agreed with the poll tax, but they always paid the levy in order to vote. We, therefore do not see any real influx of new voters this year after the lifting of the prerequisite. The real influx is coming and will come from active voter registration campaigns being carried out in the places where elections are won... in the neighborhoods. New residents are being contacted and urged to register. Fortunately, many are responding, and we hope many more will before the two registration deadlines.

In the Councilmatic primary, a few more than 4,500 citizens of Virginia Beach went to the polls. By the time of the Council election, we are told there should be 30,000 registered voters in Virginia Beach, or more, and we hope all of them continue to show this enthusiasm. We hope all of them will get out and vote, both in the Councilmatic election and in the Democratic Primary.

For those who have not yet registered, remember those night hours, and don't put it off until the last minute. We want to see a large electorate in these two forthcoming important elections. In both, the residents of Virginia Beach must play a large role.

National Hospital Week

The General Hospital of Virginia Beach is almost a year old and already a respected member of the community. It replaced a small and inadequate facility last summer, and many residents of the city are wondering now how the old facility ever began to fill the needs. They are wondering especially since plans have recently been advanced to enlarge the size of the new hospital considerably. The new 105-bed hospital, magnificent as it is and as welcome as it is, is just not big enough. We look forward to the day that the addition will be a reality.

During National Hospital Week next week exhibits will be set up in the lobby of the General Hospital of Virginia Beach, and hospital personnel will be on duty to show visitors around. Too often the citizens of a city do not ever visit a hospital unless they are visiting a patient or are patients themselves. Under those circumstances it is rather difficult to look at a hospital objectively. We suggest to the residents of Virginia Beach a trip to the hospital next week to look at the exhibits, to learn what really goes on there and to gain a new feeling of pride in such a fine hospital as the one we have right in our city.

Hospitals today are manned by highly trained professionals, offering services not dreamed of a quarter of a century ago. In the constant fight against disease, the job of a hospital and its staff grows ever more complicated. As expansion continues, unlimited opportunities are offered to those with varied skills. In short, a hospital, too often taken for granted, is an important part of any community.

We are grateful that we have such a place in Virginia Beach. As the General Hospital of Virginia Beach nears its first birthday and has tremendous growing pains, we take this opportunity to congratulate the administrative and professional staffs on a job well done. And we invite all citizens of our city to see the exhibit at the hospital in the next few days.

'I CANNOT TELL A LIE -- HE DID IT!'

A Silver Anniversary

Twenty-five years ago this week, just a few months before that tragic day at Pearl Harbor, a new type of savings plan was inaugurated in the United States. This week is the 25th birthday of the Series E Savings Bond, a real instrument of thrift that has now affected nearly two hundred million Americans. Across the land this week, the little piece of paper that has become a way of life is being celebrated on its birthday.

Average daily sales of E bonds hover in the neighborhood of $15 million now. They are bought at banks or other savings institutions and through payroll plans. They have proved to be a valuable investment, and even a fine gift for anyone. The bonds now mature in seven years at an interest rate of 4.15%. Americans everywhere are helping to celebrate this twenty-fifth anniversary by continuing routinely to buy more and more bonds at a record pace.

In Virginia Beach the 1966 goal for the sale of Series E and H bonds has been set at $210,000, and by the end of March, 44% of that goal had been reached, the highest percentage of any goal by any city in the State of Virginia. In March alone, over $41,000 in bonds were purchased. The people of Virginia Beach recognize a good thing. And we join all Americans everywhere in celebrating 25 years of Star Spangled Security for all Americans.

Keep Right On Asking

We note with pride that the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce has received a record number of inquiries from prospective tourists and visitors this year. There have already been more than 16,000 inquiries from persons interested in visiting Virginia Beach this spring, summer and fall. Many of the inquiries from out-of-state also concern winter activities and permanent settlement. Last year at this time less than 14,000 inquiries had been received by the Chamber.

We hope that each of these inquiries brings us visitors. We think we live in one of the most progressive and rapidly growing cities anywhere, and we want everyone else to come here and see for themselves. Then they might join us. As far as our resort season guests are concerned, we look to the 1966 tourist season to be the biggest and best one on record.

Keep right on asking about us, folks. We'll be glad to give you any information you want to know, and we'll be proud to have you visit us. Hope you'll "sit and stay a spell," maybe forever.

Norfolk Man

ney, the man will testify here next that night as he left the store in the 2500 block of Colonial Ave. in Norfolk.

"I noticed the car behind me pulling up closer behind and then dropping back," Mainhard said. "At first I thought it was some kids," he said.

Mainhard testified that when he turned off Virginia Beach Boulevard onto Newtown Road the car pulled up beside him. It had two men inside with both of them pointing a gun at him, he said. He added that the other car swerved in front of him, forcing his car off the road.

Then, Mainhard said, the two men got out of their car and ordered him to get into it. Mainhard said Hadley ordered him into the front seat and stuck a rifle under his chin while the driver turned the car around and headed back to the boulevard.

The car traveled down Newtown Road until it approached a sharp curve near Hawkins Inn and ran off the road into a wet shoulder, Mainhard said.

The driver then took Mainhard's wristwatch, wallet and keys, ordered him to strip to his shoes, and then ordered him to lie down in a drainage ditch, Mainhard said.

At that time, Mainhard said, someone approached them and the driver jumped down in the ditch with him, stuck a gun in his side and ordered him to get quiet.

The approaching person was a policeman, who arrested the driver.

Hadley was arrested a short time later as he was walking across a graveyard. He had a .22-caliber pistol in his pocket. Police said they also found an empty pistol on the driver and two loaded rifles and several boxes of ammunition in the car.

Girl Honored

VIRGINIA BEACH—Miss Grace Marie Bamforth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Bamforth Jr., has received a Kiwanis Club prize awarded annually to a Mary Washington College graduating senior who, in the opinion of members of the college faculty and administration, has contributed most to the school during four years' residence.

Miss Bamforth is president of the senior class and has served as president of Willard Hall, sophomore class representative to the Student Government Association and president of the Freshman Class.

Aid Requests

eral money are automatically cancelled.

Now Parker, in an apparent attempt to appease Virginia Beach officials, has suggested that the City apply for an extension of time in which to file formal applications and let contracts on an emergency basis. There is still no guarantee that the funds will be granted by the federal government and there is speculation that should they be granted the larger projects would be broken down into several smaller ones. If the City lets contracts without Federal approval, there is no automatic cancellation of requests.

There is no word on what course the city will take in light of these new developments, but City officials are reportedly looking into the matter quite closely. In addition there is still no word either from city officials or from officials of the federal government concerning how this breakdown in communications occurred. It is still not known why the city was not informed it had not met all the requirements, why recent developments did not come to light earlier while Webber was in Washington and Philadelphia, why the city did not know exactly what to do in making the applications in the first place and why it has taken so long to get the matter resolved.

Meanwhile water and sewerage facilities for the two new schools appear to be hanging in the balance. A decision on future plans is expected within the next few days. And at least the application has been stopped from making the rounds of "In" and "Out" baskets in the new Federal department.

Robertson Campaign

and Mrs. Margaret Chaplain.

Senator Willey said he is "pleased to have such fine members of the community on the committee for Robertson." Willey stressed the importance of re-election of Robertson to the U. S. Senate partly because the Senator said "has a great deal to say about the appropriation of 95 percent of the Federal money which comes to the Tidewater Area." Willey referred to Robertson's membership on Senate committees which approve allocation of money coming to Virginia Beach and all of Tidewater.

Dr. Hancock and Lam say a committee is now looking for a site in Virginia Beach for a Robertson campaign headquarters and that another committee is arranging for volunteer workers to man the headquarters. Both promised the opening of a headquarters in Virginia Beach in the near future. Senator Willey promised that Senator Robertson will be in Virginia Beach for the opening of the headquarters. Robertson's re-election to the U. S. Senate is being opposed by State Senator William Spang of Portsmouth.

Call For Musicians

THE VIRGINIA BEACH OPEN FORUM

Dear Sir:

A great deal of talking has been done by surfers and parents concerning the problem of the surfing area at Virginia Beach. The problem now involves not only the Virginia Beach residents, but because of the boom of surfing in the last year, it has begun to involve the residents in the neighboring communities such as Norfolk, Portsmouth, Hampton, and Chesapeake. I think it is now high time city officials do something definite about the problem.

About two years ago the city allotted a section of beach near the Steel Pier specifically for surfing. This was a step in the right direction and it solved the problem at that time. Since that time, though, the situation has changed. No longer do we have only a few hundred Beach residents surfing. We now have about two thousand people from Virginia Beach and the neighboring communities. This figure of two thousand is a conservative estimate. The area now in use is no longer adequate.

According to present laws the only area open for surfing during the day is the area at the pier. Before nine and after six surfing is legal anywhere along the beach. North of forty-fourth street one can surf until ten o'clock. These rules are fine for the city residents, but with the pressure being put on the acres by out-of-town surfers the Virginia Beach boys no longer have room to surf.

The reason behind the city's lack of action is the tourist industry. The city is unwilling to turn over to surfers a strip of beach which could be used for the tourist occupation. They have also failed to adapt the rules to the off-season, during which the surfers are the only ones on the beach. The city fathers don't seem to realize that the surfing industry is rapidly growing, and it already involves several thousand visitors. It would appear that city officials either feel extremely secure in their positions or they are so wholly engrossed in money-making matters that they have no time for badly needed legislation.

As a solution to the problem I would like to see a new area at the North end, a bigger area at the Steel Pier, the area at Croatan turned over to surfing, and the rules adjusted to allow free surfing in the winter. Also there should be full-time patrols at all areas. If all or some of these needs were met it would greatly help the city and surfing.

Sincerely yours,
J. J. Edwards, President
Virginia Beach Surf Club

Dear Sir:

I am writing to thank you for the fine news items carried by your paper publicizing our training conference in your city this past week end.

We enjoyed the use of the fine facilities of your Alan S. Spang Convention Center and our visiting ministers enjoyed meeting the residents of your city.

The publicity provided by your newspaper afforded us many opportunities to encourage others to turn away from this new faith wrecking "God Is Dead" theology that is swarming thru the land. Please express our appreciation to your staff.

'Mister Roberts'

The old U. S. Navy cargo ship AK601 came out of mothballs again last Saturday night at Wedgewood Dinner-Theatre, once more to wage a highly successful campaign with theatregoers. Unless we miss our guess, when someone asks the question in years to come, "What play is the most representative of the period just after World War II?" the unanimous choice will be Mister Roberts. It's not that it is such a great play, but it has a little bit of everything. There is comedy, pathos and even a little "pull at the heart strings" drama.

Basically it is an adventure comedy about a crew of liberty-hungry sailors in the South Pacific during the spring and summer of 1945. There is a line in the play that says the AK601 and her men "sailed from tedium to apathy and back again with an occasional sidetrip to monotony." That may well be true but the adventures encountered by the crew on such a routine trip run the gamut from comedy to hilarity and back again with an occasional sidetrip to oxygen just to catch one's breath.

As in every Iddings production the audience never knows what to expect next. His direction is vital, and in this production perhaps just a shade overdone in the "drunk scene." But both director and cast are to be complimented on two beautiful scenes — the fight scene and the battle stations scene. You have to see them to believe them, and believe them you do.

Roby Brown, a newcomer to Wedgewood, is a welcome addition in the title role. He obviously felt much compassion with every bone in his body for the cargo officer who wanted to be in combat for some reason or another. Although Brown portrays Roberts with excellence, the role could have been just a little less "heavy" in the dramatic scenes. In the comedy scenes, Brown is Mr. Roberts.

Bob Anderson portrays Doc, the ship's doctor and distiller with all the finesse demanded of the role. He underplays beautifully the only man who really understands Roberts and Ensign Pulver. However, we wish he had played the role with a little more of a twinkle in his eye or perhaps a bit more down-to-earth philosophy.

Leroy McFarland handles the role of the blustering Captain very nicely, although we had some difficulty figuring how this silly stupid fellow ever made Lt. Commander. He must have had just a little more to his character than McFarland gave him, but McFarland carries off well the role of the self-centered, palm tree loving commanding officer.

Another sterling performance is turned in by Bailey Davis, as the incorrigible Ensign Pulver, college kid turned 90-day wonder Naval officer. Davis' remarkably elastic face helps him greatly in portraying the sometimes dense, sometimes incredibly intelligent Pulver. His most intelligent moments come when he is dodging the Captain and work. Pulver's role is the pivotal role in the play and Bailey Davis handles it perfectly.

Every member of the crew does a fine job and each deserves special recognition for keeping the fast pace going. But one crew member, John Wood, as Insignia, tops them all. This young man is a delight to watch as he cavorts around the stage. No matter how many are on stage with him, he can easily be recognized. He handles his role like a "pro."

As the only female in the play, Carolee Silcox, the Army Nurse known to the crew quite well for a certain birthmark, does an excellent job in the few minutes she is on stage.

The settings, lighting and sound effects are unusually good in this production. Wedgewood has another real hit on its hands from now through May 28th. Now hear this . . . Mister Roberts is one of the finest productions we have ever seen at Wedgewood or on any stage. It is a classic of our own time and this is a classic performance.—HJL.

Tourney Postponed

VIRGINIA BEACH — Heavy rains Monday forced the postponement of the Tidewater Women's Golf Association pro-ladies tournament scheduled for the course at Bow Creek Country Club.

Officials of the WTGA said the tournament has tentatively been rescheduled for Friday, May 27.

Field Day Fair Set

NORFOLK — Preparations for the 75th annual Field Day, scheduled for Saturday, May 7, are well under way, under the direction of Don Craig, and three chairmen, Mrs. Hulbert J. Kanter, Mrs. A. R. Pentecost, Jr. and Mrs. Sam G. Jones, Jr.

A number of changes will be made in Field Day this year. For the first time the event will be the product of the joint effort of Norfolk Academy and Country Day School. The Country Day girls from grades 6-12 will operate booths on the Midway.

Also this year Field Day will be held on two weekends at two locations. The Midway, Country Store, Science Fair, Art Auction, Garden Shop and Lower School Play will be at the present Academy site on May 7. The track and field events, from which field day evolved, will be held the following Saturday, May 14, at the new co-ordinate school site.

Field Day funds have been used to purchase many items which the school could not otherwise have afforded. In recent years the funds have been used to buy a new wrestling mat, to install walkways to the gym and to provide a substantial scholarship fund.

Do you work in a cool building, drive in an air-conditioned car, eat in an air-conditioned restaurant, shop in an air-conditioned store, relax in an air-conditioned theater, then go home to a hot house?

That doesn't make much sense, does it . . . or to have your family uncomfortable all summer. Not when modern flameless central air-conditioning is so practical. And economical. A flameless central system costs less than you think to put in and operate, requires very little maintenance. And for this modest investment, you and your family will enjoy the kind of air-conditioned environment all the time that you take for granted during the day. Call your VEPCO-authorized Comfort Conditioning Contractor. In approximately one week he can turn your hot house into a cool house.

Salt Fishing Tourney Opens

The ninth annual Virginia Salt Water Fishing Tournament opened Sunday with anglers looking forward to another record-breaking year.

Last year more than 3,400 citation plaques were awarded for outstanding catches, and Tournament Director Claude Rogers says the outlook is for another banner season.

The Tournament is open through October 31 to anyone fishing in Virginia waters and there is no entry fee. Any angler entering a catch which meets the Tournament weight standards for the 22 species will receive a plasticized citation plaque. Replicas of the Tournament's silver perpetual trophies will be awarded to the anglers capturing the heaviest of each of the 22 species.

There have been two changes in the minimum weight standards: the minimum weight for black drum has been reduced from 55 to 50 pounds, while the weight limit for bluefish has been increased from 10 to 12 pounds.

The Tournament operates more than 100 official weighing stations where catches may be entered for citations. These stations are strategically located throughout the Tidewater area.

The Tournament is sponsored by the Virginia Department of Conservation and Economic Development with the assistance of the Salt Water Fishing Association of Virginia. For further information on the Tournament write to: Claude Rogers, Director Virginia Salt Water Fishing Tournament, 25th Street and Pacific Avenue, Virginia Beach, Virginia.

A 40-page booklet "Salt Water Fishing in Virginia" is available free of charge from the Department of Conservation and Economic Development, 811 State Office Building, Richmond, Virginia 23219.

The Department's new film "Fishing Virginia's Saltwater Kingdom" is also available on a free-loan basis.

Lions Sponsor Horse Show

By DOUGLAS BARNES

VIRGINIA BEACH — All kinds of thoughts, memories and pictures come to my mind upon mentioning the word "horse." As a small child in summer at a cottage near the Skyline Drive in Montvale, Va., we rode gentle "Belle" to drink water bubbling from a brook behind the house and two miles away, to the neighborhood country store, to make the tremendous decision of choosing between 5c worth of stick or French candy displayed in large wooden barrels.

Then we had a horse named "King Maxey" whom we often rode to daring heights on mountain roads high above the valley in which we lived. Later "King Maxey" was sold as "King Arnold" for professional racing and we saw him entered and driven as a trotter at the Lynchburg Fair by our father, a sedate history professor, where he was once a winner.

During the many non-professional training periods of "King Maxey" up or down a level country dirt road, we learned to make him "rack" which is a mild form of the present "twistin' mashed potato" dance.

There is "Black Beauty" of long ago, the many nameless horses we rode at summer camp. "Misty" the pony, and Francis, the "talking mule," the long line of racing champions known to all, and in the picture above, we have "Acacia," with Miss Bonnie King up. Flanking Acacia, left to right, are Stanley Phillips, President, P. A. Lions Club; C. C. Upton Jr., Greeter; Aubrey Watts, Sec.-Treasurer, and Ed Koster, Chairman Horse Show Project. Koster is also Chairman of the Eyesight Conservation Committee, P. A. Lions Club.

The Club will sponsor its first Horse Show from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on May 7 at Hillcrest Stables, four miles east of the Accreted crossing on Route 603 off Indian River Road.

Ribbon Girls from Kellam High will be on hand to bear the awards, and winners in all eleven classes will receive trophies presented by civic, local and government officials.

These do not include competition for Western Riders; these events comprise a gay day of fun in the outdoors.

Proceeds will go towards the Club's projects which include an eye bank, sight teaching of school children and the purchase of seeing aids for needy persons in the Princess Anne area.

Bonnie and Acacia want you there—put a lion in your tank and come on out!

Tickets may be purchased at Hillcrest Stables or from any P. A. Lion or Lioness.

NAGS HEAD, N. C. — Vicki Green, a student at Cox High School, Virginia Beach, displays a 48 pound channel bass she boated while trolling with an artificial lure in Oregon Inlet near Nags Head Saturday. Her's was the largest of 35 of the big fish taken during a phenomenal channel bass run in Dare County waters during the past weekend. Vicki was fishing with her dad, Frank B. Green, who landed two channel bass himself, but her's outscored his. They are residents of 4473 Blackbeard Road, Virginia Beach. (Aycock Brown photo)

The Casino in Virginia Beach was a favorite for Sunday outings in 1906 . . .

Then H. D. Oliver had been serving Tidewater for 41 years . . .

Special excursion trains brought families to the beach for picnics and bathing. The area grew as a popular resort. H. D. Oliver had also grown, providing the whole of Tidewater with dignified, respected funeral and burial services. Now a second distinguished home has been established in Virginia Beach by H. D. Oliver. Today the name H. D. Oliver carries a tradition of service. An experienced staff and modern facilities enable them to handle your every need. Call on H. D. Oliver.

ective session Monday afternoon to discuss the integration deadline. He said that during the meeting the Board finalized a new plan that it considers in compliance with federal directives. The plan was forwarded to Washington Tuesday.

Cox said, "I am not privileged to reveal the contents of the plan at this time until it is either approved or disapproved by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare." He said that "categorically" the plan does not call for total integration as ordered by the HEW Department, but makes "new efforts toward that aim."

In addition Cox said the new plan only deals with the next school year, and does not go beyond that time at all. "It may be 30 days or more before we hear anything from Washington," said the Superintendent.

Cox said that he called the School Board in session after spending two hours on the phone with HEW officials Monday and getting nowhere.

Another highly reliable source, who asked that his name be withheld, stated that he considered the matter a "deadlock," and felt that neither side was going to give "one inch." He added that he expected the matter to be taken to court, since Virginia Beach had made every effort to comply with federal directives in the past. He said school officials also considered the latest integration proposal "a good one," and felt that it should be tested.

Just what will happen after the deadline is open only to speculation. It is still not known at this time whether federal school funds would be cut off should the matter come to court, or for that matter, whether the matter will come to court at all.

Musical Opens Fri.

VIRGINIA BEACH — At the Clothing Chest, the B&M Delicatessen, and the Civic Center, tickets are on sale for South Pacific which opens tomorrow night at 8:15 p.m.

The superb cast includes Anthony Voclers as Emile de Becque, Carol Hall as Nellie Forbush, Sam Ernst as Cdr. Harbison, Sam Hakim as Capt. Brackett, Welton Smith as Lt. Cable, and Dawn Burton as Liat.

The extravaganza put on by the Civic Chorus of Virginia Beach, Charles Oliver, director, has been rehearsing in a warehouse at Camp Pendleton. Dress rehearsal is tonight at the Civic Center.

The Rotary Club of Virginia Beach sponsors the production which will run Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights with curtain time at 8:15 p.m. According to Rotarian Howard Jones, the proceeds will go to scholarships for three local high schools.

Among the founders of the Civic Chorus who were "just a handful of people who wouldn't give up," were Mike and Betty Hennigan, Ann Bragg, secretary, and Ernst who is treasurer. They, with all the other members of the Civic Chorus, have been spending many hours and days with other facets of the production such as props, prompting, lighting, etc. to be able to present culture and entertainment to Virginia Beach and its surrounding communities.

WHAT'S ALEXANDER BELL DOING IN VIRGINIA BEACH ????

WATCH OUR NEXT EDITION

Mothers who will be honored on Sunday are not always the physical mothers. Last year one of our readers sent us a poetic tribute to her mother-in-law. We also received a special poem for another mother who is considered very special and loved by many. So here is her "Tribute" written by a reader.

When life was dull and empty she entered on the scene, Replaced them then with brightness; made everything serene.
With truth and understanding, she undertook to do
A job fraught with great troubles—a job well done by few.

In love and understanding they give more than their share;
To each of them our blessing—to each of them our prayer.
A tribute this to those who always do for others;
God bless them and keep them—all wonderful step-mothers.

All "mothers" are pleased to be remembered on her day—gifts are not as important as thoughtfulness. But why not combine thoughtfulness with a little extra special touch of luxury?

Let mother sparkle like the jewel she is with an appropriate gift from one of our local jewelry stores. You don't have to get all dressed up to make a trip out of town, fight traffic, then look frantically for a parking space, and be tired before you even start your gift hunting. You can find just what you want here at home . . .

Frank R. Ford Co. at 3301 Atlantic Avenue combines the elegance of a big town store with the friendliness of your neighborhood grocer. Take time to browse through, Marvel at the lovely silver, the china and crystal, the jewelry. And don't overlook the special gift items. For mothers who enjoy cooking and setting a pretty table, a gift of cookware that looks like and is lovely porcelain would not be considered an "ordinary" gift. And there are colorful sea shells and unusual sea life encased in plastic as decorations or adornments to ashtrays, lighters, and the like. One particular sea scene combines its beauty with the usefulness of a paperweight and a magnifying glass (ideal for mothers whose eyes may have difficulty in reading the tiny numbers in the phone book!).

Beach Jewelers at 3008 Atlantic Avenue is taking orders now for the newest rage — mother's ring of "family jewels." The gold bands are set with the birthstones of her children (or grandchildren) and make a truly personal gift that only you can give.

And the newest jewelry store, Buskey's Jewelry at 2022 Atlantic, has been completely redecorated and opened for business on March 14. Mrs. Susan Buskey, who had worked with the jeweler at the same location for many years, is ready once more to serve her many old friends and customers with many new items. Keepsake diamonds, silver holloware, pewter, earrings, monogram pins are just a few of the lovely items she has stocked. The hard-to-find blue and white Wedgewood cameo is at Buskey's.

All our neighborhood jewelers are ready, not only for Mother's Day, but also for the coming high school and college graduations, the June brides — for all special occasions your neighborhood jeweler has what you need, and it is here!

Bond Program 25 Years Old

VIRGINIA BEACH — If you are more than 35 years old, you may remember those uncertain months leading up to December 7, 1941. Americans hoped fervently that war would not reach these shores, but Government leaders saw the need for urgent preparations—just in case.

This meant the raising of additional funds — quickly — in order to finance defense needs. And it was important that Treasury borrowing should be the type that would least upset the money markets.

That's when the Series E Savings Bonds came on the scene. Patented after the "baby bonds" of earlier years, it was designed for the small saver, and could be bought in any bank or post office. (Bonds are no longer sold in most post offices.)

To say that the E Bond was an overnight success would be a slight exaggeration: First day sales on May 1, 1941, were only $60,000, even with President Roosevelt leading the way with the first purchase. The second day brought in $301,000, however, and the daily figure went over the million dollar mark by May 5 and exceeded two million by May 7.

After 25 years, average daily sales of E Bonds hover in the neighborhood of $15,000,000. People who first bought them to help the war effort now make them a part of their regular savings plan. Some three billion dollars worth are sold each year on the Payroll Plan, whereby employees ask their employers to deduct fixed amounts each payday.

It has been estimated that about one person in every four or five owns some United States Savings Bonds. This has created a backlog of quickly-convertible savings in every community throughout the country.

Virginia Beach Mayor Frank A. Dusch kicked off the 25th Anniversary Bond sale in the resort city by being the first to purchase a $25 savings bond.

Earl V. Slattum, city chairman for the sale, accepted the mayor's check and presented him with a bond.

WIN SIPA AWARDS

Three Beach Schools Place Well Saturday

VIRGINIA BEACH—Three Virginia Beach high schools, Cox, Kellam and Princess Anne made impressive showings last weekend at the Southern Interscholastic Press Association annual convention at Washington and Lee University.

More than 1,200 delegates, and advisors from 11 southern states and the District of Columbia attended the 1966 annual convention of the SIPA. 352 publications — newspapers, yearbooks and magazines — were entered by 188 schools.

This was the 37th annual SIPA convention and was sponsored by the Lee Memorial Journalism Foundation. The foundation is headed by Professor W. W. Riegel, Director and head of the University's Department of Journalism and Communications.

The convention was held on the university campus at Lexington April 29 and 30 and featured lectures, short courses and workshops in the production of scholastic newspapers, yearbooks, magazines, radio shows and photography, round-table and panel discussions, criticism sessions for 17 categories of publications, a luncheon for faculty advisors, the annual dance for delegates at Doremus Gymnasium, and the awards luncheon at Doremus. At the awards luncheon SIPA trophies were presented to 17 winners in the various categories. Special awards went to the top newspapers in West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina, and South Carolina.

Martin Agronsky, CBS news correspondent, was the featured speaker of the convention, but students heard others too—Paul Swenson, executive director of Newspaper Fund, Inc., an organization which offers scholarships to students interested in journalism careers; Bob Dunn, King Features Syndicate cartoonist who draws "They'll Do It Every Time" and "Little Iodine"; and William T. M. Grigg, staff writer for the Washington Star.

Kellam High School and Princess Anne High School placed for their excellent school newspapers. Kellam placed in the Achievement Award Group, and Princess Anne placed in the Honor Award Group. The names of the papers are the "Princess Anne Page," and "The Roundtable."

Frank W. Cox High School was the only Virginia Beach high school to place in the yearbook competition. In Yearbooks, Group One (for an enrollment of 1500 or more students) The Talon, the Cox yearbook, placed in the First Place Award Group.

The "Cavalier Folio," a magazine published by Princess Anne High School placed in the Honor Award Group in magazines, group one competition.

Deadline Nears

VIRGINIA BEACH — Virginia Beach voters are reminded by the Registrar's Office that May 14 is the deadline for registering to vote in the June Councilmatic elections. June 12 is the deadline for registering for the July Democratic primary. Night registration is also available.

FIRST WICS VOLUNTEER

New Beginning for Linda

Text and photos by CASSANDRA "Knowing that education and training are vital to my growth and to the future of our country, I accept appointment to the Job Corps and will participate to the best of my ability in all phases of the Job Corps program and will comply with all the rules and regulations of the Job Corps."

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I bear true faith and allegiance to the United States of America and will support and defend the Constitution and laws of the United States against all its enemies, foreign and domestic."

"The information given by me concerning my application for enrollment is true and correct to the best of my knowledge. I understand that any false statement or dishonest answers will be grounds for my dismissal from the Job Corps and may be punishable by law."

We stood in the group of those interested humanitarians who work as volunteers for the WICS and watched Linda Sue Fort from Virginia Beach raise her right hand and read the above oath administered by Edward Pivott. Linda is the first girl to be accepted from the Virginia Beach applicants to the Job Corps and left by plane Tuesday with Patricia Byles of Norfolk for the placement center in Charleston, W.Va. Also being sworn in at this ceremony was a third girl from Norfolk.

With TV cameras whirring and the strain of many weeks of waiting for her acceptance over, she looked proud and ready for another tremendous step of adjustment in her young life of 17 years. We said a silent prayer for her to win in this new endeavor.

When we picked her up at her home in Kempsville, Mrs. J. Douglas Hubbard, chairman of the WICS unit here explained that this interview would be WICS history in the making since there will be others to follow Linda.

We were forcefully struck with her vivacious brunette beauty and her sincere smile of cooperation.

'Easy Move' Plan Offered

VIRGINIA BEACH — The C&P Telephone Company, along with other Bell System companies has just inaugurated a simplified plan for its customers moving to another locality anywhere within continental United States. Under new procedures just adopted, a Virginia customer, for example, can arrange for the disconnection of his service and reconnection at his new address through one call to his present local business office.

L. F. Patrick, commercial manager, said C&P is now prepared to render this new nationwide service as a further convenience to its customers. In the event of a delay in establishing a new residence at a distant point, Richmond and other communities throughout the state can arrange for a reference of calls to the distant city. When new service is subsequently established, local operators will inform callers of the telephone number at the new location.

Patrick indicated that the new plan was adopted since studies have reflected a high incidence of moves between states, particularly by employees of large organizations with manufacturing and other facilities scattered throughout the United States. Some studies have shown that 35 million persons move each year and approximately 6% million move annually between the states.

All 23 Bell System operating companies in the country are participants in the "Easy Move Plan," designed to provide uninterrupted service for their customers.

Shrine Is Dedicated

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Exchange Club of Virginia Beach, last week dedicated a "Freedom Shrine" it had given Virginia Beach High School.

The Freedom Shrine Project was conceived in the Educational Department of the National Exchange Club and born with the adoption of a resolution by the 31st convention of the National Shrine Club calling for establishment of Freedom Shrines throughout America. It is a distinct and separate program of the National Exchange Club's program of education in which all Exchange Clubs are invited to participate.

The 28 historical American documents comprising the Freedom Shrine are exact copies photographically reproduced for the Exchange Club from the priceless originals.

The dedication ceremony was attended by many Exchange Clubbers, city officials, and Vice Admiral R. Hogle who was the principal speaker. The Exchange Club also presented a leather bound book containing the biographies of all the signers of the Declaration of Independence to the school.

At the dedication were Mayor Frank A. Dusch, City Manager W. Russel Hatchett, and M. P. Strickler, of the Virginia Beach School Board.

Night Registration

VIRGINIA BEACH — Beginning tonight, the City Electoral Board will hold special night registration once a week until the June 11 deadline, for the July 12 Democratic Primary.

John B. James, Electoral Board Chairman, announced that Mrs. Anna H. Cotton, general registrar, will sit from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. once at each of the following places:

May 5—Mrs. Cotton's regular office on Courthouse Drive at Princess Anne Court House.

May 12 — Kempville Fire Station on Princess Anne Road.

May 19 — London Bridge Fire Station at London Bridge.

June 2 — Ocean Park fire station on Shore Drive.

June 9 — Virginia Beach Borough Fire Station on Arctic Ave. Mrs. Cotton's regular office hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays. There are also 22 assistant registrars in precincts of the city.

MRS. JOHN CLAUDY (in wheelchair) was the guest of honor at the regular meeting and Friendship Luncheon of the London Bridge Home Demonstration club held last week. Mrs. Claudy was a former member of the group before moving to Seaford, Delaware four years ago. Each Christmas and at other special occasions, the warm friendship within the group is extended to their dear friend in the form of little gifts and letters and cards. She came to Virginia Beach last Thursday just for the day so she could once again enjoy their close fellowship. Pictured with her are the past presidents of the club (left to right) Mrs. R. W. Ashworth, Mrs. C. G. Skinner, and Mrs. J. W. VanHousen. (staff photo by Patrick)

Officers Now U.S. Citizens

LITTLE CREEK — Two Cuban-born officers from the U.S. Naval Amphibious School here, Navy Lieutenant Junior Grade Jose Silvio Perez and Army First Lieutenant Noelio Montero, received their United States citizenship papers from President Lyndon B. Johnson at Mount Vernon, Saturday, April 10.

A veteran of 16 years in the Cuban Army, Montero enlisted as a private and advanced to the rank of major. Perez, a veteran of 14 years of naval service, was a naval officer in the Cuban Navy. When Cuba was taken over by the Castro regime, Montero and Perez went into exile.

On their arrival in the United States in 1961, both men applied for and received commissions in the U. S. Armed Forces. Montero as a Second Lieutenant in the U.S. Army, and Perez as an Ensign in the U.S. Navy. Both men were commissioned in 1963. Asked what the officers thought of their adopted home, Perez said, "I love the United States as much as I loved my former homeland, and being in the United States Navy is the best way I can serve this country." Montero answered this way, "Now my obligation is to the United States. Yet whenever possible, I will continue in my own way to help the people of Cuba."

Lt. Montero is an instructor in the Language Institute at the Amphibious School and Lt. Perez teaches landing craft tactics in amphibious operations.

German Night

VIRGINIA BEACH — The crew of the amphibious command ship Pocono was recently treated to something different in line of the evening meal when German Night was held aboard.

The mess decks took on the air of a German restaurant even to the music provided by the Amphibious Force, U.S. Atlantic Fleet, Band.

An additional touch of authenticity was provided by the wearing of striped vests by the cooks, messcooks, ship's supply officer, Lieutenant Commander J. R. Corbitt, and chaplain, Lieutenant Commander C. L. Keyser.

A printed menu was provided written both in German and English and offered the following selection of foods: lettuce and leek salad with bacon, cucumber and onion salad, browned potato, roast beef German style, cauliflower gratin, Bohemian style sauerkraut, hot rolls, rye bread, apple crisp, gingerbread, and coffee with whipped cream.

In the future the ship's commanding officer Captain V. L. Vitucci, plans on holding Italian Night, featuring native dishes of Italy and various other nights featuring the foods native to certain countries.

Admissions Director at Schools

PITTSBURGH, Pa. — Frances L. Grodecoeur, assistant director of admissions at Carnegie Tech, will describe admission requirements and educational opportunities at Carnegie Tech to interested students in the Virginia Beach area today. She will visit the Frank Cox High School, Bayside High School, and Princess Anne High School.

Mrs. Grodecoeur will discuss undergraduate programs in the College of Engineering and Science, the College of Fine Arts, and the Margaret Morrison Carnegie College (for women).

Carnegie Tech also offers graduate study in industrial administration, engineering, and science. In addition, the college offers a two-year program in business administration in the College of Business Administration. The college also offers a two-year program in business administration in the College of Business Administration.

New Beginning

Her youthful mother from whom Linda inherited her good looks accompanied us.

"How did you hear about the Job Corps?" we asked Linda as we slowly rode to Norfolk.

Mother and daughter spoke simultaneously. "We saw it on TV — girls were in the picture getting help in education and a new start in life. We wrote to the Job Corps address in Washington and later Mrs. Gilliam from Norfolk called us."

Mrs. Hubbard explained that Mrs. Gilliam was one of the volunteer workers who screened the applicants. "There were many interviews with doctors and many tests," said Linda. "I'm so glad to be going off to the new center where I will finish school and learn a job."

The swearing-in ceremony was brief. Mrs. Schwab, Norfolk Director of Volunteers, spoke of the girl's responsibility in representing their cities, told them that they would be homesick, but for them not to panic but to ask questions all along the route. "There are people to meet you at every point," she said, "and we always check your arrival from here."

Mrs. Ann Cantrell, Executive Director of the Norfolk WICS, was more positive in telling them to study hard, to work hard, to mind their conduct and to remember that Norfolk and Virginia Beach would be watching their progress.

Mrs. Hubbard was gentle in her remarks. Perhaps all of us were emotionally touched. "Go," she said, "with our blessings. We will be with you in our thoughts and in our prayers."

Linda and her mother have suffered. Linda is young and we trust that this new way of life, this new beginning will bring her the victory so earnestly desired by the Job Corps.

Rudee Bridge Up for Bids

RICHMOND — The State Highway Department is seeking bids for 13 highway projects, including the second request for prices on a segment of Chesterfield County's semi-circumferential route at Richmond, dividing on US 50 between Fairfax and the Dulles Airport entrance, and a major bridge over Rudee Inlet near Fifth Street in Virginia Beach.

The bids will be opened here on June 9 and if satisfactory proposals are received the work will get under way this summer.

Other work in the call for bids includes bituminous surfacing in the Richmond highway district and at Roanoke, special epoxy treatments on bridge decks in the Salem highway district, and town street construction on several routes.

The project on the semi-circumferential at Richmond is the third segment of the highway which will, when completed, connect US 1 near the south city limits with Chippendale Parkway at Forest Hill Avenue extended. The road has been built from US Route 1 to Route 10 and is under construction from Chippendale Parkway to US 60. Bids received March 16 for today's project were rejected as too high.

The Rudee Inlet bridge at Virginia Beach fits into the road construction now under way between 4th Street and Barnes Corner and will complete this portion of a new road toward the court house.

Louis Mirman of 318 Lynn Shores Drive, has been named Norfolk regional chairman of the University of Pennsylvania's 1966 Alumni Giving Campaign which will end June 30. Goal of the campaign is $1,750,000.

GOP Unveils Platform

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Republican City Committee has announced its platform in the upcoming Council elections.

The Platform, issued for Mrs. Lois Nelson, the only Republican candidate in the election, calls for a reduction in the number of councilmen and a limitation of their terms in office.

According to the platform, the councilmen would be elected entirely on an at-large basis and would be eligible to serve only two terms in office. The platform also calls for a reduction in the number of members for the City Planning Commission and the School Board.

This revision in the number of officers should be undertaken so "that responsibility can be clearly traced to its source," the platform reads.

The platform also stated: "Our tax dollars should be used not only to make this city attractive to tourists but also to make it attractive and comfortable to the suburban families living here."

"Our citizens should be told of any interest in land or property held by any of the councilmen, planning commission or governmental agency called upon to rezone, buy, or make expenditures concerning such land or property."

"Sealed bidding on municipal expenditures should be the rule and not the exception."

"Civil Service rules should be adopted for all city employees giving them job security and prohibiting any city employee from active campaigning on behalf of a candidate for political office during his regular working hours or at the polls."

"A master zoning plan should be adopted and published immediately. This plan should be keyed to population growth."

"Cooperation with our fellow cities in the Tidewater area should take more specific direction and talk should give way to action."

Mrs. Nelson is one of nine candidates seeking four at-large seats and is running from Lynnhaven Borough.

Council Denies Applications For Apartment Construction

VIRGINIA BEACH—City Council, at its meeting Monday afternoon, rejected applications for two apartment projects which would, if allowed, total 1,100 units.

The applications were submitted by Bonita Corp. and Mayberry Inc.

Bonita Corp. applied for a zoning change and a use permit to construct 540 apartment units off Military Highway in Kempsville Borough.

Mayberry Inc. has also applied for a zoning change and a use permit to construct 560 apartment units on 34 acres of land in Princess Anne Borough on Seaboard Road.

The Council denied the applications on the grounds that the increase in population in those areas would overburden neighborhood schools, roads, and utilities.

Bonita Corp. submitted its application last October and the City Planning Commission recommended approval of the application at that time, but opposition from members of the Lakeview Estates-Knob Hill-Westview Civic League forced postponement.

Monday, a petition in opposition to the move, and signed by 1241 residents of the area, was presented to council. The petition listed four specific reasons why the Bonita Corp. would not be allowed to build the apartments:

- Sunnyside Drive, which would become the main access road, is not adequate to carry the additional traffic.

- Existing schools in the area were saturated.

- The apartments would adversely affect the property values in Lakeview Estates.

- There was a lack of proper sewage and recreational facilities.

The planning commission, though it has approved the application when it was first made, recommended against it Monday because of "evidence presented which indicates an overcrowded condition would result in schools and that problems would result in serving the property the proper road access and public utilities. Therefore the commission recommends this application be denied."

Copter Crew Honored Tues.

NORFOLK — Lieutenant A. M. Wirth, a pilot in Helicopter Combat Support Squadron Four (HC-4) Detachment One, accepted a "Citation" and "Air Medal" from Admiral T. H. Moorer, Commander in Chief, U.S. Atlantic Fleet.

During ceremonies held aboard the Norfolk Naval Air Station at Helicopter Combat Support Squadron Four Detachment One, Admiral Moorer read the following citation in recognition of Lieutenant Wirth's actions:

"For meritorious achievement in aerial flight while serving with Helicopter Combat Support Squadron Four (HC-4) Detachment One on 16 June 1965. When the USS Hartley (DE-109) lost all power and was riding on her port anchor near the surf line in shallow water, Lieutenant Wirth, as aircraft commander of a UH-34D, skillfully maneuvered his helicopter to effect transfer of men and material to the disabled ship despite rough seas and high winds. After all efforts by sea had failed, he carried a tow line from the Fleet Tug USS Kiowa (ATF-72) to Hartley. This feat was accomplished in a sideward flight condition for about 700 yards to avoid fouling the helicopter with the line, requiring great skill, perseverance, and courage in operating the helicopter at its limits. The successful transfer of the tow line by Lieutenant Wirth contributed greatly to the salvage of USS Hartley from the position near shore and prevented more severe damage and possible injuries or loss of life. His outstanding airmanship was in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

Also receiving letters of commendation for their part in the operation were the copilot, Lieutenant G. E. Barry, USN, and crewmen 1st Lt. J. M. Loughmiller, USNR, J. Kyle, Jr., AX2, USN, and T. F. Daniels, ADJ3, USN.

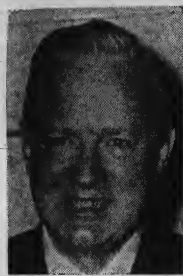

The Hartley almost went aground off Virginia Beach after colliding with the Norwegian merchant vessel "Blue Master." The "Master" was leaving Harrison Roads for New Orleans, La. when the accident occurred.

The Norwegian ship managed to make it back into port, but the Hartley was not quite so lucky. The ship lost power completely and began to drift toward shore. The collision occurred at daybreak near the Chesapeake Bay channel entrance.

Byrd, Hogle Chosen As Parade Marshals

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Armed Forces Day Parade committee has announced the names of the military and civilian marshals for this year's parade.

United States Senator Harry F. Byrd Jr. was chosen as the civilian marshal and Vice Admiral Reynold D. Hogle was selected as the parade's military marshal.

The parade, which will be held May 21, will feature bands, marching units and floats from the various military bases, civic organizations and the city.

Following the parade down Atlantic Avenue, guests and dignitaries will attend a luncheon at the Americana Hotel.

Admiral Hogle is no stranger to the Virginia Beach scene. He first became familiar with the area when he married the former Mary Ellen Adams of Norfolk Hogle, who graduated from the Naval Academy, in 1956 was sent to Norfolk as deputy Chief of Staff, Supreme Allied Commander Atlantic. He left Tidewater to become the commander of his own carrier group, deputy commander in chief for U.S. Naval forces in Europe, and eventually the chief of staff of the U.S. Naval War College in Newport, R.I.

Hogle returned to Tidewater in 1964 to take over as Chief of Staff at SACLANC.

Admiral Hogle and his wife have two daughters, both of them married.

Byrd has served as a U.S. Senator from Virginia since his appointment by Governor Albert S. Harrison last November. He filled the unexpired term of his father who stepped down because of ill health. Prior to taking over as one of Virginia's U. S. Senators, Byrd was a State Senator from Winchester, Va.

ON ARMED ROBBERY CHARGE

Norfolk Man Sentenced To 51 Years In Prison

VIRGINIA BEACH — A Circuit Court jury sentenced a woman and 11 men deliberated almost two-and-a-half hours Tuesday before finding a 28-year-old Norfolk man guilty of armed robbery.

Judge Robert S. Walsh immediately sentenced Maurice E. Bailey to 51 years in prison, rejecting motions to set the jury verdict aside and reduce the sentence.

Bailey was also charged with abduction, but Assistant Commonwealth Attorney Robert Simpson said no decision has been made to try him on that charge as of yet.

Bailey and another man are charged with the armed robbery and abduction of a Tince Giant manager Nov. 21.

John B. Hadley, 25, also of Norfolk, identified as Bailey's accomplice pleaded guilty to armed robbery and abduction a week ago and is presently awaiting the outcome of a presentence report.

The two men reportedly followed Donald C. Meinhard, of Virginia Beach, when he left his store in the 2500 block of Colonial Avenue in Norfolk, and headed for his home in Aragona Village.

At Hadley's trial, Meinhard said he noticed a car following him that would pull up close and then fall back. But, Meinhard said,

Pay Bandits CB Jamboree Set For Again Mon. Sept. 17-18 At Civic Center

VIRGINIA BEACH — Chief Reeves E. Johnson of the Virginia Beach Bureau of Safety said earlier this week that the police department will once again start giving out tickets for parking meter violations Monday, May 18. Johnson said tickets will be handed out for such violations from Monday until sometime in September. He said the police department usually begins enforcing the use of parking meters about the 15th of May.

Johnson also said three traffic lights on Atlantic Avenue that have been dormant all winter will be activated sometime within the next two-to-three days. Those lights which will be put back into service are:

- The traffic control light at 31st Street and Atlantic Avenue, it has been flashing caution all winter.
- Thirty-fourth Street and Atlantic Avenue.
- Twentieth Street and Atlantic Avenue.

Johnson said the city uses two sets of meters. The bronze colored ones are 30 minutes for five cents and the silver ones give patrons one hour for five cents.

He said the city will collect from the meters and hand out tickets every day except on Sunday and holidays.

Bids Presented

VIRGINIA BEACH — A Portsmouth firm is the apparent low bidder for the construction of water and sewer lines for Oceana High School and Alantone Elementary School.

Vict Construction Corp. of Portsmouth submitted a bid of $128,570 for the project.

Scott said city officials are very pleased with the prospect of having such a convention in Virginia Beach and hope it will become a yearly event. Members of the club said it will be held each year if enough people attend the first one.

According to Scott, members of TERRAC and the city will split the costs and revenues on a 50-50 basis.

TERRAC, basically a public service and rescue organization, meets every second and fourth Friday of each month at Norfolk Federal Savings and Loan on Cromwell Road in Norfolk. The Virginia Beach section meets the second Tuesday of each month at the old Courts building in Virginia Beach Borough.

Any interested CB'ers who are not members of either of the two clubs may obtain information by writing: Tidewater CB Jamboree, a base station at the Dome, Tidewater, help out-of-town visitors find their way.

Garden Club on the Go

By CASSANDRA
With MARIAN TOWNSEND

VIRGINIA BEACH — An enthusiastic group of Linkhorn Park Garden Clubbers and their friends, in keeping with Garden Club Week journeyed by bus to Mathews and Gloucester counties recently. The local Gazette-Journal described the two counties as, "The land of the Life Worth Living" and "The Midway Garden Spot of the Atlantic Coast." A true welcome from "The Seven Homes on Four Rivers" was given by Mrs. William H. Turner and Mrs. James Bland Martin, who said in their supplement: "We hope the sun is shining for you today and that every flower and shrub is in its full glory. Our welcome comes not only from the ladies and gentlemen who will greet you at our time honored houses and churches, but from every citizen of our counties."

The tour proved rich in the history of politics, and the social and economic life of the early settlers, for Captain John Smith, in gratitude for his rescue by Pocahontas, built the first European type dwelling on record for a native American who was King Powhatan, in Gloucester.

John Buckner published the laws of Virginia in 1690; in 1675, a local will made possible one of the free school grants to educate the children of Ware and Abington parishes; John Clayton, world renowned botanist, as a county clerk lived here, and here was born Dr. Walter Reed, the discoverer of the cause of yellow fever, making possible the building of the Panama Canal. Thomas Jefferson declared the Declaration of Independence in palatial Rosewell, now in ruins, and near which was born Thomas Jefferson Page. He was a naval authority, a diplomat, and an explorer. In Gloucester, lived, died and was buried the Warners, ancestors of George Washington, Robert E. Lee and Elizabeth II of England. Today, the George P. Coleman Bridge, linking Gloucester

A delicious Southern lunch was served by the ladies of the Ware Episcopal Church in Gloucester. This old church was built around 1680. It is the only rectangular shaped colonial church in Virginia with south and north doorways. The walls are three feet thick and the foundation five. General persons, including rectors John Richards (1723-35) and John Fox (1734-64) lie buried beneath its chancel.

Toastmistress Club

NORFOLK — The Spring Conference of Council No. 4, Southeast Region, International Toastmistress Clubs, Inc., was held at the Lake Wright Motor Lodge recently.

Seventy-five women from the two state areas of North Carolina and Virginia, representing eleven clubs, attended the morning business session in the Tidewater Room of the Lodge.

Two afternoon workshops were conducted during the training session. Robert Daherty, Naval Air Station employee, led a workshop on "Effective Listening." He has presented this magnificent program to more than 700 people in the Tidewater area.

A workshop on "Techniques in Speaking" was conducted by Mrs. Virginia Waters, assisted by Mrs. Harrington, who had an audience participation class that was very educational as well as enjoyable.

Six JTC clubs were represented in the speaking contest held during the Saturday night banquet meeting.

Mrs. Frances Briscoe, President, Norfolk Toastmistress Club, won first place and will represent Council No. 4 at the regional contest in Pensacola, Florida next month. Mrs. Briscoe spoke on "The Ghost of a Chance."

First runner up was Mrs. Mary Lawson whose speech was entitled "Pick the Lock." Mrs. Lawson is the Employment Development Officer at the Naval Supply Center, Naval Station, Norfolk. In the event that Mrs. Briscoe is unable to speak in Pensacola, Mrs. Lawson must prepare a speech and be ready to compete in the regional contest.

Approximately 175 people (toastmistresses, toastmasters and guests) witnessed the speech contest which was judged by nine prominent citizens from Virginia Beach, Portsmouth and Norfolk area.

Party Line . . . . . BY OLGA EDWARDS

MR. and MRS. E. A. LANGHORNE, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holland, Mrs. John Preston and Mr. Ron Phillips. (Photo by Bolces' Studio)

The festive Coquina Ball was held Saturday night at the Cavalier Hotel. The ballroom was filled to capacity with lovely ladies and attractive men, all dressed in formal attire.

Many people have asked me what the word Coquina means. The Coquina is a very small sea shell of the mollusk family, resembling greatly the clam. Most of you have probably seen them at the water's edge on the beach in the summer time. This very small shell symbolizes small children to the Kings' Daughters Hospital. Thus, their yearly ball for the benefit of children has been called the Coquina Ball.

At Cates and his orchestra kept the crowd in a gay and dancing mood. Many times in covering the special occasions for Party Line you can feel a sense of duty rather than enjoyment, but the atmosphere was so full of gaiety that I am sure if it started out as a sense of duty for some it soon became a pleasurable duty.

Some attending were: Capt. and Mrs. J. W. Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wahab, Mr. and Mrs. J. Walter Boone, Mr. and Mrs. Llawood Branch, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Johnson, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Clemens.

Capt. and Mrs. H. F. Crist, Mr. and Mrs. Paul DeWitt, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Malbon, Mrs. Leona Cherry, E. Waterfield, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Cherry, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Bender, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Shipman, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Selvey and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Flacomo.

Grayson Whitehurst, Jr., Miss Barbara Ann Swift, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Vaughan, Dr. and Mrs. R. Z. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Meagher, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bevan.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Stormont, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Ned Langhorne, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gallagher, Mr. and Mrs. John Preston, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Giddard, Floyd Kellam, Jr. and Mrs. Betty Land.

Dr. and Mrs. George McGuire, Dr. and Mrs. H. McCoy, Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Mahames, Dr. and Mrs. E. Skinner, Dr. and Mrs. M. Unger, Dr. and Mrs. Alvin Jarrett and Dr. and Mrs. R. Roy Jarrett. (Is there a doctor in the house?)

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Sony Harper, Mr. and Mrs. George Kerna, Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Tugman, Mr. and Mrs. John Hoyer, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kellam.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. McNeal, Dr. and Mrs. W. P. Dickson, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Patrick, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. Reeves Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Wyndham Brown.

The names I have mentioned were just a few of those attending and I am sorry we were not able to give all of the names. If I did it would not be room for any other social news.

New Officers Installed

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Auxiliary of the General Hospital of Virginia Beach installed new officers at its general annual meeting held recently in the staff's dining room. They are Mrs. Bernard Battlemann, president; Mrs. William B. Baldwin, vice president; Mrs. C. M. Baylor Jr., recording secretary; Mrs. William R. Huck, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. William K. Romoser, treasurer.

The outgoing president, Mrs. C. U. Walkley, presided and annual reports from all standing committees were heard with Mrs. C. M. Gimbert acting as parliamentarian. Mrs. Gimbert is state president of the organized Virginia parliamentarians.

Mrs. Walkley announced that the Auxiliary had grown to 500 and that two new units, The Florence Nightingale and the Cavalier Circle of King's Daughters, had been formed. Both were creative in their many fund raising projects. The Gift Bar in The Coffee Shop.

An enterprise sponsored by women at The Star of the Sea Catholic Church is a successful reality, while the White Elephant Sale held in midyear at the Cavalier Beach and Cabana Club was a prosperous undertaking. A future project is planned to install cubicle curtains and plaques in the intensive Care Unit.

Sue Brock, director of the Pink Ladies, reported that there were 35 teenage girls who had given 14,950 hours of their time during the past year. Perhaps the briefest and most succinct report was "I've kept the books and paid the bills!"

Mrs. Gilmore L. Tilbrook, beautification chairman, reported the progress of the wooded Memorial Park in the area behind the hospital with its newly planted pine tree seedlings. This place will be improved through the years with donations in memory of a loved one.

"Will you pledge your loyal support and effort to cooperate in every way with the principles and aims of this hospital?" asked Mrs. Gimbert. The officers and entire membership of the auxiliary answered: "I will."

A Constructive Candidate

By DORIS PADRICK

The two points on which many feel will defeat one of the candidates for City Council are her prime assets and her main reason for running for a seat with that governing body, declares Lois Nelson, who is obviously a "woman," and a declared "Republican." Another minor objection which is also whistled about her qualifications is that she is an "outsider." She considers all three points to be in her favor.

Mrs. Nelson is quite honestly an outsider. She was born in Oak Park, Illinois. She graduated from Tucson High School in Arizona and attended the University of Arizona. She lived for a while in Toledo, Ohio with her husband's parents after his tragic death four weeks after their marriage. He was Lt. Jay R. Thompson and was killed in the crash of a B-24. The young widow remained with his family until her 21st birthday when she enlisted as a pilot in the WASP and went to Avenger Field in Sweetwater, Tex. She served for approximately two years and then returned to Toledo where she completed her college education, and worked at various jobs requiring intelligence and good sense in positions of responsibility. She also served voluntarily in many civic endeavors.

Employed by the Arizona Broadcasting Company, she was traffic manager for six radio and two television stations from 1932 to 1934. Married to Karl R. Nelson who was manager of WICI-TV in Erie, Pennsylvania in July, 1934, they moved to Virginia Beach in September, 1937. And since making Virginia Beach their home, she has constantly sought out areas where she might give of herself and her time. The American Red-Cross has been one of her most important outlets for her boundless energy and unlimited compassion for those less fortunate than she.

"We who come to Virginia Beach from other parts of the country settle here because we like it. And we don't come to spoil it; we want to improve it—to give our adopted city all the good that is in us," stated Mrs. Nelson in her interview. "I want the chance to 'open the door' for others who have also come here to live and who feel they have something to give to Virginia Beach."

About her running as a Republican, Mrs. Nelson says that she feels that a city as large as Virginia Beach, growing so fast, that a two-party government is of utmost importance for it to grow in an adult fashion. There are many Republicans living in the city and they should have a voice in how Virginia Beach will be governed." To truly reflect the wishes of the growing population, a Republican must be on City Council," she insists.

And a woman's viewpoint would be invaluable in areas which are often neglected by men, she believes. Lois Nelson feels strongly that more could be done by a woman to help the police department and the juvenile and domestic courts with the problems which confront them as personal tragedies of families in this city. "We have thousands of military families here who are without fathers for long periods of time. The City has to take over some of the problems which overwhelm these families."

"Those who are 'informed and curious' who have much to give to the city are the ones who will help Virginia Beach grow into the kind of City we can all be proud of," she concluded.

Lois Nelson, a woman Republican who came into the city less than 10 years ago, is informed and curious. She is campaigning hard to win a seat as one of the Councilmen-at-large, so she can represent the entire city, wherever she is needed. She considers herself "the constructive candidate."

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

A Fine Master Plan For The Future

Public forums are now being held in all sections of Virginia Beach acquainting the residents of our city with the contents of the new parks and recreation master plan. The plan is being heralded by most citizens as ambitious and excellent. We agree with both observations. And we also believe that the master plan must be enacted if Virginia Beach is to take its rightful place as a city unparalleled by none. The plan has come not a moment too soon, and its implementation must not be hindered.

There is a somewhat painful realization in Virginia Beach that open land for recreational purposes is rapidly vanishing with urbanization. There are many reasons for this situation in Virginia Beach. The city has grown three-fold in fifteen years, and should have a population of a half million twenty years from now.

Land for recreation and parks will be extremely important in the future as income increases, population continues to grow and citizens have more and more time for leisure.

The master plan for parks and open spaces has set certain standards and goals, from which we hope the city officials will not swerve, while the land is still available. The National Recreation Association has suggested an overall 30 acres per thousand persons for all forms of recreation. This should prove to be a conservative figure in Virginia Beach because so many of our park areas are already used and will continue to be used by residents from the entire metropolitan area, other areas and even out-of-staters. We need both neighborhood and community parks and district and the time to do something about it is now.

At present the only major neighborhood parks are connected with schools, and these are not large enough or do not offer adequate facilities for all. Virginia Beach has no community parks to serve the needs of its people. We do have two large district parks in operation, but they are rather far removed from the centers of population. In addition we need more roadside rests and waysides and open land preserves. We cannot put the development of any of these off any longer. Land is still available right now, but development in the next five years should entirely preclude the creation of new parks. The land should, therefore, be set aside immediately.

We have stated many times before that Virginia Beach needs public boat marinas as well, and that in a city so oriented to recreational pleasures not enough has been done for the promotion of our natural resources. Now is the time to do all this. Now is the time to get behind the city officials who have developed the master plan for recreation. Now is the time to support the creation of all types of parks and recreation areas to serve both our residents and our tourist friends in the future.

In addition we agree with the planners that we must preserve our heritage. We believe the city officials should begin working closely with the Virginia Historical Society to preserve our historic landmarks in Virginia Beach. There are still many good examples of the early days of our country left in Virginia Beach, and they must not be destroyed, as have been too many old landmarks here already. They must not be destroyed in the name of progress.

We strongly support the aims of the planners where recreational areas are concerned, and urge all citizens of Virginia Beach to do the same.

Plant Your 1966 Petunias

At this season of the year the campaign urging residents of Virginia Beach to plant petunias is "old hat." Most of us have heard of the campaign for several years. But that does not mean that we should ignore it this year. In fact, we should all join in this year, as we have never done before, since we can now look around us and see the beauty that has come of previous campaigns.

In addition this year, the City of Virginia Beach has taken an active lead in the project. The city has planted petunias in the triangle in front of the Cavalier Hotel where Atlantic and Pacific Avenues come together, at City Hall in Princess Anne Borough and on the triangle at 4th Street and Atlantic Avenue. More and more business establishments along the boardwalk have also planted the petunias this year. Of course some who have planted in the past have let the planting boxes fall into a state of disrepair thus creating an eyesore, but we feel certain these offenders will soon do something about this.

Now we suggest that beautification by way of petunias is not a merely resort area project. Perhaps businessmen and homeowners in all other areas of the city can follow the Beach Borough's lead.

We are told by those who know that the next couple of weeks will be ideal for planting petunias, and we plan to plant a few. Nearly everyone appreciates beauty, and this campaign certainly creates beauty. Look around and see what has been accomplished in the past. It should make all of us want to cooperate with the current campaign to Virginia Beach an even more beautiful place in which to live.

Planning Far Ahead

In a city like Virginia Beach that depends so greatly on tourism, one must plan ahead to keep the economy stable all year. One aspect of that economy is off-season convention business. We therefore congratulate the officials of the City of Virginia Beach and especially the Director of the Civic Center for landing a large convention for the Dome right after Labor Day.

The Tidewater Citizens' Band (CB) Jamboree is scheduled in the Dome September 17th and 18th. CB'ers from all over Virginia will be here and many are expected to come from other states. Approximately 15,000 of these licensed citizen's band radio operators will be flooding Virginia Beach for their convention and trade show.

In case you forget about the date, you will be aware they are here when you see many whip-like antennas on many automobiles on our city streets.

We are glad the CB'ers have chosen Virginia Beach and we congratulate the City officials for landing this convention so far ahead of time.

LET'S DOUSE THOSE LIGHTS!

The Tall Thin One-Eyed Monsters

Along several streets in Virginia Beach Borough stand tall, thin, silvery and gold monsters with one large red eye visible most of the year. During the rest of the year, they are known to eat coins of several denominations. While they eat, they are heard to tick contentedly. These scourges of drivers with no change in their pockets come to life again on Monday and woe be unto the motorist who ignores their hungry looks.

There is absolutely no law on the books of Virginia Beach which sets the time of the year that parking meters are in operation. Yet unofficially there is no charge from some arbitrary time in September to some arbitrary time in May. This is a little publicized fact, and the unwary visitor to Virginia Beach during those months dutifully feeds the monsters not knowing the things are supposed to be sleeping with that one red eye wide open. Of course, the year-round residents laugh up their sleeves when they see someone feed the monsters in the off-season because they know the animals do not need feeding.

Until the last few years, the City of Virginia Beach took the meters off the meter poles when motorists were not expected to pay, and put them back later, but now the meters sit there during the unsuspecting citizens not to put money in.

It is our opinion that an appropriate sign should be affixed to each meter designating the period of the year the motorist is expected to pay. The daily time limits are posted. The amount of the fee is posted. The time of the year could be posted too. We do not feel it is fair of the City to collect money it does not deserve. Of course the City can answer this by saying that it DOES deserve the money and that it is merely being kind to permanent residents. If that be the case, that fact should be noted on the meters too.

Regardless, the meters go into summer operation Monday, and best no one forget to feed the animals then.

STOP Comes To Virginia Beach

Ordinarily we are somewhat dubious of federal funds coming to our fair city because of the federal controls that usually come with or follow closely behind. However in the case of federal funds from the Southeastern Tidewater Opportunity Project (STOP) to be used in revitalizing life in Seateack, we will make an exception, and we will hope that the funds can be used to the best purposes to help residents of that area in every way to help themselves.

Seateack is in much need of aid, both financial and otherwise. The work has already begun, and we look to its success. In the area there is widespread poverty and ignorance, passed along from generation to generation. We hope STOP can halt this perpetuation of bad conditions and help the people break the chains.

Basically what is needed there is education of the residents. They must learn about birth control and family planning. They must attend schools provided by the city. They must avail themselves of the opportunities that do exist.

We do not favor welfare where it is not deserved, and we do not suggest that all of the residents of Seateack need help. Many are doing nicely in their own homes and in good jobs. The problems in Seateack are not as widespread as some would have us believe, but they do exist. We welcome STOP to Virginia Beach and look forward to the program's success in Seateack.

Man Sentenced

when he turned on to Newtown Road, the car pulled along side of him and then forced him off the road. He said two armed men, one with a pistol, the other with a rifle, were in the car.

The men forced Meinhard into their car and headed back in the direction they had come. The driver told Meinhard to keep quiet or he would kill him. Shortly after that, Meinhard said, the driver lost control of the vehicle and it ran off the road on a curve at Hawkins Inn.

The driver ordered Meinhard to push the car out of the mud, but when he yelled for help the bandit ordered him into a plowed field, told him to strip to his underwear and get into a ditch. The driver, identified as Bailey, took Meinhard's keys, wallet and his wristwatch and demanded the combination to the safe at his store.

At that point, a police officer who was investigating the accident, saw the men in the ditch and arrested Bailey. Hadley, who had fled the scene earlier, was arrested later in a cemetery two miles away.

Police found several loaded firearms in the abductor's car after he was arrested.

Campaigning

morning. He was also guest of honor at a luncheon sponsored by the Chesapeake Beach Men's Club.

In his speech to campaign workers at a breakfast, Spong hammered at familiar themes against Robertson. He says he bases the main thrust of his campaign on active representation in Washington, with a positive approach to problems. He said that representation must be offered by persons geared to change.

Spong, while not directly hitting at Robertson's age, said Virginia needs a man of this century in Washington. In addition, he again attacked Robertson's attendance record in Congress, saying that in 1964, Robertson had the fourth worst attendance record in the Senate.

This charge has been repudiated by Senate Majority Leader Mansfield, who has said that Robertson's voting record does not for the most part indicate abandonment for other reasons than official business concerning the important committees on which he served.

Spong also attacked Robertson's voting record in Congress, again stating he has voted against every major education bill in the Senate in the last ten years. Robertson is expected to answer many of the Spong charges when he visits Virginia Beach.

Senator Harry F. Byrd, Jr. was the "early bird" campaigner in Virginia Beach. He made his round of receptions and speeches last month. He will be back in Virginia Beach on Saturday, May 21, as civilian marshal of the Armed Forces Day Parade.

Campaign activity for the July primary has picked up considerably in recent weeks, as the four candidates woo voters of Virginia Beach in their bids for nomination.

Council Denies

The Mavberry Inc. application was turned down because the Planning Commission recommended that the petition be denied because "the development of multiple housing at the location will bring urban pressures to bear on this rural community and result in the overcrowding of schools and the high volume of traffic on the roads. The commission is of the opinion that the city is not in a position at this time to accept a development of this nature in the area."

In other action council:

- Welcomed new assistant City Attorney J. Dale Benson, a recent graduate of the University of Richmond law school.
- Authorized Oceanica Fire Department to purchase a new truck.
- Allocated $10,000 for the Bureau of Civil Defense for repairs to vehicles and equipment.
- Advanced the needed $250,000 for sewer lines along Independence Boulevard.
- Approved on second reading $41,000 for the operation of a barge line in Princess Anne Plaza and dredging operations.
- Approved a request of $2,500 from the city attorney's office.

THE VIRGINIA BEACH OPEN FORUM

To the Editor:

"The Coming of the Cross," the beautiful work composed by Princess Anne's own poetess, Mary Sinton Leitch, was presented in full costume under the auspices of the Princess Anne Garden Club at the Thoroughgood House last April 28th with little fanfare and much artistry and skill. It was so beautifully done that word of appreciation, thanks and commendation is due those who participated in the production.

The pageant was performed by the students from Bayside High School under the able direction of Mrs. Alice West, teacher of dramatics in the high school. Both the performers and their director are deserving of high praise. Director Clark Graves' Madrigal Singers of Princess Anne High School provided color and music; the very best of its kind and Mr. Douglas Weidner's scouts demonstrated their excellent and complete training in the manner in which they performed their part. All in all it was a truly cultural event in our community which more of our people should have seen. May we ask the publication of this note as a word of thanks and appreciation from the Princess Anne Garden Club to each member of the cast of "The Coming of the Cross"; the Bayside High School, Princess Anne Madrigal Singers and the scouts.

Sincerely yours,
Elizabeth H. Pander

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, the President of the United States has designated the month of May, 1966 as Senior Citizens Month; and

NOW, THEREFORE, I Frank A. Dusch, Mayor of the City of Virginia Beach, do set aside and proclaim the month of May 1966 as SENIOR CITIZENS MONTH.

I urge all local governmental agencies, as well as public and private organizations, and all citizens, to give effective expression to this special month. ## Lions And Horses

By DOUGLAS BARNES
VIRGINIA BEACH — The Tidewater Lions, District 24D, has 47 clubs. The Princess Anne Lions Club is only 1 year old but holds itself closely kn1 with the needs of the community it serves. Cantwell, Jr., and James H. Wannall Jr.

We weren't at the Kentucky Derby to see Kaul King win, but we were at the first annual Lions Club Horse Show staged at Hillcrest Stables, Hillcrest Farms on the same day where everything and everybody was "horsey."

Lunch we enjoyed at the Hillcrest Hunt Club with stable-gall doorways, saddles and bridles hanging around the walls. Citation and Whirlaway and other horses' names were on the walls. Long wooden tables with comfortable sofas and chairs in an indoor garden formed a recreation area where fashionably costumed riders with crops and boots spoke "tally-ho" language.

Behind the counter, Stanley Phillips, Ed Koster and Earl Tebault were selling hot dogs, hamburgers, lemonade and coffee to the crowds whose appetites were whetted by the spring air.

Snead To Speak Sat.

VIRGINIA BEACH — Norm Snead, quarterback for the Philadelphia Eagles will be the featured speaker at the first annual Virginia Beach Prep Football Clinic to be held at the Americana Hotel.

The clinic, a brain-child of Edmer Barbour and Bill O'Brien, will last two days.

Snead will not be the only speaker of the clinic, however. Other guest speakers include Julie Com, track coach at Newport News, Ed Henry, backfield coach at VMI, Thad Madden of Newport News' Hummingbird High, Tommy Theodot of Charlottesville's Lane High, Bill Eutsler of Rockingham, N.C. and Bill Billings of Delaware.

The speakers will cover all aspects of football, from offense to defense to coaching to psychology. The theme of the clinic is "Prep Coaching by Prep Coaches."

THE PSYCHOS, a long-haired rock 'n' roll group, will appear in Virginia Beach Saturday night for a show and dance at the Aragona Recreation Center. The Psychos appeared in concert with the Animals of England. At their Virginia Beach show they will perform their original songs, including "The River is Wide" and "Stop the World." The show and dance will begin at 8 p.m. Saturday at the recreation center on DeLaura Lane.

Opens May 20

VIRGINIA BEACH — Seaside Amusement Park at Virginia Beach will open its 63rd season on Friday, May 20th.

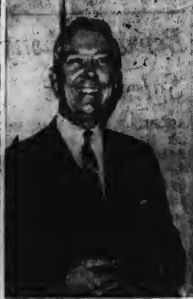

A number of improvements have been made at the park in anticipation of the new season. The former single entrance to both the ballroom and the bathhouse has been done away with, and in its place are separate entrances. The ballroom has been enlarged, dancing space having been doubled in size, with more room provided for spectators.

The new Whip is the feature of the 1966 midway, with all the old favorites such as the ferris wheel, dog-dog bumper cars, merry-go-round, whirl-a-way, and kiddieland all in full swing.

Name dance bands will provide music for dancing this season, and all attractions will be in operation on opening day, including, besides those features named, the amusement and refreshment concessions. Another schedule of circus acts has been arranged as twice-a-day free attractions, with a change every week, beginning June 13.

Miss Eleanor Duquet will return as the park's general manager for her 24th year. Herbert Gallop, general superintendent and ride foreman, boasts a tenure of equal length. Herbert Wulf completes the executive staff in the role of superintendent of restaurants, refreshment stands, the ballroom and bathhouse.

Admission to Seaside Amusement Park is free.

J. W. MILLER, director of the choral and music department of the Virginia Beach High School, announces the annual Spring Concert to be held Friday night, May 13, at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium. The public is invited. (photo by Cassandra)

Actions Endorsed By Beach Pilot

VIRGINIA BEACH — A Navy pilot from Virginia Beach, who was shot down over North Viet Nam and captured by the North Vietnamese, said that he supports his government's actions in Viet Nam during a television interview carried on all three networks Sunday.

Cdr. Jeremiah A. Denton, Jr., told a Japanese interviewer that he would support America's action's "until the day I die."

Denton and Lt. William M. Techudy, his bombardier-navigator, also of Virginia Beach, parachuted to safety when their A-1H Intruder was shot down while bombing a port facility at Thanh Hao, located some 80 miles from Hanoi.

The men were attached to Carrier Air Wing Seven which is stationed at Oceana Naval Air Station. They were the first ones from their group to be lost. The Air Wing was deployed to Viet Nam aboard the carrier Independence.

Because the North Vietnamese permitted the interview with Denton has led to the speculation that the Communists might be interested in making a prisoner exchange.

The International Red Cross is investigating the possibility of an exchange.

Ft. Story To Feature Lark 5 Rides May 21

FT. STORY — Visitors to the Ft. Story Armed Forces Day open house Saturday, May 21, will have opportunity to ride in the LARC V, newest of the Army amphibious vehicles, over the sand dunes, into the Atlantic ocean and return. The post will be open from 9 a.m. to 4:45 p.m.

The LARC V rides are just one of 14 different exhibit areas being planned at Ft. Story for the Armed Forces Day open house. Two bus routes will take visitors from the main exhibit area to other activities.

At the main exhibit area will be an equipment display, including a complete field kitchen, weapons and knot displays and a photographic exhibit of some of the new equipment tested at Ft. Story. The first bus route, a one-hour tour, will take visitors to the NIKE-HERCULES launcher area, the company area, including mess halls, troop billets, day rooms and orderly rooms, and the fire control area. In the fire control area will be radar capable of detecting and tracking enemy aircraft and guiding a ground-to-air missile used to intercept enemy missiles.

The second bus will go directly to the LARC V rides and a display of the BARC, largest of Army amphibians. This is the type of amphibious equipment now being used to unload personnel and cargo in Vietnam.

Free movies will be shown continuously in the post theater. Visitors will also be welcome to tour the officers' club, the noncommissioned officers club, post chapel, cafeteria and service club.

Historical points of interest will be the two Ft. Story lighthouses and the Memorial Cross, erected by the Daughters of the American Colonists to commemorate the site of the first landing of the Jamestown settlers.

Beware Phony Sales Talk

NORFOLK — Charles A. Martak, Manager of the Tidewater Better Business Bureau warns Virginia Beach area residents to beware of phony sales talks to sell magazines. Numerous calls are being received at the BBB from several Tidewater cities reporting extreme sympathy appeals used by traveling magazine crews.

One of the solicitors said he was from an orphan's home in South Carolina and was working for a medical scholarship. Another boy said he was from Boys Town, working for a scholarship. Appeals such as these are generally not true and reputable magazine agencies do not condone such tactics.

Report such sympathy appeals to your Better Business Bureau with the name of the company and the name of the solicitor.

Builder Sued

VIRGINIA BEACH — A damage suit for $35,000 has been filed by Mrs. Hilda G. Hardin of the 200 block of 33rd street against the builder and owner of a 42-unit motel that is being erected next to her home.

The suit filed in Circuit Court charges Double Delta Corp., owner of the Royal Clipper Motel, and contractor C. S. Yoder with a "continuing trespass" of her property. The four-story motel is being built at the corner of 33rd and Atlantic Avenue.

Mrs. Hardin's suit alleges that construction has already caused cracks to form in the wall of her frame house and "structurally damaged her house to the point that it is dangerous to live in." She alleges that physical damage to the house amounts to $40,000 and that personal injuries amount to an additional $25,000.

Her attorney is Richard Brydges. He says Mrs. Hardin is in her late 50's, and the suit claims she has been emotionally disturbed by the work and "has on occasion fallen and injured herself when in a state of fright and near hysteria" because of the construction.

Work began last summer on the building. It is now being painted. A city building permit issued for the motel listed its estimated cost at $122,300.

Asks $200,000

VIRGINIA BEACH — A young bicycle rider and his father are suing the alleged driver of a car that seriously injured him on April 13 for a total sum of $200,000.

Wilton Ray Haith, 9, of the 5000 block of Sullivan Boulevard in Aragona Village, sued James Jack Jarman of the 4700 block of Hunting Hill Court, for $150,000 and his father, Edward Haith, is suing for $50,000.

The suit filed in Circuit Court by Haith's attorney, Richard Brydges said that the boy was unconscious for 13 days after his bicycle and Jarman's vehicle collided on Haygood Road, east of the Aragona Boulevard intersection.

'South Pacific' Revisited

SOUTH PACIFIC, music by Richard Rodgers; lyrics by Oscar Hammerstein II. Book by Oscar Hammerstein II and Joshua Logan. Adapted from James A. Michener's Pulitzer Prize winning novel, "Tales of the South Pacific." Charles Oliver, director; William Utley, set designer and production manager; Maynard Allen, lighting; Barbara Thiesen, choreographer; Vi Ragan, costumer. With Carol Hall, Anthony Vickers, Marie Phillips, Frank Ferrigno, Walton Smith, Dawn Burton, Sam Hakim, and Sam Ernst in leading roles.

The Virginia Beach Civic Chorus presented another of its fine productions, triumphantly, to local audiences with a trip to the "South Pacific" last weekend. Transforming the Civic Center stage to represent a south sea island during the last world war, brought back many nostalgic memories, perhaps happily colored by time, of a special period cut out of life in the forties. There were a lot of funny things happening back then interspersed with bravery and tragedy... and it all lived again for a couple of hours as the members of the chorus and orchestra joined in a mighty effort to entertain. And they succeeded magnificently!

Carol Hall, a shapely pixie, with a better-than-average singing voice and real feeling for the part was Nellie Forbush — falling in love with an older man, rejecting him, realizing what is important, and finally getting what she really wanted all the time. Tony Vickers as Emile Deloche, the French planter, in love with Nellie, revealed an astoundingly good voice, especially when he really let it go. It is good to have another excellent talent available for future cultural endeavors.

Marie Phillips as Bloody Mary was funny as the native woman after the American dollar and as a mother promoting her daughter, Liat (Dawn Burton) for marriage with Navy Lieutenant Cable (Walton Smith). These young lovers had lesser parts but played them with a good show of talent.

To many "old Navy men" present, probably Frank Ferrigno as Luther Billis had the most appeal. Every service outfit has at least one Billis among them to put spark in an otherwise dull assignment. And his danced complete with coconuts in strategic places and rolling ship tattoo, was one of the high spots in the show.

Sam Hakim and Sam Ernst, as Captain Brackett and Commander Harrison, respectively, gave excellent performances as the off-harassed Naval officers.

Other members of the Virginia Beach Civic Chorus who played in smaller roles were Ruth Van Buskirk, Nancy Theusen, Douglas Worrall, Hunter Spence, Ella Whitfield, William Utley, Sal Romano, Robert Venn, Walter Heligan, John Dellis, Bruce Montgomery, Ken White, Eric Erikson, Oscar Northern, Mal Ragan, Karla Beasley, Vi Ragan, Millie Bowden, Mary Lou Howerton, Anne Parkinson, Judy Runnels, Linda Walker, Theresa Worrall, Frankie Young. Plus, Jerry Alfred, Teddy Beasley, Edmund Brown, B. B. Chauncey, Danny Ferraro, Dennis Ferrigno, Kenneth Ferrigno, Paul Hutchins, Ronald Morrison, Sarah Baldwin, Jan Cleary, Carolyn Cunningham, Claire Plesge, Nancy Hahn, Charlotte Schultz, Nina Wakefield, Betsy Wiles, Maggi Billee, Susan Epstein, Kay Gore, Susan Lacouture, Dana Masterson, Carol McCarg, Georgia McQuilkan, and Sandra Strong.

The orchestra which was directed by Charles Oliver gave fine instrumental support to all the famous songs of "South Pacific." The Virginia Beach Civic Chorus and Orchestra is sponsored by the Virginia Beach Rotary Club, Inc. which uses the proceeds for scholarships to students of this city. —Doris Padrick.

Parents Go To College

WILLIAMSBURG — An estimated 30 persons from the Virginia Beach area are expected to join 1,300 other parents here May 7 for the first College of William and Mary Parents' Day program.

The parents, invited to the historic campus by their sons and daughters and by Davis Y. Paschall, College president, will come from many states in the East, and from as far west as California.

Activities will begin Friday night when parents who arrive early will be entertained in the College's Student Center, where a variety of student events will be in progress.

Major events on the schedule will get underway at 9:30 Saturday morning when the registration-coffee hour will begin at Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. After registration, parents will visit various classes.

Dr. Paschall and J. Wilfred Lambert, Dean of Students, will welcome parents to the College at a brief session which will be followed by a faculty-student panel discussion.

A box luncheon will be served and parents will tour College facilities, including the new $3.2 million Earl Gregg Swen Library and the new College Bookstore. Later in the day, the parents will meet the President and Faculty at a reception in the newly landscaped Crim Dell pond area.

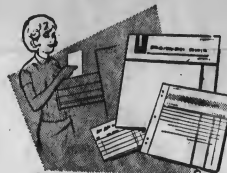

Evening activities will include a concert by the William and Mary Choir under direction of Dr. Carl A. Fehr. Sunday, parents will be free to tour the restored area of Williamsburg and to attend campus religious activities.

Electrophoresis Equipment

VIRGINIA BEACH — According to the dictionary, a pathologist is "one who studies the causes and nature of diseases." Dr. John J. Krueger, pathologist at the General Hospital of Virginia Beach, has studied and knows a great deal about this colossal subject, and he spoke at the annual General Meeting of the Auxiliary of the hospital last week, in recognition of the gift of the new Electrophoresis Equipment Machine, donated by the Auxiliary, and worth over $1,000.

Dr. Krueger described the equipment in layman's language, stating that "It is a sophisticated piece of equipment, and it will be of tremendous help in diagnosing, for example, the protein content in such diseases as leukemia, cirrhosis, hepatitis, malnutrition, intestinal colitis, cancer, diabetes, thyroid and pituitary gland trouble, pneumonia, and others. It is invaluable in today's medical research, and is in keeping with the hospital's up-to-date instruments of skill." A large sketch of the machine accompanied the lecture.

With a chart entitled "Protein," Dr. Krueger explained, also, that in recurring infections, there could be hormones, albumin, fibrin, enzymes, prothrombin, gammaglobulin, etc., which could be more nearly determined as to exact blood count by this sophisticated equipment.

Another progressive step in the history of the modern outfitting of the hospital is in evidence, through the efforts of the Auxiliary's women and girls.

A BARGAIN... A REAL VALUE IS NOT A MATTER OF PRICE ALONE!

It's what you get for what you pay.

The house dress or shift at $1.98 is no bargain if the seams pop the first time you wear it or it shrinks inches the first time you wash it.

A cheap product just for the sake of low price is no bargain. A quality product at a low price, that's a bargain... that's a real value... that's our A&P Brands.

More than a century ago we decided our own brands would be our finest values. They are... and we're proud of it. So proud... so sure, we unconditionally guarantee your full satisfaction. Are A&P Brands a good reason for shopping A&P? They're one of many.

VIRGINIA BEACH

J. C. Haskett, whose by-word is "fun," and who is reaping a bountiful harvest in his "golden years," has recently returned, tanned and fit, from a 26-day vacation trip down into the Everglades of Florida.

Accompanied by his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Parker, he tired points of interest along the way and spent 10 days fishing among the "10,000 Islands" out of Chokoloskee and, as he says, "We enjoyed every minute, every day... everything!"

They travelled by car, carrying their 15' outboard motor boat, the "Babour," with them. And reeling, at reduced summer rates, a luxurious 48' house trailer overlooking the lake, they found the sunny skies and 82 degree temperature ideal for their relaxing fishing holiday. He reports it to have been a fisherman's dream—they caught 234 speckled trout alone, plus blue fish, mackerel, yellow tail, red fish, and of course, catfish. "They called me 'Caffish Joe,'" he chuckled... A speck, 33" long and weighing 12 pounds, was also landed.

Chokoloskee is three miles west of the Everglades, and of the 10,000 islands Mr. Haskett was sure there were more and it was apt to be somewhat confusing to visiting navigators. "We sometimes got lost, but eventually found the proper markers pointing the way to our dock." Their Mercury 400, 45 HP motor worked beautifully at all times.

Perhaps even surpassing the fun of catching the fish was the eating and eating of the cut-of-the-water and fish-the-an delicacies. "I gained more than five pounds," he admitted sheepishly.

Their itinerary included visits to Naples, St. Petersburg, and to the "Fountain of Youth" where they drank of the water and made a wish for another twenty years of the good life. Mr. Haskett revealed that he had had a drink of the "life-giving water" many years ago, and he is a prime example of the eternal youth attributed to that magic fountain (which in reality springs from within the heart of those who desire it...)

He has filled a quart bottle with the water which he plans to present to the members of the Golden Years Club when it meets today. He is their president.

He concluded his tale of his fun-filled vacation by saying—"We came back and found everything o. k. And the old cat was still alive..."

Traffic At High Point

CAPE CHARLES — A boost from Easter holiday travel pushed traffic across the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel to its highest point of the year during April, the facility reported today.

April volume amounted to 100,470 vehicles, compared with approximately 61,000 in January, 60,000 in February and 75,000 in March.

Although the vehicle count topped last April by only four-tenths of one percent, it was enough to set a new April record for traffic across the mouth of Chesapeake Bay.

Toll revenue of $649,927 was up .7% (0.7%) over last April's $65,269. Truck traffic climbed nearly four per cent to 15,965 trucks.

compared with 15,389 in April 1965. Automobiles were down slightly, 82,402 this April as against 82,571 last year. The month's 2,963 buses ran about the same as 1965's 2,061, but extra passengers jumped from 184,295 to 187,181.

First Fiberglas Tanks Installed

VIRGINIA BEACH—Fiberglass-reinforced plastic tanks, designed to prevent leakage problems caused by corrosion in underground gasoline storage systems, have been installed in Virginia soil for the first time.

Pure Oil Company selected three 6000-gal. Fiberglass tanks, instead of conventional metal gasoline tanks, for its new service station on Rosemont Ave., about one mile south of Rt. 58. McCord & Young, Inc. of Virginia Beach, general contractors for the station, installed the tanks under the supervision of Frank C. Roberts, Pure Oil's division construction superintendent.

Pure Oil officials estimate the life of steel tanks is approximately five to ten years in Virginia Beach's generally moist, highly corrosive soil. Richard L. Stafford, general manager of the Non-Corrosive Products Division of Owens-Corning Fiberglass Corp., manufacturers of Fiberglass tanks, believes his company's tanks can last the life of most service stations (usually around 20 years) under the same conditions.

The Owens-Corning tanks, under test and development for almost two years, are the only underground gasoline storage tanks that are both listed by Underwriters Laboratories, Inc. and approved by Factory Mutual. The tanks, properly installed, also meet requirements of the Flammable and Combustible Liquids Code, NFPA No. 30, and the Standard for the Installation of Oil Burning Equipment, NFPA No. 31, of the National Fire Protection Association.

Owens-Corning says the three Virginia Beach tanks raise the total of installed Fiberglass gasoline storage tanks to 116. The company expects some 400 tanks to be in the ground by the end of 1966.

GLASS TANKS — McCord & Young crew position second of three Fiberglass underground gasoline storage tanks installed at Pure Oil Company station on Rosemont Avenue in Virginia Beach. Tanks, recommended as solution to leakage problems, are first of its kind installed in Virginia.

A BARGAIN... A REAL VALUE IS NOT A MATTER OF PRICE ALONE!

It's what you get for what you pay.

The house dress or shift at $1.98 is no bargain if—the seams pop the first time you wear it or it shrinks inches the first time you wash it.

A cheap product just for the sake of low price is no bargain. A quality product at a low price, that's a bargain...that's a real value...that's our A&P Brands.

More than a century ago we decided our own brands would be our finest values. They are...and we're proud of it. So proud...so sure, we unconditionally guarantee your full satisfaction. Are A&P Brands a good reason for shopping A&P? They're one of many.

J. C. Haskett, whose by-word is 'fun' and who is reaping a bountiful harvest in his 'golden years,' has recently returned, tanned and fit, from a 26-day vacation trip down into the Everglades of Florida.

Accompanied by his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Parker, he fished points of interest along the way and spent 10 days fishing among the "10,000 Islands" out of Chokoloskee and, as he says, "We enjoyed every minute, every day... everything!"

They travelled by car, carrying their 1950 Buick motor boat, the "Babour," with them. And renting, at reduced summer rates, a luxurious 48' house trailer overlooking the lake, they found the sunny skies and 82 degree temperature ideal for their relaxing fishing holiday. He reports it to have been a fisherman's dream—they caught 294 speckled trout alone, plus blue fish, mackerel, yellow tail, red fish, and of course, catfish. "They called me 'Catfish Joe,'" he chuckled... A smook, 32" long and weighing 12 pounds, was also landed.

Chokoloskee is three miles west of the Everglades, and of the 10,000 islands, Mr. Haskett was sure there were more and it was apt to be somewhat confusing to visiting navigators. "We sometimes got lost, but eventually found the proper markers pointing the way to our dock." Their Mercury 400, 45 H.P. motor worked beautifully at all times.

Perhaps even surpassing the fun of catching the fish was the eating and eating of the out-of-the-water and into-the-can delicacies. "I gained more than five pounds." He admitted sheepishly.

Their itinerary included visits to Naples, St. Petersburg, and to the "Fountain of Youth" where they drank of the water and made a wish for another twenty years of the good life. Mr. Haskett revealed that he had had a drink of the "life-giving water" many years ago, and he is a prime example of the eternal youth attributed to that magic fountain (which in reality springs from within the heart of those who desire it...)

He has filled a quart bottle with the water which he plans to present to the members of the Golden Years Club when it meets today. He is their president.

He concluded his tale of his fun-filled vacation by saying—"We came back and found everything o. k. And the old cat was still alive..."

Traffic At High Point

CAPE CHARLES — A boost from Easter holiday travel pushed traffic across the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel to its highest point of the year during April, the facility reported today.

April volume amounted to 100,470 vehicles, compared with approximately 61,000 in January, 60,000 in February and 75,000 in March.

Although the vehicle count topped last April by only four-tenths of one percent, it was enough to set a new April record for traffic across the mouth of Chesapeake Bay.

Toll revenue of $649,927 was up .7% (0.7%) over last April's $645,282. Truck traffic climbed nearly four per cent to 15,985 trucks, compared with 15,389 in April 1955. Automobiles were down slightly, 82,402 this April as against 82,571 last year. The month's 2,083 buses ran about the same as 1955's 2,061, but extra passengers jumped from 184,295 to 187,181.

First Fiberglas Tanks Installed

VIRGINIA BEACH—Fiberglass-reinforced plastic tanks, designed to prevent leakage problems caused by corrosion in underground gasoline storage systems, have been installed in Virginia soil for the first time.

Pure Oil Company selected three 6000-gal. Fiberglass tanks, instead of conventional metal gasoline tanks, for its new service station on Rosemont Ave., about one mile south of Rt. 58. McCord & Young, Inc. of Virginia Beach, general contractors for the station, installed the tanks under the supervision of Frank C. Roberts, Pure Oil's division construction superintendent.

Pure Oil officials estimate the life of steel tanks is approximately five to ten years in Virginia Beach's generally moist, highly corrosive soil. Richard L. Stafford, general manager of the Non-Corrosive Products Division of Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp., manufacturers of Fiberglass tanks, believes his company's tanks can last the life of most service stations (usually around 20 years) under the same conditions.

The Owens-Corning tanks, under test and development for almost two years, are the only underground gasoline storage tanks that are both listed by Underwriters Laboratories, Inc. and approved by Factory Mutual. The tanks, properly installed, also meet requirements of the Flammable and Combustible Liquids Code, NFPA No. 39, and the Standard for the Installation of Oil Burning Equipment, NFPA No. 31, of the National Fire Protection Association.

Owens-Corning says the three Virginia Beach tanks raise the total of installed Fiberglass gasoline storage tanks to 116. The company expects some 400 tanks to be in the ground by the end of 1966.

GLASS TANKS — McCord & Young crew position second of three Fiberglass underground gasoline storage tanks installed at Pure Oil Company station on Rosemont Avenue in Virginia Beach. Tanks, recommended as solution to leakage problems, are first of its kind installed in Virginia.

Blanks Now Available

ROANOKE—Application blanks for educational benefits under the new GI Bill are now available at Veterans Administration offices throughout the country and at all major colleges, universities, high schools and educational centers. William J. Powers, Manager of the Roanoke Veterans Administration Regional Office, announced today.

Information pamphlets and personal assistance in filling out the applications can be obtained at any VA office, at colleges and other educational institutions.

Earliest date for courses under VA payment has been set by law as June 1, 1966. Powers said, with payment to be made the month following each month's study.

There will be ample time for those who expect to enter the Summer Session to complete the necessary paperwork before the June 1 date, Powers said.

A normal summer school enrollment is expected, with the big rush for enrollment coming in September for the Fall Semester.

This post-Korean educational program will be open to all veterans with more than 181 days' active duty service, any part of which occurred on or after Feb. 1, 1955; if less than 181 days' service, he must have been discharged or released for a service-connected disability. The veteran must have a discharge that is other than dishonorable.

These veterans will be eligible for one month of education for each month or fraction of a month that they were on active duty, Powers said.

Lynnhaven GC

LYNNHAVEN—Mrs. C. W. Jernigan has been elected president of the Lynnhaven Garden Club at its May meeting held recently. Other members presented by the nominating committee and unanimously accepted were Mrs. Curtis Reid, vice president; Mrs. Lloyd Hershberger, second vice president; Mrs. Harry E. Billups, recording secretary; Miss Laura Harness, treasurer; and Mrs. T. C. Hunter, corresponding secretary.

Courses may be taken at approved colleges and universities, vocational schools, correspondence school, and at high school level. Approval of the institution will be made by state approving agencies. Foreign course approvals will be by VA.

The VA will pay $100 a month to those veterans with no dependents who take full-time courses. Veterans with one dependent will receive $125 a month while those with more than one dependent will receive $150 a month.

Proportionate rates will be paid those taking part time courses.

Earned income of the veteran will not affect his monthly VA payment, Powers pointed out. Maximum education will be 36 months.

There is no deadline as to when a veteran must enter upon his education. VA payment will be made only to the eighth annual anniversary of his discharge from active duty with the exception that all veterans will be able to participate in the program until May 31, 1974, regardless of their discharge date.

Notes from Your Agricultural Agent

E. R. "DICK" COCKRELL, JR.

Materials Handling

There is no strain in pushing a button or in setting a timer. And that's what you can do today when farm products need to be moved or lifted. Materials handling equipment can do this work for you.

Materials handling equipment, especially in automatic feeding, is one of the biggest advances made in recent years for saving labor in the agricultural industry. The real test is finding the least-cost system with the right combination of equipment for your needs.

Mechanization, which has been used for years in the harvesting of crops, has moved into farm buildings. You can now set up a system to handle and process those crops as they come from the field. This system may be applied to a variety of farming operations—livestock raising, dairying, poultry farming, grain growing, even general farming.

In many places, short-time, high-powered materials handling operations for grinding, mixing, and distributing are giving way to low horsepower, automatic operations. In such a system, you simply use smaller, automatically controlled motors over a longer period for the feeding operation.

Since the motors are smaller, they cost less. And the materials handling equipment can be smaller, lighter, and therefore less costly. Also, it is easier to fit equipment to the job. Since each farm need is different, this is a decided advantage.

In this automatic type of materials handling system, controls have been developed that allow you to perform practically any series of operations desired. Your materials handling system may be started manually, by timers or by pressure switches. By using safety circuits to constantly check motors and other equipment, the entire system can be designed to shut down when anything goes wrong. A warning device such as a buzzer, horn or light can be included to call your attention to a breakdown.

Since a considerable investment is involved in setting up an automatic materials handling system, you will naturally figure costs carefully, fitting the design and scope of the system into the needs of your particular product or products.

Since you're fitting your installation to a particular job, you'll have to size your system to the quantities of materials handled. Then, in choosing processing equipment, match the equipment's capacity.

The form of feed or other material you use is also an important factor in deciding equipment requirements, such as type and size. So is the location of storage facilities. The size of the operation, buildings and equipment must be carefully matched for your installation to do the whole feeding job for you efficiently.

When you have considered all these items for your particular installation, your advanced planning and figuring should add up to a combination of buildings and equipment as efficient as a modern factory. And as a modern factory, your system should, when in operation, be a profitable investment.

If you are thinking about a materials handling system for your farm, you can get valuable planning help by contacting my office, your power supplier representative, or writing VP1, Blacksburg, Va.

A REVIEW

'Born Yesterday'

BORN YESTERDAY, by Garson Kanin. Direction, design, and lighting by Timothy L. Jones. Costumes by Diane Liederman. Cast: Sandra Kane, William Pitts, Jr., Marvin "Marty" Davis, Michael Bruen, Tom Coble, Hank Mauro, Marty Mulford, Ken Gallo, Ty Stibert and Ann Wyn Williams. The Cavalier Dinner Playhouse, Norfolk, Virginia.

Born Yesterday, written just after World War II, centers around activity and misactivity in Washington, D. C. However, its theme is timeless and the action could just as easily have taken place today. The story is a simple one. Generally it is a variation of the old eternal triangle theme. Harry Brock, a man with a million or more dollars, arrives in Washington with his dumb blonde mistress, Billie Dawn. Harry, used to buying anything or anyone he wants, including Billie, is there to buy a Senator.

Although it appears for awhile he may be successful, right wins out over evil and the "red, white and blue" survives another uncouth loudmouth who figures democracy can be bought. Billie is truly dumb. All she cares about is her comfort and her two mink coats. To her the coats are the pinnacle of success. But Harry hires a young newspaper columnist to tutor Billie in the finer things of life. The young crusader is supposed to teach her such subjects as current events, literature and philosophy, but somehow or other, chemistry enters both sides of the teaching picture too.

This proves somewhat embarrassing to Harry, who has turned over many of his corporations to Billie, that is, on paper. The play is a classic comedy, and is just as bright today as the day it was written.

The Cavalier Dinner Playhouse production of the hilarious comedy is excellent. It has everything it should have, and shows a tremendous amount of tender loving care on the parts of the actors and the producer-director.

Marvin "Marty" Davis, as the blustering Harry Brock, portrays the role with ease. The ridiculous, embarrassed laugh he employs at moments of stress soon has the audience in stitches. He plays Harry with a great amount of believability, and the role is a difficult one.

Sandra Kane, as the voluptuous but dumb Billie, is a delight to watch. In the early scenes, her hip-swinging seemed to caricature the former showgirl, but she later relaxed and presented a nice even performance of a girl transformed by using her brain.

The role of Paul Vercall, newspaperman, is handled nicely by William Pitts, Jr. He perhaps plays Paul a bit too stuffily during the first half of the play, but comes to the play's climax with flying colors.

Michael Bruen plays Ed Devery, attorney to Brock and the one person who keeps him in line. Bruen is another who comes across to best advantage in the final moments after a tepid performance earlier as the disillusioned lawyer "owned" by Brock.

Ken Gallo moves smoothly and unobtrusively through his role as Eddie Brock, Harry's bodyguard and cousin, then draws deserved applause for one beautiful bit when he discovers Harry actually reading a book.

The role of Senator Norval Hedges is not handled well by Tom Coble. Actually there seemed to be little characterization, and if that man was a Senator, we are glad we did not vote for him. Fortunately this is not a serious drawback to the production, since the role is not that large.

Generally, it is a fine production, worthy of a sellout every night.

BLUE RIBBON WINNER — Miss Neva Bacle proudly displays the blue ribbon she received for winning the 600 walk and run event for grade 4 girls at Kings Grant school during the recent competition to select winners who will represent the school in the upcoming Physical Fitness Meet, which will be held May 19 at Cox High school for the entire elementary school system in Virginia Beach. Those who won the most blue ribbons will be selected to represent their school. From Kings Grant out of the hundreds of competitors, Patrick Nipper of Grade 4 was first with 4 blue ribbons. A tie for second place went to Wayne Mock—grade 7, and Susan Roberts—grade 5, each with 3 blue ribbons. A four-way tie for the third prize went to Dennis Adair—grade 7, Audrey Sotterwalte—grade 4, Maria Gignus—grade 6, and Lee Haywood—grade 7. Each won two blue ribbons. Neva, with only one blue ribbon, will not compete on the city-wide level... but she is happy just the same. (Staff photo by Padrick)

"Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools."
—Romans 1:22

The wise man knows that the quest for knowledge is never completely fulfilled. The individual who "knows-it-all" knows only what is of interest and is blind to many of the great wonders and mysteries of life upon earth.

Wisdom must be sought after and, the more it is realized, the more the wise become humble and hungry for greater knowledge and insight.

Assuming a cloak of wisdom accomplishes nothing.

Top Awards Won

By MARY ELLEN GALLAGHER

VIRGINIA BEACH — The touch of the masters was in evidence at the Flower Show which was held at the Garden Center in Norfolk, sponsored by the Accredited Judges in the Tidewater District. Interpretive designs and breathtaking color of horticulture specimens filled the room. The stage was landscaped with azaleas, unusual coleus and greens, setting the theme for the patio tables and the garden statuary which would be given as prizes for the top awards.

The Educational Division, "The Natural Touch," a display showing the proper iris planting; "Nature in Color," a display of many beautiful varieties of azaleas and objects d'art; "Our Judges Choice" of hand crafted containers and accessories made by the judges added much to the educational value of the show.

Judges from Virginia Beach took many of the top awards. Mrs. E. A. Hoffmeister, Cavalier Garden Club, won the Tri Color for her formal table in the table section. "Exquisite" was the comment of the Judges.

Mrs. David Stormont, Sr., Bird-neck Point Garden Club walked away with the Award of Distinction for her interpretation of "Objects d'Art."

Mrs. William N. Hall, Larkspur Meadows Garden Club was the recipient of the Creativity Award with her interpretation of "Combustion" in the "Freedom of Design" class.

Other Virginia Beach judges winning ribbons were: Mrs. Malcolm H. Todd, Jr., Mrs. Arthur H. Gallagher, Mrs. Phillip C. Morris in the Artistic Division; Mrs. Robert L. Munn won several blue ribbons in the Horticulture Division. Mrs. August H. Culpepper, a student judge from Virginia Beach received second place for her interpretation of "Halls of Ivy" and blue ribbons in horticulture.

Mrs. Y. O. Kent, Green Spring Garden Club of Williamsburg won the Tri Color in the Artistic Arrangement Division. She also won the Sweepstakes Award for the most blue ribbons in the artistic classes.

Mrs. G. Titman and Mrs. G. D. Overman won the Award of Merit in the Horticulture Division. Mrs. Smith was the Sweepstakes winner in Horticulture.

Other blue ribbon winners in the Artistic Division were: Mrs. Walter Baker, Capital Spring Garden Club, Mrs. M. W. Llewellyn Estabrook Garden Club, Mrs. L. M. Caputo, Marion Crosby Garden Club, Mrs. James R. Cohen and Mrs. Edwin B. Forrest. In the Invitational classes Mrs. T. E. Fields, Mrs. Charles L. Todd and Mrs. W. D. Mason were top winners.

This being a first, a show in which the judges exhibited, out of town judges served on the panels and all agreed that it was a production of beauty.

The "Y" Of It

HEY Y-TEEN! COLLEGE! VACATION! CONFERENCE! BOYS!

Here's your big chance to combine all this in one for a thrilling week at the Y-Teen's conference this summer. Yes, that's right, you can have all this and more at Guilford College. I guarantee that you'll wish the conference would last throughout the summer! Your Y-Teen Director has returned from the planning conference and knows what kind of surprises are in store.

First of all there will be a good taste of college life at the Virginia-Carolina Conference. Site of the conference is Guilford College in Greensboro, N. C. We'll live in dorms and have access to all facets of college life minus the books and studying, of course! There will be tennis, golf, and swimming for the out-door gal and for the hard-to-please gal, well, it IS a co-ed school!

Theme for this year's conference is COUNTDOWN—ARE YOU A.O.K.? The theme refers to the period of time in which we live, the conditions which surround us and the decisions which face us in our daily lives. We plan to look at the social pressures which confront today's youth, pay attention to world conditions and examine the role of women and girls in today's fast paced and changing society.

Reverend Charles Jones of Chapel Hill, N. C. will be the resource leader for the conference. I know that he promises to be stimulating and inspiring for those lucky girls who will attend the conference.

There will be workshops in arts and crafts, music, and drama, just to name a few. The Y-Teens who attend this year's conference will have a "mountain top" experience. They will leave with new ideas and new life-feelings. You couldn't ask for more! I hope that you will be lucky enough to attend. If you are interested, just let me know! Call the YWCA office.

Schedule of Activities
Monday — Ceramics, bowling, swimming.

Tuesday — Trimmings, horseback, Bishop sewing, tennis.

Wednesday — Pastels and watercolors, advanced oils, swimming, judo.

Thursday — Golf, tennis sculpturing, trimmings, flower arranging.

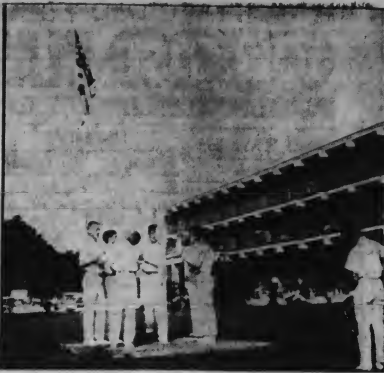

Friday — Oil painting.

Gerald Lee Gates of 205 Cheyenne Drive, has been installed as secretary of the 1966 alumni class officers at the University of Pennsylvania during the recently held traditional Hey Day exercises.

Survey To Be Made

VIRGINIA BEACH — Postmaster J. T. Crosswhite, Jr. announced today that Rural Mail Carriers and Star Route Contractors will begin distributing June 1, 1966 Livestock Survey cards to farmer patrons on their routes about May 23.

Your Post Office assists the Department of Agriculture each year in making this and two other surveys.

Livestock cards returned by farmers to their carriers will be mailed direct to the Virginia Crop Reporting Service in Richmond. Information from each card, if properly reported, will then be tabulated and combined with other reports to give indications of changes in livestock on Old Dominion farms. These indications will be used to establish estimates of the 1936 calf crop, the spring pig crop, as well as plans for fall farrowing, milk cows on farms, and numbers of chickens in farm flocks.

So, next week if you find in your mailbox a card titled "Livestock Survey, June 1, 1966," don't put it aside. It was placed there by your carrier. Postmaster J. T. Crosswhite, Jr. urges that you fill out the card and return it to your carrier as soon as possible. It is important that you return the card for your farm since only a given number of farms will receive these cards, and your community will be represented according to the number of cards returned.

MRS. ROBIN H. OWEN, prominent in educational, social, and civic endeavors at Virginia Beach, was responsible for an award of $50 to be given to the Princess Anne Woman's Club of which she is Community Projects chairman. The award was presented at the 59th annual convention of women's clubs held in Richmond. Mrs. Owen's work in Mental Health was the main project which brought recognition to her and her club. # Organization Candidates For City Council List Objectives For Beach VIRGINIA BEACH — The Democratic Organization slate of candidates is in the process of distributing brochures to voters all over Virginia Beach. The brochures include pictures of the eleven Organization candidates and a short biography of each. In addition 24 accomplishments in the city during the past four councilmatic years are listed. During that time Organization members have served on City Council. The 24 accomplishments are better by the 27 objectives of the Organization in the coming years. Both the accomplishments and the objectives are impressive.

24 Accomplishments
The brochure states that during the past four years the Police Division has added a total of 73 persons and a large assortment of important equipment. It tells of ten new industries in Virginia Beach since the establishment of the Industrial Development Authority. The industries, valued at $10 million, employ 300 people. In the same period 352 school rooms have been added and 519 teachers have been added to the staff.

Nearly half a million feet of water line and sewer mains have been added, while nearly a thousand miles of roads were either newly constructed or improved.

Listed also are the new construction projects either underway or about to begin, including Independence Boulevard, General Booth Boulevard and the new bridge at Rudee Inlet. It is stated that four major bridges spanning Virginia Beach waterways were replaced. Other accomplishments noted include the new Windsor Woods Library, a new health clinic, the enlargement of the Public Health Building, the enlargement of Police Headquarters, and the soon to be completed first phase of Red Wing Park.

Recreational accomplishments are also listed, including the new attention to community playgrounds and recreational programs in schools. The past tourist season was called a record one. The brochure stated that Virginia Beach farmers enjoyed a record year, and that the City Producers Market has had a successful beginning. Development of trade centers, prompt efficient snow removal, extensive dredging in Bay and Princess Anne Plaza, and special beach-cleaning services were also cited.

the completion of the dual laning of Shore Drive. It calls for the extension of water and sewer lines to most of the heavily populated areas of the city, bringing about lower insurance rates, and the programming of the installation of water distribution systems for areas without city water. The objectives include also the completion of sewer mains and disposal systems by Harrison Roads Sanitation District by 1968.

Another library is planned (in Payette). Another Police precinct is planned (in Bayside). Continuation of the recreational program is projected, including development of Sandbridge, Red Wing Park and the Nika Site. The development of Rudee Inlet is also proposed, with the aid of Federal

Armed Forces Parade Set

VIRGINIA BEACH—Final preparations are being made by all concerned for the Armed Forces Day Parade Saturday.

Units for the parade will begin forming up at 8:30 a.m. at 10th Street and Atlantic Avenue, and will break up at 31st Street.

Parade officials report 130 units will be in this year's parade, making it one of the biggest on record.

The parade is scheduled to begin at 10:00 a.m. and will take about two hours.

The annual Armed Forces Day Parade is probably the biggest thing that happens in Virginia Beach. It unofficially kicks off the tourist season and opens the resort area each year.

Following the parade there will be public displays at Ft. Story, Dem Neck, Oceana Naval Air Station and Little Creek Amphibious Base.

Armed Forces Day allows the taxpayers public to see their fighting men and equipment close-up.

27 Objectives

The objectives of the Organization call for a most ambitious program in many different phases of city operation.

The program calls for the completion of the second phase of General Booth Boulevard and Independence Boulevard, as well as

INDEPENDENCE BOULEVARD, pictured here, and General Booth Boulevard are moving along on schedule, according to Charles Kiley, Director of Public Works. Kiley said work is "going fine" on both projects and the rain has not set them behind. City Manager W. Russell Hatchett reported at City Council last week that the work on the first phase of Independence was ahead of schedule and approximately $250,000 was needed for completion of sewer lines along the highway. The money was needed immediately to speed up the sewer construction enough to catch up with the road construction. Both General Booth and Independence Boulevards are scheduled to be completed by December. (Staff photo by Moore)

School Board Tours UKHS

By Douglas Barnes

KEMPSVILLE — It is not often that a roving reporter has as fascinating a day as we had recently, for like Damon and Pythias, wanted or not, we stuck with the Virginia Beach School Board from 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. last Tuesday.

Arriving at Union-Kempsville High school, we were among many members of the news media and many representatives from the Virginia Beach Council of Human Relations, NAACP, and P-TA. These were the same people who had asked the School Board at the April meeting to tour the area before the May meeting in order to evaluate the conditions at Union-Kempsville High School. They had also asked that academic standards be looked into since they wished to have the school accepted in the Southern Association of Accredited High Schools.

Entering the front door, en masse, led by Superintendent Frank Cox and School principal Boykin, we were called from one room to another, from one group to another to "see this, and please look at that." We noted a very clean school with well-disciplined and attentive students in classrooms; which were not overcrowded. There were, however, a few cracks in doors, weather-beaten shades, little medicine in the clinic and a shortage of books in the library. Willis from the NAACP asked that we mention the lack of plastic eye protectors furnished in other schools for the metal shop students; and Clapp asked Cox why there were no ethnic school books in an all-colored school.

We saw a class learning Spanish which had ear phones and record player, many trophies which have been won by the school, the excellent choral group in rehearsal the clean cafeteria, the home economics class in the process of cooking a meal, the administration offices, the art classes, the

Pumping On Schedule

VIRGINIA BEACH — According to the Virginia Beach Erosion Commission, the sand pumping operation for the boardwalk is on schedule for this fiscal year.

Joseph McDonald, consulting engineer, told the commission, "If we have a good pumping rate in May, we will meet our target on suitable material for this year."

The "target" McDonald spoke of is the dredging of 130,000 cubic yards of good sand on the beach by June 30, the end of this fiscal year. The Army Corps of Engineers approved this amount of dredging.

The commission, at its meeting Tuesday, delayed action on a proposal to build a storage and maintenance building on land it is obtaining at Camp Pendleton.

The commission also heard a report that more repairs will be needed on the boardwalk. The repairs, which were scheduled to be completed in a few days, were set back when a truck broke a five-foot hole in the boardwalk at 29th street.

The commission allocated the money for the additional repairs.

RECEIVES KELLAM ENDORSEMENT

Sen. Robertson Campaigns In Va. Beach

VIRGINIA BEACH — U. S. Senator A. Willis Robertson made a whirlwind campaign tour through Virginia Beach last Friday on a tight schedule. But in less than three hours spoke to nearly 400 supporters and held a press conference. That same night he also addressed a convention of Letter Carriers, hosted by Virginia Beach postal employees.

A large crowd of nearly 300 persons gathered at City Hall at Princess Anne at five o'clock Friday afternoon. There was an air of expectancy as speculation continued that endorsement of Sen.

tor Robertson would be forthcoming from Democratic National Committeeman Sidney S. Kellam and other influential officials and citizens of Virginia Beach.

A dixieland band played merrily away as the crowd gathered, but much of the music was lost with the arrival of Sidney Kellam. At the appointed hour, Robertson's co-campaign manager in Virginia Beach, Dr. Ira Hancock, mounted the Courthouse steps and happily told the crowd that the Senator would be introduced by "nons" other than Sidney Kellam.

Kellam ended all speculation quickly and emphatically. In his introduction, he said, "I am delighted to join in endorsing and urge your support for Senator Robertson for reelection to the United States Senate."

Kellam also noted that First District Congressman Thomas N. Downing, who represents Virginia Beach, had already given his support to Robertson. He added, "If there was ever a time for Congress to work together it is now, and Rep. Downing and Senator Robertson have work hand in hand for this area."

The issue of Robertson's age was skimmed over when Kellam noted that the only reason Robertson's opponent can find for not reelecting the Senator is his age. Kellam said that seniority, which Robertson has, is far more important than a man's age.

With Kellam's endorsement, a loud cheer went up from the audience. Dr. Hancock called the Kellam endorsement a "shot in the arm" for Robertson.

The Senator beamed broadly as he began his speech, which was interrupted several times by applause.

CAMPAIGNING AT THE COURTHOUSE, Senator Robertson shakes hands with all constituents, old and young alike. The young man at left, however, appears to be more interested in the young man a few feet away from him. Such are the trials of politics.

SENATOR ROBERTSON IS AT HIS BEST when fielding questions from reporters at a press conference. He discussed subjects with newsmen ranging from duck hunting in Back Bay to U. S. policies in Viet Nam and the CIA. The conference was held in the office of Robertson's co-campaign manager in Virginia Beach, Les Luma.

CAMPAIGNING AT PEMBROKE MALL SHOPPING CENTER, Senator Robertson stood on a makeshift platform at the entrance to the new facility and addressed a crowd of about 100 persons who gathered there. A dixieland band provided a crowd-gathering concert both before and after the Senator's remarks.

In covering Party Line, once in a while I come across some of our Virginia Beach doctors out for an evening of pleasure.

Princess Anne WC Hears Caton

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Princess Anne Woman's Club held its May meeting at the Pine Tree Inn last week, with Mrs. Joseph B. Sadler presiding in the absence of the president, Mrs. George Aldridge. Yearly reports were given at the business meeting followed by luncheon, after which Mrs. Edward Abourjille spoke in behalf of the Heart Fund Fashion Show of last Feb. She thanked the entire city for its help, and stated that The Tidewater Heart Association was planning to make this an annual affair to be held at the Alan Shepherd Civic Center, if possible.

Mrs. Abourjille is volunteer publicity coordinator for the Association. The Ocean Park Woman's Club sponsored the show last year. She stated the need for the pulmonary cardiac equipment to be presented to King's Daughters Children's Division of Norfolk General Hospital. After a brief discussion, and an explanation of the project by Mrs. R. H. Owen, Community Projects Chairman of the club, and Special Events Chairman of the Association, the club voted to sponsor the second annual Fabulous Fashion Show of 1957, the exact time to be determined.

Mrs. C. W. Jernigan designed the infinitesimal baskets of flowers and May poles with colored ribbon streamers which graced each table. She also introduced state delegate, Edward T. Caton III, former city councilman, who in talking with Law Week spoke on "Respect the Law, and the Law Will Respect You!"

"There seems to be an apathy toward the law today; it is now time for us to re-dedicate ourselves to obeying the laws of the land. The public tolerates rather than cooperates with the law. The diverges as overindulgence in all forms of recreation, condoning violence, and contemptuousness on the other fellow's fault all indicate deteriorating respect for the law. We must not be spectators, but participants in helping the law enforce the law. It is of primary importance that on the local, state and national level, we elect the men who will pass just laws, and then respect their decisions," stated Caton.

"Public support must be fearless, and fair; and we do not in this country fight with sticks, bricks, nor bullets; we rather use WORDS to enforce the law. This week the Communists are celebrating May Day. Contrast their celebrations with ours."

'Gifted' Installation Held

BAYSIDE — Women find the most ingenious ways of doing things. At the annual installation luncheon of the Ocean Park Woman's Club held in the handsome volunteer fire house, Mrs. R. H. Owen, a member of the National Parliamentarians of America, installed the new officers for a two year period.

After the serious business of installing the officers in a dignified fashion was complete, Mrs. Owen presented original gifts to the new officers, and to each, she spoke humorous remarks pertinent to the office and the gift.

To Mrs. Davis Graham, outgoing president, was given a golden crown—"for a queen who has worked hard beyond her call of duty"; to Mrs. Louis Quackenbush, president, a baton—"to lead the membership in harmony throughout each measure of the year"; to Mrs. David Whitaker, first vice president and program chairman, a green velvet thinking cap with two electric light bulbs attached—"to turn on the current of ideas unlimited"; to Mrs. B. I. Waters, second vice president and ways & means chairman, a roadmap of Virginia Beach—"so that you will know in which direction you are going"; to Mrs. O. B. Ostrander, recording secretary, a blue ostrich plumed pen—"to cherish and keep the minutes in tri-blue."

Also, to Mrs. W. O. Sherman, corresponding secretary, a book of stamps—"to start you on your new adventure"; to Mrs. C. B. Halston, treasurer, a piggy bank and an antique headed bag—"in which to keep the club's funds and to store any extra pin money (no one will be the wiser and you can take your husband to dinner)"; to Mrs. John Carroll, historian, a can of poppycock candy—"because the nominating committee told you you wouldn't have anything to do and that's a lot of poppycock!"; and to Mrs. Lloyd Ganker, the new chaplain, a prayer book that "isn't dry, but is enlightening."

Mrs. Owen designed the gifts. The luncheon table was decorated with marigolds made of colored ribbon streamers in small bouquets of spring flowers. The American flag and the Virginia state flag flanked the head table, and on the walls were large seascape murals done by an ex-serviceman which featured the City's symbol in one.

Unit 1 prepared and served the lunch which consisted of chicken a la king in pastry shells, jellied sunshine salad, sweet buns and homemade chocolate cake.

St. Nicholas WC

VIRGINIA BEACH—At the May meeting of the St. Nicholas Women's Club, the members heard a talk by father Paul Gaughan of the St. Mary's Infant Home in Norfolk. The ladies were told there is a great need not only for foster homes but also for adoptive homes.

Father also pointed out that the regulations to be a foster parent or adoptive parent are not as strict as they have been in the past. He stressed there is no substitute for a mother's attention and that the environment of a home is essential in the good development of children.

At the meeting there were also reports given by the ladies who attend the Deane Workshop held at St. Matthews Church.

A Newspaper - Not A Dictator

Every newspaper is entitled to voice its opinion and we would not want to see that basic principle changed in any way. But when any newspaper oversteps the bounds of propriety on its editorial page, we believe something is wrong. A newspaper can present opinion but it must not attempt to inflict its opinion on others. It must not malign anyone or anything without cause. No newspaper is that big or that important.

An editorial appearing in the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot on Monday, May 16, in which the writer attempted to take Democratic National Committeeman Sidney S. Kellam to task simply because Mr. Kellam has refused to accept that newspaper's freely given and unasked-for advice, and support one William Spong for U. S. Senator, is rather ridiculous.

The charge made in the editorial that Kellam attempted to persuade First District Congressman Thomas N. Downing to run against incumbent Senator A. Willis Robertson in the Democratic primary is, of course, without fact or substantiation, and we believe that the editorial writer was well aware of that fact when he wrote his dissertation.

The true fact remains that Mr. Kellam did state publicly many times that he would be delighted to support Mr. Downing should the Congressman become a candidate, but Kellam added that he could not and would not attempt to advise Mr. Downing in any way. Mr. Downing made his choice. He chose not to run. Mr. Kellam made his choice. He chose to support Senator Robertson. He is as entitled to that endorsement as the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot is to its endorsement. Mr. Kellam does not call the newspaper's endorsement a "cynical move for power," nor does he say that newspaper endorsement "deserves public repudiation by the voters." He is content not to comment, knowing full well that a democracy is based on a freedom of choice.

Perhaps had Mr. Downing run, the situation would have been different. We do not know. We are not privileged to view Mr. Kellam's private thoughts. What the editor of the Virginian-Pilot fails to recognize is the tremendous difference in Mr. Downing and Mr.

Spong. Mr. Downing has served almost ten years on the national level. He is one of the outstanding congressmen in the country, so recognized by his fellow members. On the other hand, one of Mr. Spong's own fellow members stated just the other day that the Portsmouth State Senator's record is the least impressive of any member of that august body. Therefore we think that the Virginian-Pilot may be attempting to confuse its readers. The choice here is not between Mr. Downing and Senator Robertson. They are the candidates.

The editor of the Norfolk newspaper pointed out that Spong was a local man and deserved local support. If our memory serves us correctly, as we believe it does, the Virginian-Pilot withheld its support from the Honorable Mills E. Godwin, Jr. when he was a candidate for Lt. Governor, although he was a local man and his opponent had no record that could attract any Tidewater voter to him. Just a year ago, the Virginia Beach Sun supported Mr. Spong for the State Senate, along with the other two candidates running with him on the Democratic Ticket. We thought he should be one of the three chosen as indeed he was, but this is a race now for a higher and more important post.

To begin with, no one has pointed out any reason why Senator Robertson should be replaced, except for his age. We saw the Senator in action last Friday after two strenuous days of campaigning. He had been in Norfolk, returned to Washington and had flown back to Virginia Beach. We only hope that when we reach his years we are able to look so good and handle ourselves so well on a speaker's stand or in a press conference.

Senator Robertson's seniority in the U. S. Senate, his knowledge of the affairs of this country, his interest in the State of Virginia, his past record of service to the State, and his ability to get things done, are all so superior to the qualities of Mr. Spong that we believe the people of Virginia cannot afford to take an exceedingly bold gamble by replacing Senator Robertson at a time when all those qualities mean so much.

Summer Jobs For Our Youth

The Virginia Employment Commission all over the State is conducting a vigorous campaign at this moment to get jobs for students wishing to work during the summer. R. O. Rucks, Manager of the Virginia Beach office has sent urgent letters to all potential employers in Virginia Beach and to high school teachers and administrators.

The letters to school officials urge the students themselves to contact the Employment Office within the next two weeks, to leave their names and qualifications, to make their wishes to be employed known and to help the Commission best evaluate the needs. We certainly hope the school officials and counselors heed the letter. We feel certain the Commission will be able to find jobs for many students this summer.

The letters sent by the Commission to prospective employers seek cooperation.

ation of the many businesses in Virginia Beach. The letter urges businessmen and merchants to hire students this and every year.

To hire students during the summer is just good business sense. There are increased needs in many economic ventures in our city to begin with, but besides that, vacation slots have to be filled and many, many odd jobs, put off all year long, need doing. A willing worker, recommended by the VEC, is the obvious answer.

We do not wish to hear students tell us they could not find jobs. All they have to do is work with the VEC. The jobs are there, or will be as soon as the many smart businessmen in Virginia Beach contact the VEC. No fees of any kind are charged either to employer or to employee, and this is an excellent service provided in our city. We hope all who need help will take advantage of it.

NOT AN HALLUCINATION !

The Fault Lies Mostly With The Parents

Since the weather at Virginia Beach has finally turned summery, the children of all ages, from the toddler to the teenager, have finally been able to play outdoors. The parents are especially pleased with this turn of events. Finally the youngsters are no longer underfoot. They can stay outside, when they are not in school. Therefore, particularly on weekends and after school, one would think the world has been turned over to children.

In many ways, Virginia Beach is unique in its housing. There are so many housing developments in relatively small concentrated areas, and the number of young children in a number of these developments can cause some problem.

It is unfortunate that too many parents care so little for the lives of their children and simply turn them out to play anywhere they can. Pity the motorist trying to drive through the neighborhoods, finding so many youngsters unattended, playing in the streets. Small children have little respect for an automobile and what's more they are just too careless to be left alone near them. We hope that several do not have to be killed, maimed, or severely injured by innocent motorists before parents realize the dangers.

One of the most dangerous toys ever put into the hands of a child is the bicycle. In the past few days, we have seen several children nearly hit by automobiles while riding their bicycles.

The children were at fault. The unsuspecting driver was not. Children ride on the wrong side of the roads, in groups four and five abreast, in and out of traffic, on roads so heavily traveled that a bike is just not needed, and even all over lawns.

The absolute disregard for traffic rules, laws and good common sense traffic safety we have witnessed is almost unbelievable. The children dart directly in the path of traffic, almost daring the driver to hit them, and pity the driver if he does.

The fault lies mostly with the parent. First of all any parent who loves his child should know where he is at all times. And we doubt seriously that any parent would like to know that his child is riding a bike on Virginia Beach Boulevard. Parents should teach traffic safety, and they should not let the youngsters ride anywhere, even on an isolated road, unless they can trust the child to abide by the laws and rules.

Part of the fault lies too with Virginia Beach Police. Bicycle riders are covered by traffic laws too. We believe bike riders who cannot abide by the law should be arrested. Arrest is far better than being killed.

So we blame mostly the parents, partly the children and partly the police for the multitude of problems the young bike riders are causing. Something must be done about it before there are more deaths and injuries and more poor bike riders than poor automobile drivers.

A Day To Remember

In Virginia Beach, where the military is an important and integral part of the economy and everyday life, we are glad to say that Armed Forces Day is always celebrated with a little more vigor than in many other places. We are proud to say that our Armed Forces Day Parade parallels the best of them. The marching units, both military and civilian, are outstanding. The floats and displays are excellent.

Fortunately the people of Virginia Beach recognize the excellence of their parade and attendance is good. We look forward to this year's parade with a great deal of anticipation because we know what kind of show to expect.

In addition the military installations in Virginia Beach are always open to the public on Armed Forces Day and exhibit fascinating and unusual displays of military might and learning.

We know the citizens of Virginia Beach will again take advantage of the opportunity to view these unique exhibits.

Although the parade and displays are quite important, we must never lose sight of why we celebrate this special day as Armed Forces Day. It is a day to pay homage to the American fighting men, wherever they are in the world, fighting for or helping to maintain an uneasy peace. Were it not for them, we would not be able to partake of the fun-type activities surrounding this Armed Forces Day.

We urge all residents of Virginia Beach to pause on this Armed Forces Day just for a moment and reflect. We urge a show of respect for our flag and our military men and women. We salute them all on this, their special day.

Sandler Reopens Plant

ceasing plant at Diamond Springs in what was then Princess Anne County. The company's business then grew to include all of Virginia and neighboring states.

Today the company is no longer a small seafood and fish concern, but an institution which features the very best fresh and frozen seafood as well as a complete line of frozen and grocery items for restaurants, hotels and institutions. Quality control of all food products is maintained through rigid refrigeration, fast, efficient mechanization and specially trained personnel. Service to customers is maintained at its highest peak by 24-hour expediting of orders and sales.

The new plant includes the newest and most efficient food processing equipment. The facilities also contain thousands of square feet of cold as well as dry storage space, enabling L. M. Sandler and Sons to offer top customer services as well as complete food lines.

Present officers of the company are: Harry Sandler, President; Sam Sandler, Vice President and Treasurer; and Mrs. Sam Sandler, Secretary.

The new building incorporated all of what was left after the fire, however, the entire facility is now much larger. Sam Sandler is perhaps proudest of the new engine and generator room. He said he did not want it to look drab like most rooms of that kind. He instructed the painters to "make it look like a circus." And it does. The painters took him at his word and painted the various machines, pipes and urethane foam insulation in nearly every pastel color of the rainbow. Sandler is accurately quite proud of this room and takes all visitors there.

It is quite evident that both Sam and Harry Sandler are proud of their new building. Both bubble with good-natured enthusiasm at all times. Even at the height of the fire last year, Sam Sandler never appeared to lose faith. He directed salvage operations coolly and the operation of L. M. Sandler & Sons, Inc., was not interrupted even in the days that followed.

In what may be the shortest speech on record by anyone ever listed on the political rolls, Lt. Governor Fred Pollard told the approximately 200 persons at the ribbon cutting ceremony Saturday that although the plant employs 60 people, it generates 40 other jobs and eventually ends up supporting nearly 400 persons. He expressed pride in the new facility both for himself and for the State of Virginia.

THE VIRGINIA BEACH OPEN FORUM

Dear Sir:

The writer wishes to commend one of the bus drivers with the Carolina Trailways on the Virginia Beach run.

I was so impressed and fascinated with Mr. J. C. Weeks and the way he handled his passengers, he had a friendly greeting for everyone that loaded his bus many of whom were, of course, his regular fares. It was delightful to witness such a display of "Good Public Relations" in this present day atmosphere of tenseness and emotional climate.

Mr. Weeks seems to have the answer and is blessed with the patience and happy frame of mind to implement such behavior in his everyday existence.

Every person who meets the public in any capacity whatsoever should be so trained. Public Relation experts who earn large retainers fees hardly perform as efficiently as Mr. Weeks does.

It behooves me to think the time is fast approaching when there will be no place whatsoever, neither in the political or business world, for the grouchy, the unhappy, the neurotic, or anyone for that matter who is unwilling to give that extra service or inject something of himself in his work day.

Sincerely yours,

H. I. Jaffe

Dear Mrs. Padrick:

Many, many sincere thanks for the wonderful send off interview. Being knee deep in Virginia Beach progress and problems so much of the time it has always been a joy to know I could always depend on the Virginia Beach Sun.

To lend a hand to help solve the problems and speed the progress. Being FOR something adds — being ANTI subtracts, and being on the FOR team leads me to say that anyone who feels that you and all the other members of the Sun staff are echos of anything other than the issues as you see them has me to fight.

Keep the SUN shining.

Sincerely,

Lois Nelson

Dear Mrs. Padrick:

Thank you so much for the very fine article you wrote about our Republican Candidate, Mrs. Lois Nelson. I really believe it is the best article we Republicans have had written about any of our past candidates in local papers. I just wanted you to know we do appreciate the fairness and the accuracy in which Mrs. Nelson was presented by you to the Virginia Beach readers.

Sincerely,

Jeanne Heflin

Cox stated that the school had been pointed last year and that it was accredited by the State of Virginia and, if the school applied, it would be accredited this spring in the Southern Association of Accredited High Schools. The Board had apportioned money last spring for getting the library to meet requirements and the school has not applied.

Strange Over Hooper By One Stroke

VIRGINIA BEACH — Tom Strange of Virginia Beach fired a par 72 Monday at Bide-A-Wee Golf Course in Portsmouth to win his fourth Virginia State Open championship.

Strange edged out Herbert Hooper by one stroke in the playoff round.

Strange and Hooper both had an overall score of 289 when the regulation tournament ended Sunday and were forced into an 18-hole playoff.

Hooper managed to stay even par with Strange through the 13th, but then lost with bogies on the 14th and 16th. Hooper's share of the purse was $300.

Thirty-five-year-old Strange also edged out Hooper, who is 23, by two strokes during the championship at the Cavalier, two years ago.

After the tourney was over, Strange said he will play his first PGA tour appearance in the Philadelphia Golf Classic in August. He recently became a member of the PGA.

Strange was honored last night at the Bow Creek Country Club, where he is the club professional. He was feted to a cocktail party which got under way at 7:30 p.m. and State funds. It is noted that a canal from Rudee Inlet to Linkhorn Bay will be completed.

New safety measures are proposed with use of the new central communications center and fire station at Princess Anne Plaza, with continued study and improvement of traffic safety on Virginia Beach Boulevard and with the widening and improvement of Great Neck Road.

Construction of the first phase of the New City Hall E.T.A.O. of the new City Hall is projected in the objectives, as well as continued development of the industrial park, with particular emphasis on negotiations with a major industrial plant to cost about $5 million and to employ about 800 persons. Also proposed are studies of drainage problems and efforts to get Federal and State money for water, drainage, recreational, beautification and sewer projects.

New efforts in beautification, and the restoration of Back Bay to a sportsman's paradise are projected, as well as the construction of a pleasure and commercial craft marina in Lynnhaven. Four-laning of numerous roads and the completion of the new bridge over Lynnhaven Inlet are included in

There will be a service department with 40 stalls, a truck repair center, a paint shop, and a separate building for a body repair shop, a customer's lounge and outdoor gardens. Also included in the plans are a tire sales and repair department and a glass and repair center.

The site of Caray Field and where the new dealership will be located is one mile east of Princess Anne Plaza.

Riley of Bay-side, was a member of the production staff for the Sack and Buskin drama club of Randolph-Macon Woman's College in its presentation of "Winnie-the-Pooh," a musical comedy version of the famous book for children, given recently at the college. ## Closet Too Small for Business

"There must be a need for this," observed "Lucky" Newton, "for we haven't tried very hard to promote it." She was talking about the Parish Book Store which is in the process this week of moving into its larger quarters in order to be ready to celebrate the beginning of its third year of operation with an Open House from May 23 through 27.

A little over two years ago, Eastern Shore Chapel converted a rather large closet into a book and gift store. Stories of inspirational nature plus various gift items were offered for sale. The response was overwhelming!

When it became obvious that the demand was greater than the facilities could carry, a move to larger quarters was imperative. And it was decided to clean out a stock room at the rear of the church and make that the new book store.

After extensive planning and moving and ordering of supplies, the volunteer ladies of the church are happy to announce that the remodeled spacious quarters will be ready to serve many faithful patrons of the past and are inviting new customers to come and browse.

The celebration of the growth of the Parish Book Store will be in the form of an open house and will be carried out all next week. Hours of operation will be from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Refreshments of coffee and cookies will be served.

All types of devotional, inspirational and theological books will be available. They carry a large stock of children's books as well as adult fiction and non-fiction. Gift items include such things as silver jewelry and medals, plaques and prints of religious art, chapel caps, and nice greeting cards for all occasions including confirmations, etc.

Proceeds derived from the Parish Book Store go to the Seminars for education and part also goes to those in Columbia, South America.

Board members are all volunteer workers. Mrs. A. C. Johnson Jr. is general manager; Mrs. F. H. Weller, book manager; Mrs. Roy Newton, gift manager; Mrs. Joel Carlson, book inventory; Mrs. B. Sydney Sanders, secretary; and Mrs. D. M. Cramer, book assistant. Salesladies are women of the church who volunteer one day a week in the Parish Book Store.

DORIS PADRICK'S VIEW of VIRGINIA BEACH

Annetta and Gerrie are relishing a period in their lifetime which will someday be one of their most treasured memories of an intermission between girlhood and womanhood. School days are over, jobs have been secured, and marital plans are nebulous . . . they have left the sheltering arms of home and now live together in an apartment of their own.

Their great desire to "try their wings" did not come about through misunderstandings of adult demands; rather it was a natural result of a growing awareness of the importance of being a person in her own right. Their freedom, which has been granted by wisdom of faith in parental upbringing, is a responsibility they carefully protect.

Finding a roommate of like interests and income, learning each other's likes and dislikes and sharing chores together is all part of the necessary maturing process and the important ingredients for establishing a happy home.

Gerrie and Annetta work together in the same office and have the same hours which simplifies matters considerably. They each have their own car, so they take turns driving to work. And being young, they hold to no rigid schedules as to when the laundry should be done, ironing finished, or even when meals should be prepared! When asked what they cook and when they eat their meals, they just giggled and said, "We eat when we get hungry and have whatever the budget allows!"

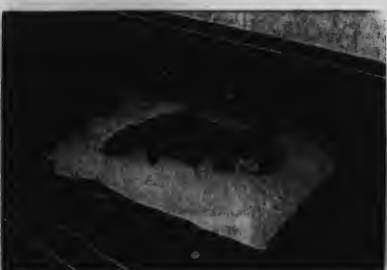

Annetta and Gerrie often talk and laugh over the day's happenings at their own table in their own apartment on their own time . . .

Expressing some concern over their slim figures becoming "soft and fat," they often take time after work to play tennis to keep in shape . . . "Sometimes it is after 9 o'clock before we get around to even thinking about food."

The "nesting instinct" which seems to be present in all females shows in the homey atmosphere they have created with a few furnishings brought from home blending with the things already available in their partly-furnished apartment. Both are normally neat so no real housecleaning is necessary except about twice a month when they pitch in with the vacuum cleaner, mop, dust cloth and whatever else can be used to keep their place shining and clean. They have no special rules nor assigned chores — "Whatever has to be done, we do together."

And whether it is the remnants of childhood still clinging or a budding mother-like compulsion to care for something little and helpless, the girls found their little home more complete with the inclusion of pets — the most important VIP being a little black puppy called Tina who is almost as tenderly cared for as a real baby. Annetta paid $50 for her when she was merely a handful of soft black fur.

They also have four goldfish, two of which they have named after their boyfriends and the other two are their namesakes — a nice little foursome. And soft words and whistles from their parakeets add to the background of girlish conversations.

Pampered pet, Tonya Wie Ling, better known as "Tina," is a miniature registered Pekingese and still a baby. Note the pacifier which she enjoys at nap-time!

When asked if they felt all girls should have their own apartments, they both agreed it would depend on the persons, but for themselves they felt it a most important phase of growing up. "We didn't move out of the city; we merely left our childhood home. It is a wonderful try-out period before having to be responsible to a husband and children later on in life. To us it seems the only sensible and most logical step to take. Our families are near if we need them, but our decisions are our own."

What about the parents' reactions? One mother, who admitted that the separation is not without pain, has found it to be a surprisingly delightful arrangement. "Maturing children will not spend much time at home, but when they move away, they seem to enjoy coming back as a guest to spend an evening . . . and they do come often."

FIVE RESIDENTS OF VIRGINIA BEACH were honored recently (May 12) by Ford Motor Company for outstanding community service. Marvin T. Runyon (left), manager of Ford's Norfolk assembly plant, and James F. Black (right), who will succeed Mr. Runyon in that post, present community service award plaques to (from left): Frederick J. NORFOLK — Five employees of Ford Motor Company's Norfolk assembly plant, and the wives of four other employees were honored here today for their outstanding community service.

The nine men and women received plaques bearing the engraved commendation of Henry Ford II, chairman of the board of Ford Motor Company, during a luncheon attended by plant management and fellow employees.

Plant Manager Marvin T. Runyon made the presentation in his capacity as chairman of Ford's Virginia Community Relations Committee.

"In an age when the demands of our careers and families seem to take an increasing measure of our time, it is gratifying to see Ford employees and wives devoting hours and effort to these vital civic functions," Mr. Runyon said during presentation ceremonies.

Also selected for community service honors were 16 other employees and wives who received written citations on the basis of nominations submitted by their fellow employees at the plant.

Among those receiving Community Service Award plaques were: Mrs. John L. Flood, of 1401 D-lay Court, is the wife of the plant's industrial engineering manager now on special assignment to the 1967 model launching committee. She is a member of the women's auxiliary of the Norfolk Symphony Orchestra, as well as co-chairman of the ways and means committee. Mrs. Flood is a volunteer worker at the Norfolk General Hospital and received recognition pins in 1965 and in 1966 for serving the hospital for a full day every week.

Frederick J. Meyers, of 509 Sharp St., is an employee in the scheduling department of production control. He was instrumental in the formation of the Lynnhaven Pony League and the Princess Anne Little League where he managed its first championship team. He continues as coach in the Princess Anne Recreational League and this year will assist in the Pony and Colt Leagues.

George N. Gabriel, Jr., of 5349 Barton Drive is a college graduate trainee in the industrial engineering department at the plant. He was campaign coordinator for a candidate for the Virginia Senate and worked with several civic and political groups to promote voter registration during the Democratic primary in July, 1963. He has assisted fund raising efforts for Governor Mills Godwin, and holds membership in the Carolanne Farms Civic League, the Young Democratic Club of Virginia Beach, and the Norfolk Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Thaddeus Parrish, of 1388 Stephens Road, is employed in the plant's trim department. He is an active member and past deacon of the Virginia Beach Presbyterian Church and has done volunteer work with the Virginia Beach Little League. He is active in Boy Scout work and is a member of the Order of the Arrow of the Blue Heron Lodge.

Leonard Morrell, of 709 Wolf-snare Crescent, is an engineer in the process engineering department. He organized the Princess Anne Plaza Fire Company in 1962, purchased the company's first piece of equipment and served as its president. He was elected fire chief for two terms and served as safety chairman of the Virginia Beach Council of the P.T.A. Active in the Bow Creek Presbyterian Church, Mr. Morrell last year began serving as a church elder. He also devotes time to youth groups and to the Union Seminary Advance, an organization whose objectives include recruiting and preparing men for the ministry.

Proposed Development

VIRGINIA BEACH — American Land Corp., represented by Terry Kepp, unveiled plans for a Poly-nesian motel and restaurant, plus a surfer's shelter on the oceanfront, at the recent meeting of the Planning Commission hearing.

The development would face 400 feet on the oceanfront and extend west to the shores of North Bay. It would be south of Sandfly Avenue, adjoining the city-owned oceanfront park being developed on land sold to the city by American Land.

A small boat marina and a boat launching area would be on the bay side. Shops and a parking area would be between the future road and the bay. The 96-unit motel and restaurant would face the ocean.

Ben F. Britt, architect, drew the plans. Best estimate has been made. Kepp stated that no date has been set for completion, and no

Farms Now

Total 394

WASHINGTON, D. C. — A total of 394 farms were counted in Virginia Beach during the 1954 Census of Agriculture, the U. S. Department of Commerce's Bureau of the Census reports. This includes the area that was formerly Princess Anne County.

In the last previous Census of Agriculture (1950), the total counted was 417 farms.

The 1954 total is published in a preliminary report just issued. The report also shows that average farm size was 159.9 acres and that the average value of the farms (land and buildings) in 1954 was $20,388.

Other important statistics in the report are:

1. Value of all farm products sold by farms in 1954, $3,386,765; in 1950, $5,232,441.

2. Value of all crops sold by farms in 1954, $3,967,785; in 1950, $2,870,064.

3. Value of all livestock and livestock products sold by farms in 1954, $2,340,974; in 1950, $2,422,377.

Information obtained for the first time in an agricultural census included the amount of income received by farmers ($90,065) from recreational services as well as data on the use of pest control chemicals in 1954.

A Census of Agriculture is taken every 5 years in years ending in "4" and "9" to gather information on the nation's agricultural resources and production. The data are needed to make decisions affecting many segments of the U. S. economy. The 1954 farm census was the 18th in a series that began in 1940.

The preliminary report contains more than 500 facts about agriculture in the area. Among additional facts it contains are the number of farms by size, type, and economic class; the number of farm operators by method of tenure, age, color, off-farm work, and number of school years completed; land in farms by use and by land-use practices; data on equipment and facilities; farm expenditures; number of hired workers; and number of farms reporting poultry and livestock production and those reporting crop production by acres and quantities as well as sales.

Single copies are available for 10 cents from the Bureau of the Census, Washington, D. C. 20233 or from any field office of the Department of Commerce. These are located in major cities.

League Policy

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Norfolk-Virginia Beach League of Women Voters announces the resignation of Mrs. Everett W. Ab-dill from the Board of Directors so that she may engage in partisan political activities.

The League engages its members to be politically active, but to preserve non-partisan organization. Board members do not engage in partisan political activity during their terms of office.

Outstanding Cadet

VIRGINIA BEACH — Cadet First Lieutenant Charles M. Reed Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Reed, 916 Cardinal Road, received the "Outstanding Cadet of the Year" award during Mother's Day ceremonies at Southwood College, Salisbury, North Carolina.

Cadet Reed was also the recipient of an Honor Student award for being on the Honor Roll all year, and the Platoon Leader award.

Realtor Week May 22-28

VIRGINIA BEACH — This week has been officially designated as Realtor Week and the members of the Norfolk, Portsmouth and Virginia Beach Boards of Realtors have made extensive plans for its celebration, said Mrs. Juanita S. Dickson, Chairman, today.

She announced a schedule of events as the Realtors in this area join with their more than 82,000 colleagues across the nation in directing public attention to their calling and the special character of the services they render.

"A Realtor is not just a real estate man," said Mrs. Dickson. "He or she is a professional in real estate who subscribes to a strict code of ethics as a member of the local board and of the National Association of Real Estate Boards."

Mrs. Dickson said Realtors took their code of ethics seriously. "It was one of the first adopted in the history of American business," she declared. "Under its 30 articles, covering all aspects of a real estate transaction, the Realtor pledges fair treatment and the full scope of his or her real estate knowledge to both contracting parties—buyer and seller."

She added that Realtor is a coined term and service mark registered with the U. S. Patent Office under the trademark laws and as such should always be capitalized. It may be used only by members of NAREB.

The theme of 1966 Realtor Week in Tidewater is contained in its slogan: "Buying-Selling real estate? See a Realtor."

"Two thirds of American families own their homes, a proportion unrivaled virtually anywhere in the world," she continued. "The advantages of home ownership—financially, in convenience and security—are obvious. With the many forms of financing available today, any family can invest in its future by 'moving up or settling down' and seeing a Realtor."

Tuesday, May 24th will be Blood Bank Day in Portsmouth. Wednesday, the 25th will be Civic Day with a civic luncheon meeting at the Golden Triangle Motor Hotel in Norfolk, where United Mortgage Servicing Corp. will be the host. The guests of honor will be the city officials and Real Estate Boards officials of Portsmouth, Chesapeake, Norfolk and Virginia Beach. The guest speaker will be Mr. George P. Shafron, President of Better Homes Realty, Inc., Alexandria, Virginia and dynamic Realtor of the Year for the State of Virginia.

Thursday, May 25th, will be Blood Bank Day for Norfolk and Virginia Beach when Realtors will donate blood to the community through its Bloodmobile.

Friday, May 27th, will be Ladies Day with a luncheon at the Lafayette Yacht Club, honoring the leading women of Tidewater.

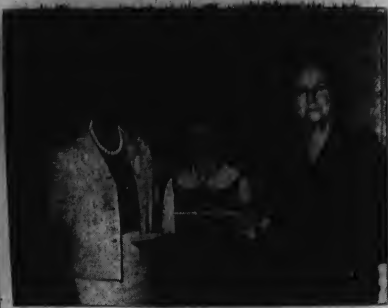

The Virginia Beach Board of Realtors was founded in 1951. Its parent group, the National Association of Real Estate Boards, was founded in 1908. Through the combined services of the National and Virginia State Association, Realtors are furnished with the latest information in real estate developments, mortgage rates, economic trends and other business factors. "We are proud to be Realtors."

Paula Ann and Robert Wagner have fun in the sun. The scene is from Warner Bros. Technicolor and Panavision thriller "Harper" due to open on Wednesday at the Beach Theatre. Paul Newman stars in the title role of Lew Harper, a flatfoot with his feet on the ground. The exciting suspense film co-stars Miss Tiffin, Wagner, Lauren Bacall, Julie Harris, Arthur Hill, Janet Leigh, Robert Webber and Shelley Winters. Jack Smight directed.

King's Grant Elementary School had a third place winner of a state award from the Daughters of the American Revolution's essay contest. She was Miss Jodie Lutz, a fifth grade student, and she received her awards from Mrs. Bernard White of the Princess Anne Chapter of DAR. Principal, Anne Lindsey, is most proud of Jodie who participates enthusiastically in many school activities. She is an A student, won third place in the physical contest, and got a second prize for her Halloween poster. (Staff photo by Padrick)

Teen-Parent Communication

VIRGINIA BEACH — "How can we establish good communication with our children?" This was the question considered at the final meeting of the term of the Virginia Beach High School Parents League by a panel consisting of Rev. Bev Felty, minister of the Virginia Beach Methodist Church; Mrs. Theresa Cook, Guidance Counselor at Virginia Beach High School; Rev. William Russell, assistant minister of First Presbyterian Church; Mrs. Robert Wilson, Principal of Friends School; and moderator, Mrs. Leo Hoarty.

"Communication is more than just talking," began Rev. Felty. "It includes attitudes, expression, understanding and time. I think there are four specific ways in which we can open up communication with our children:

1. Listen to them.
2. Explain why we are telling them to do things.
3. Praise them. We are too prone to criticize.
4. Talk about what they are interested in."

"The question is not how we communicate, but what it is that we communicate," suggested Rev. Russell. "Have we taught them that man is evil and not to be trusted? Have we taught them that they are our possessions? Have we taught them that sex is a threat, a danger to be averted or a joyous fulfillment of life? To remain silent is to say something very loudly."

"Our discussion has centered around the facts that adults don't listen. I do believe," said Mrs. Robert Wilson, "that children who have been listened to, listen. Children have a need to be listened to, to feel that we trust them and accept them as they are. Learning takes place over the bridge of feeling," she said, quoting Dr. Hollister. "Our children are not feeling anything except our eagerness to get them out of the way. There is a tremendous need for real feeling. I don't know whether we are afraid of our emotions," she continued.

"Parents' answers are often judgemental," said Mrs. Hoarty, moderator. "We are afraid our teenagers will make the same mistakes we did, so we step in with judgements from our point of view. We won't let them make their own mistakes."

"We're living in a period of transition," Rev. Russell commented. "We tend to be frightened by ideas that we don't understand. Take for example, the problem of sex. We have found that sex sells — we create an atmosphere conducive to sex and then say you must refrain. Our children are having to pay the price of our hypocrisy."

Mrs. Wilson added, "We are guilty of thinking of our children as an extension of ourselves. They are individuals and must learn by making their own decisions and their own mistakes. The problem is that all of us are only partly fulfilled and naturally we seek fulfillment through our children. Unless we, as parents, can know ourselves and be secure within ourselves we will have this problem."

"We must try to ignore or tolerate the little things; the hair-don't, makeup, etc., so that we can take our stand when there is a moral issue," said Mrs. Cook.

"We demand of our children that which we are not willing to give ourselves," said Rev. Russell. "We have a double standard in race relations. We feel that some people can be disregarded as human beings. Some people have no worth, we think. Then when out on dates our children trust people without respect, we wonder why."

"The matter of communication boils down to 'love,'" said Rev. Felty. "If we do love each other, then we do listen to what each other says. If a child has not gotten love at home, he'll get it somewhere else. Very seldom is there any difficulty with teenagers who have self-respect."

Teenagers need to have social acceptance, security, and new experiences.

The meeting concluded with the parents wondering what could be done specifically to fill these needs at Virginia Beach Junior High. "Do we have a responsibility to help meet these needs?" Would a student-parent league be an answer?

V.B. on TV

VIRGINIA BEACH — Baltimore and Washington TV viewers had their vacation appetites whetted May 15th when Virginia Beach was featured on a half-hour program.

Devoted entirely to the resort attractions of Virginia Beach was the Baltimore TV stations show "Going Places." WMAR-TV is an affiliate of the CBS network and has a wide coverage in the Maryland-D. C. area.

"Going Places," the nation's oldest television travel program appears in color over WMAR-TV and Salisbury (Maryland) station WBCTV. The show is sponsored by the Baltimore Sun.

Mrs. William Lawton (Suzanne Forbes) was the Virginia Beach representative who was interviewed on the show by "Going Places" producer-host, Bob Willis. The 13 minute color film "Virginia Beach, Yours for the Choosing" was shown prior to Mrs. Lawton's guest appearance. Mrs. Lawton, a native of Virginia Beach, is known to local viewers in commercials appearing on Norfolk stations.

According to agency head, Laura Lambe, who handles the city's resort advertising and publicity, the TV show coincided with the Baltimore Sun's summer resort section in which Virginia Beach was strongly represented with advertisements, a news story and photograph.

Memorial Gifts

VIRGINIA BEACH — With Memorial Day approaching, the Virginia Beach Unit of the American Cancer Society is planning special emphasis on its "Living" Memorial Program. It was announced by Mrs. Francis J. Geiger, Memorial Gifts Chairman.

Making a contribution to the Society's memorial fund is a fitting and practical way to help save the living and commemorate a loved one who has died of cancer or other cause.

The funds of the American Cancer Society, including Memorial Gifts, go towards saving lives in the present and in the future through coordinated programs of Education, Research and Service.

According to the Society's Virginia Beach Unit, Memorial contributions are received throughout the year. The Society sends a dignified Memorial Card to the family of the person in whose memory the gift is made and also sends an acknowledgment and receipt to the donor.

Mrs. Geiger said, "On behalf of the Virginia Beach Unit of the American Cancer Society I urge thoughtful support of the 'living' Memorial Program on this approaching Memorial Day. Remember — 'Memorial Giving Helps the Living.'"

Memorial gifts should be sent to the Virginia Beach Unit of the American Cancer Society, 958-B Laskin Road, Virginia Beach, Virginia 23451.

Galilee Men Hear Berry

VIRGINIA BEACH — The guest of honor at the Galilee Church Men's supper last Wednesday night and speaker to an open meeting afterwards was an outstanding athlete. His name is one which commands respect among football enthusiasts all over the country; however, he did not come to Virginia Beach primarily to talk about football. Raymond Berry, the great flanker end for the Baltimore Colts of the NFL is one of the Christian athletes, and, as such, he had a message for the men and boys who assembled expectantly to hear him.

Mary Rigano, who was instrumental in bringing him here, had a few vital statistics for his introduction. Berry is 33 years old, 6 feet 2 inches tall, and weighs 185 pounds. He comes from Paris, Texas, is married and the father of two children. He played football in high school, going on to be a football and track star at SMU. He was drafted by the Colts in his junior year and has been with them since his graduation in 1955. Besides being on many championship teams, typical of his honors is having been voted All-League Flanker in the NFL for the last four years.

Berry opened his talk by offering to answer questions from the audience about football. They came thick and fast: personal ones, such as: "Do you ever wear your glasses in a game?" Answer: "Yes, contact lenses." "How do you get to be a great pass receiver?" Answer: "God-given ability to catch a ball and continually working at it." Technical ones, like: "How are plays called in a huddle?" Answer: "Code numbers plus verbal variations"; and "How do you manage to stay just inside the sidelines and still watch the ball?" Answer: "Practicing that very technique." And general questions, for example: "What about dirty playing?" Answer: "Very little of it can be controlled by league officials."

When the group's curiosity had been somewhat satisfied, this professional athlete went on to tell of his background and his Christian experience. He was raised in a conventional way by good parents but as a boy and student had never felt any special relationship to God and had not been above switching baseballs at a game or cheating on a quiz. Although he began to wonder about God at college, it was not until he faced crises in his own life that he began to search in earnest. After his first year in professional ball, when he was afraid he would be cut from the squad, and his world would collapse around him, he realized he must find a purpose in this life that would help him prepare for the life to come. He began to study the scriptures and to accept the guidance of fellow athletes who were Christians.

Through a gradual process he came to realize that he, as a man, was sinful because he was not subjecting his will to God's will. He learned that God offered forgiveness and reconciliation and that he could know God through the personality of Jesus. He received understanding and power through the gift of God's grace.

This, then, is the message that Raymond Berry brings as he travels about during the off-season months, bearing witness to the good news of the Gospel.

Plaque Unveiling

ISLE OF WIGHT — On Saturday May 28th at 12 Noon the Suffolk Chapter The Virginia Society Colonial Dames of the XVII Century will unveil a plaque at St. Luke's Church, in Isle of Wight County.

The plaque was given by the Suffolk Chapter, and will be mounted on a brick pedestal and placed on the left hand side as one enters the church. The wording on the plaque is as follows:

St. Luke's Church
Mother Church of Warwickryoke
now Isle of Wight Co. Va.
The earliest original Gothic structure in the United States of America. An unique bridge between our civilization and the rich culture of medieval Europe.
(With the Colonial Dames' standard signature)

St. Luke's Church for many years was called "Old Brick Church." It was built in 1832, and is massive Gothic in style like the ruins of the church at Jamestown. St. Luke's is the oldest brick Protestant church in America. The windows are round-arched and there are four on each side. The roof is very steep, and an imposing square tower stands in front of the nave of the church. The tower has a few round-arched entrance, and above, in the second section of the tower, there are three round-arched windows. In the third and top section of the tower, the three round-arched windows are latticed, and not glassed in. The three stages of the tower are divided by string courses of brick.

The church was neglected from 1777 until 1871. Then in 1870 it was abandoned. In 1897 a great storm struck and partially wrecked the building. In 1920 restoration began.

In 1865 Federal Batteries like this were seen around Norfolk...

H. D. Oliver then had begun its 100-year service to Tidewater.

Those were the terrible years for Norfolk... but the city emerged from the conflict and began to rebuild. H. D. Oliver began serving the community in 1835 by providing a school and a funeral and burial service for all. Today, 100 years later, the name H. D. Oliver stands for the first and the most respected services. An experienced staff and excellent facilities, including a second new home at Virginia Beach assure you of the most competent handling of all your needs. Call on H. D. Oliver first.

EDITORIAL SPEAKING

Harry F. Byrd, Jr. For The Senate

We have known Harry F. Byrd, Jr. for several years. We have seen him several times lately, and we are convinced that he thrives on political campaigning. In his recent visits to Virginia Beach we have noted a new drive and force in the Senator that we had never seen before. We are convinced that this is the real Harry Byrd, Jr., who has finally stood up.

For many years Harry, Jr., stood in the shadow of his father, and chose not to run for high public office while his father was a United States Senator. His major reason for this refusal to run for Governor was to keep those against him from claiming "dynasty." Now this is the very issue being used against him in the campaign. His superior ability in governmental affairs is not even considered by those who make this claim. And as far as we are concerned, the claim is a faulty one. Regardless of his family connections, Senator Byrd is highly qualified to serve both the State of Virginia and the United States of America.

For many years he has unwittingly been groomed for the job by virtue of his family ties. Before he even went to Washington as a Senator, he knew a great number of Congressmen and Senators quite well. He had been around governmental affairs since his childhood. He was well acquainted with governmental procedures before he went to Washington. Because he was, the adaptation from State Senator to United States Senator was not a difficult one for him.

During his 18 years in the State Senate he served with diligence. He was not as vocal as some of the other members of that august body, particularly some who wished to stand in the way of good government, but his vote always reflected deep thought and what he considered the best interests of the State of Virginia.

Harry, Jr., is not an eloquent speaker, but he speaks with the sincerity and conviction that exemplify the best qualities of a United States Senator. His recent speeches in Virginia Beach have ranged in subject from tourism in Virginia to support of our armed forces in Viet Nam. He has spoken sensibly on both national and international problems. He has already proved his ability.

His voting record in the United States Senate, where he has now served for better than six months, is a solid one. It reflects sound judgment and superior leadership. It also reflects one of the most important aspects of government today . . . progressive thinking.

Senator Byrd is no longer "Little Harry," partly overshadowed by the aura surrounding his father. And in the final analysis, we begin to believe he was never really "Little Harry" at all. He has now proved to all Virginians his ability to serve and his willingness to discuss all the issues during this grinding campaign.

Most people agree that his opponent in the July Democratic Primary has not managed to get his campaign off the ground. Harry Byrd, Jr., has had his off the ground since the beginning, and he won't stop until he wins his first hard-fought term on Capitol Hill . . . on his own. We take pride in supporting the candidacy of Harry F. Byrd, Jr.

A Salute To The Unsung Heroes

We are celebrating Rescue Squad Week, and all of us should pause and think about how lucky the City of Virginia Beach really is to have so many

Memorial Day Remembered

Memorial Day is not a sacred holiday. It is usually associated with fun. We would not change this if we could. But we would that the citizens of Virginia Beach would take just a moment to reflect upon the significance of this holiday.

We should all remember the thousands of American fighting men who died to keep our land free. We should remember that more will die on strange battlefields for the same purpose. We should remember with pride and reverence on this Memorial Day the principles for which our country stands. This is the way we will celebrate our Memorial Day.

We will look at each flag of our country flying that day, and treat it with reverence. This is not done by as many today as in the past. We do not refer to demonstrations or protesting, but to the great number of people who do not give our flag the proper respect.

We were shocked last Saturday while watching the Armed Forces Day Parade how many people, adults and children alike who did not even rise from the curb when the colors passed by. Something has apparently happened to patriotism, and we do not like that something.

Let us rededicate ourselves to those finer purposes on this Memorial Day, even as we enjoy the fruits of the season.

excellent rescue squads. No city that we have ever heard of has finer protection from its rescue squads than does Virginia Beach.

The members of the squads are volunteers who simply wish to serve. They give of their time and their efforts. They strive to learn more about rescue work continually. They are always there when they are needed. They have received numerous commendations from citizens in the past, and never has there been a valid complaint against any member or the service he was performing. What better record can any group have?

We have never needed the services of the rescue squads personally, and we hope we never do need them, but we are secure in the confidence we have in the squads and their members. Time after time, we have watched a squadman arrive at a scene of violence or tragedy promptly, and set about his work dutifully, quickly and with a high degree of proficiency. Many a person in the city of Virginia Beach today owes his life to the fine work of a volunteer rescue squadman.

These are dedicated men, and they deserve our full support. There are those who have suggested that Virginia Beach should have regular paid firemen and rescue personnel. Perhaps this will come about soon, as our city continues to grow. But it will not come about because of a lack of competent personnel in any emergency we face today.

Our sincerest congratulations to all the members of all the squads for a job always well done.

'MY WIFE SAYS THE CRAB - GRASS BACK HOME IS TERRIBLE...'

The Scourges Of The City

Just about this same time every year, as soon as the weather becomes delightfully pleasant and the sap rises in the limbs, the City of Virginia Beach, unfortunately like so many other cities, is invaded by the most nefarious, malicious and difficult-to-eradicate insects known to man. No repellent or bug bomb is effective against the creature. It is against the law to step on them or hit them with fly swatters or balled-up newspapers. There is a law against them, but so little is done to enforce the law that they continue to thrive and multiply. As we drove through much of Virginia Beach last weekend, we noted with displeasure that, although they had not been entirely dormant during the winter, they are back again in full force doing their untold amount of damage.

Lest our readers suddenly rush for cover, we had best explain. The insect to which we refer is a two-legged one, of many sizes, shapes, colors and forms, and one supposed to possess a well-developed nervous system. It is hard for us to understand how these specimens described above can exist at all, particularly when they ought to know better. We refer to the "Trashica Rattus Phinque," commonly known as the "litterbug."

Not only along our beaches and highways is the work of the litterbug once again in evidence, but we can also see his handiwork in parking lots at shopping centers, along residential streets, and almost anywhere we look. This is regrettable.

We are obviously aware that the only way littering can be stopped is through the efforts of all individuals with pride in neatness and cleanliness. All the reminders and signs cannot accomplish this. It takes a little time and effort by everyone.

Last summer there were a very few arrests and convictions under the litter law, and the law does remain on the books. We wish to see it enforced to a great extent. Since so many people obviously lack the ability to be neat, perhaps the Police Department can help a few of them and set an example for others like them.

All we want is a clean city, devoid of the garbage and trash where it should not be. We do not believe that it is too much to ask, and we respectfully request the cooperation of everyone in this campaign to stamp out litterbugs.

It Has Come Again - At Last

There were times this year when we had our doubts, but the weatherman finally got together with the calendar boys and the folks at the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce. They managed to settle the season down, and our belated springtime is here. And this weekend marks the unofficial beginning of the tourist season in Virginia Beach. The tourists are indeed welcome once more to our fair city.

Tourism is still the second largest industry in Virginia Beach. The first, incidentally is farming. We look forward each year to the advent of the summer season in Virginia Beach. It brings with it not only good weather and a hustle-bustle of fun and frolic, but also a bevy of beauties in bikinis and a great boom to the economy of our city.

This year, a record number of tourists will come to Virginia Beach. They will spend more money than ever before. They will find more things to do and more places to go than ever before. They will find a city, made up of residents who welcome visitors and will do as much as possible to make the visitors comfortable.

We hope our summer friends will take advantage of the new and exciting recreational facilities. We hope they will travel our improved roads. We hope they will visit our shopping centers as well as our beaches. We hope they have a grand time and that they will leave Virginia Beach reluctantly, with plans to return again soon.

'Tis the season of the sun-worshiper, and the season that Virginia Beach enjoys itself the most. It has come again at last.

Rowers Leave Beach

co-owner of the Marshalls presented the men with replicas of the Norfolk mace and a book about Tidewater history.

About 400 well-wishers lined the beach for the send-off and about ten yachts escorted the "Puffin" to the three mile limit. At that point the rowers were left to themselves and the sea.

Hoare and Johnston told reporters that the "Puffin" had been exclusively designed for an Atlantic crossing and that they had no misgivings about the trip. Before they left, the men had planned to row 50 to 60 miles a day, but a strong south-westerly breeze kept pushing them back every time they would gain a little headway. When they would stop rowing at night, they would begin losing all they had gained during the day.

As of press time last night, the men were still game to continue on their way, and refused to give up and try it again later.

Gull's-Eye View

BY N. S. CROW

Let me introduce myself. My name is N. S. Crow. My family and I moved to Virginia Beach a couple of years ago when the Chesapeake Bay Bridge Tunnel was first opened. Many of my relatives migrated here at the same time, since the symbol of the new complex was such a good likeness of our favorite uncle, Marvin Segal. Since that may cause some confusion, let me explain that his name was accidentally changed some years ago by the Democratic nomination for United States Senator from Virginia.

Where we used to live on the Jersey coast before the factories there polluted the water so and killed off so many of my friends, politics was rarely discussed except right around elections. Things are sure different in Virginia Beach. And it seems to me that those in office now are not the ones causing all the problems. The way I see it in my daily fly-over, it appears that all kinds of unrest is being stirred up by those enjoying my favorite sport, "fishing." The only difference is these folks are fishing for something to stir up.

We really like Virginia Beach. It is a fine, progressive city. I just can't see why those folks keep trying to find "indications of this" and "indications of that." Wouldn't it be better if they just accepted it all at face value. Even some news reporters get in on the act. They search for familiar faces in crowds. They speculate on things they know can never come to pass. They choose one side of the political fence, then the other.

The troublemakers watch the political powers constantly. Perhaps they would like our vantage point better. It gives a much better and unobstructed view. We can see each time they scratch their noses, and that must mean something, according to the troublemakers. Of course, from here, it looks like their noses might itch.

We have recently taken a summer place in the 3100 block of Pacific Avenue, through the courtesy of the Virginia Beach Sun. Perhaps from here we will be better able to witness every heartbeat of the campaign.

Meanwhile, we must fly. There seems to be a strong headwind which could delay my getting back to my little havenest. See you next week.

THE VIRGINIA BEACH OPEN FORUM

When a much needed item grows scarce the demand increases and prices advance. This used to be called "The Supply and Demand Ratio."

The Federal Government, during the past several years, has tried to check-rein this free-wheeling theory. The results have been a mixture of good and bad.

There is one area of human activity where this "supply and demand theory" will always work. For the benefit of our youth, if you discover this area and work at it, you can set your price and probably get it. Don't, however, think you can fake your way through. It will be impossible, because your daily performance will leave indelible tell-tale tracings.

This human character commodity has a precious name and it is

guess — just listen now; it's "Thoroughness."

Dear Mrs. Barnes:

On behalf of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Virginia Beach Borough Fire Department and myself, I would like to thank you for all you have done to help make our Norwegian Lady Ceremony a success. I do not believe that I would be far from wrong in stating that the publicity you gave to our Auxiliary was almost the only kind that we received. You were most thoughtful in giving us the extra clippings and pictures. Thanking you again for your cooperation.

Very truly yours,

Fort Story's 'Power For Peace'

FORT STORY — We spent a half day at Fort Story on Armed Forces Day visiting the training areas and observing the many soldiers operating the amphibious vehicles and landing craft. Troops trained at Fort Story are now performing missions in all parts of the world, including Viet Nam, and is contributing greatly to national security.

The equipment displayed gave us a clearer understanding of the role Fort Story plays in defense of our nation and the free world.

Open for the benefit of the public was the Armed Forces display area with a bus going every hour for Nike site rides and LARC rides. The latter we thoroughly enjoyed.

We visited the launch area, the administrative area, the fire control area, the officers open mess, the NCO mess, the service club, the post theatre and chapel.

We had previously been to the memorial cross and climbed the steps of the old lighthouse, built in 1791, which is now the symbol of Virginia Beach.

Military police answered questions, the soldiers were most courteous, and lunch of hot dogs, hamburgers, and cold drinks were served by the teenage clubs. Children of the men stationed at Fort Story.

Golden Horse Show Plans Big

VIRGINIA BEACH — A golden horse shoe at the door of the dining room in the Black Angus and at the speaker's head table, and golden horse shoe pins for boosters of a really big horse show being promoted for the benefit of retarded children and other charities, plus the "golden tones" of the various speakers symbolized the theme of the kick-off luncheon for the Virginia Beach Golden Horse Show.

Horse fanciers from 17 states are expected to come to Great Neck Stables, on Great Neck road next to Cox High school, to compete for the $10,000 prize money. The show will include 75 events with men, women, and children to ride in hunter, jumper, walking horse, western and three and five-gaited categories.

Gerry Ashburn, well-known local horseman, is the owner of the Great Neck Stables and is happy to have her home grounds selected as the locale of the 3 day show scheduled for June 24, 25 and 26.

The Class A horse show is being promoted by the Dillon Brothers of Greensboro, N. C., and is sponsored by the Kempville Woman's Club and the Kempville Ruritan Club. The two Kempville Clubs have been holding horse shows for the past 15 years with $2,000 in prize money. Under American Horse Show Association rules, this was a Class B show. ## New 'Disaster Control' Truck For Squad

VIRGINIA BEACH — William H. Phillips, captain of the Virginia Beach Rescue Squad, unveiled a $10,000 piece of equipment Friday that the squad had recently acquired.

Phillips said the vehicle, a "disaster control" truck carries various types of equipment to fight any kind of disaster — from a hurricane to an explosion.

The truck is now in use by the squad, but is not yet fully equipped. Phillips said it does carry three complete first aid boxes now.

In addition, Phillips said, the truck now has a portable generator, cutting torch, power tools, a portable hydraulic jack, and a large tank of oxygen.

Phillips said it will not be long before the truck is fully equipped. The truck got its first public viewing Saturday at the Armed Forces Day Parade.

CHILDREN BEWARE

BATMAN May be very big with today's children, but parents should hammer home to youngsters a warning against picking up and handling bats because of the rabies hazard they represent. They are accomplished insect killers, using their radar-like ability to navigate by sound reflection acrobatic feats as they hunt in the early dusk. But when they become diseased they lose their strength and may fall to the ground. Bats are becoming an unpleasantly common carrier of rabies and youngsters should be firmly taught to shun them anytime they are within reach.

- A. $229.00
- B. $298.00
- C. $336.00
- D. $427.00

$229.00 is correct. Surprised? Well, that's all it cost the Henry O. Dixon family of Hampton, Virginia, to enjoy year-round climate conditioning with the all-electric heat pump. The Dixons think that's pretty reasonable for the comfort and convenience of automatic winter heating and summer cooling. Don't you? Call your VEPCO-authorized Comfort Conditioning Contractor and find out how much it would cost to do yours the modern flameless way. He can show you how you can save $125 on your qualifying residential heat pump installation, too.

Junior Golf

VIRGINIA BEACH — Youngsters who would like to play golf and learn more about the etiquette and rules regarding the game are invited to participate in the Jaycee Junior Golf Tournament to be held Monday, June 6, at the Cavalier Yacht and Country Club.

Two flights are scheduled. The novice group is for children 12 years old and younger, and the open play is for those 13 years old through 17 (must not be 18 before September 1.)

Winners and runners-up will receive trophies and the chance to play in the State tournaments in Waynesboro, Virginia, June 13, 14 and 15.

The local tournament will be a 36-hole medalist play. A clinic will be given the morning of June 6 by Lou Shue, golf pro. The starting times for the tournament will be announced. There is no entry fee.

Entry blanks are at all local pro shops and the entry deadline is June 3. Further information may be obtained by calling C. M. Davis, chairman, at 426-6111, extension 12.

It is hoped that many budding golf enthusiasts will enter and participate as the tournament is designed more to familiarize them with the sport and to teach self-reliance and sportsmanship than it is to produce winners.

Ever since the outdoor cooking fad began, we've been catering to the special needs of outdoor chefs.

Over the years, we've satisfied scores of thousands. Many, many find just the steak, chops or chicken they want in our self-service meat departments. Others have specific needs... the steak must be 2 1/2" thick, the chops double thick and so forth. That's no problem. If you don't see it... just ask. We'll be happy to help you.

One other reason we're so popular with "backyard barbecuers"... the quality of our "Super-Right" Meats. Quality so high, some meat graded U.S. Choice just isn't perfect enough to be "Super-Right" Meat.

Is this a good reason for shopping A&P? It's one of many.

It's strawberry picking, strawberry shortcake and strawberry preserving time! And if you are ambitious, you can pick your own. Many of the local farmers open their fields to you. All you need is a bucket or a box or a pan or any type of container, a little money, and time to spare.

Those of you who have picked before know where to go; newcomers should check the classified ads in the daily newspapers for directions. Fields are open in Kempville, Bayside and Princess Anne boroughs. A ride out into the farming districts will reveal hand-lettered signs, a concentration of cars, and open land dotted with groups of men and women all in bent-over positions. That's the place!

It is recommended that you wear old shoes with thick soles and solid uppers as the ground may be muddy or at least dry and uneven; and long pants with long sleeve shirts or blouses are best, even if the sun is hot, as there may be pesky yellow flies and mosquitos to torment your exposed areas.

But the plump red berries peeping shyly from under the green leaves make it worth your while. If you don't take long to fill your containers, and it is wise to set a limit on your harvest as there is something almost hypnotic about "getting just a few more from the next row" or "filling one more basket to make sure we have enough."

Save yourself time to get them washed and stemmed... that's the best done sitting on a cool porch with friendly neighbors to help you or join you for a "sticky finger time." You will be tempted to eat a good portion as you are preparing them for the refrigerator or the freezer or the canning kettle, but don't worry, there aren't too many calories in strawberries which are bursting with all kinds of good vitamins and minerals too. And are better for the children than lolly-pops or Batman gum.

Pounds of sugar and bowls of whipped cream are necessary companions to the luscious fruit saved for desserts and preserves. Nothing quite compares with the strawberries you eat today, spread on your bread next month, or filed in your freezer next winter. It's a hard day's work for a year of good eating.

Corkran Named Tidewater's Salior-Of-The-Month

NORFOLK — A Lutheran lay leader has been named Tidewater Sailor of the Month by Rear Admiral Paul D. Buie, Fifth Naval District Commandant, in a program which recognizes outstanding community service by Navy enlisted personnel serving in the Tidewater area.

The honor was given to Connor L. Corkran, Jr., chief yeoman assigned to Navy Attack Squadron 43 at the Naval Air Station, Oceana, Virginia Beach, Va.

Corkran has been officially commended for his work in organizing the Tidewater Human Relations Association, a group composed of representation from all Lutheran Churches in the area. He is now chairman of that group. In addition, the career Navyman is active in his local church as Financial Secretary, Chairman of Stewardship, and a member of the Church Board.

Admiral Buie also cited Corkran for his off-duty educational achievements, and his support of the Red Cross Blood Program. Corkran joined the Navy in 1947 with an eighth-grade education. ## WAVY To Present Brubeck Fair Set

For OCT. 3-8

Special to the Virginia Beach Sun

VIRGINIA BEACH — The biggest fair ever held in Tidewater Virginia will be staged at Hilltop in Virginia Beach from Oct. 3-8, the Greater Tidewater Fair.

Under the sponsorship of Virginia Beach Elks Lodge 2268, the fair will be conducted on a 30-acre site.

John J. Shand, chairman of the Fair Committee of the sponsoring Lodge 2268, said a state charter has been obtained for the fair.

"To our knowledge this will be the first major fair in the Tidewater area since 1927," said Shand.

Shand said Steve Rose of Virginia Beach will serve as fair manager.

Agricultural, commercial and industrial exhibits are planned. There will be a midway which will come directly from the State Fair in Richmond and an independent midway in which civic organizations, churches and other groups can put up stands.

Shand indicated outstanding daily entertainment will be provided. The fair also will include a flower show and an art show with renowned judges.

The six-day fair will benefit charities supported by Elks Lodge 2268.

Shand went on to report that a female resident has moved in at Barry-Robinson, a home for boys. Her name is Hattie.

Hattie is a 26-pound pig, given to the home by Alice Brewer White, a daily fashion commentator on Virginia Beach radio station WKYC.

The pig was the door prize awarded at the party and the winner was Mrs. White.

The lady who owns hundreds of hats promptly dubbed the pig "Hattie."

"That's in honor of all the lovely hats women in Tidewater wear," laughed Mrs. White. "And I don't any of them to get the idea I mean they look like pigs."

CCO Meets Tues.

BAYSIDE — A special meeting of the Council of Civic Organizations of Virginia Beach will be held Tuesday, May 31, at 7:30 p.m. at Ocean Park Fire Station.

The purpose of this meeting will be to organize the Planned Forum at which the four Senatorial candidates will be invited to speak. Also plans will be devised for co-operating with the League of Women Voters in their pre-election voter registration drive.

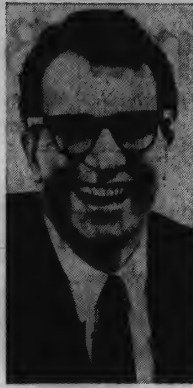

Merritt Graham, president, has announced that all representatives of member organizations are asked to be present.

VIRGINIA BEACH — WAVY Radio and Television have completed arrangements with the Virginia Beach Civic Center Dome to present Dave Brubeck and his Quartet in concert on Saturday, June 4 at the Dome. The concert will begin at 8:30 p.m.

Dave Brubeck has been elected along with Frank Sinatra and Louis Armstrong to the PLAYBOY Jazz Hall of Fame. Last October the readers of PLAYBOY Magazine were given the opportunity to vote for the three outstanding jazz artists — instrumentalist or vocalist, living or dead — whom they thought worthy of being the initial occupants of the Jazz Hall of Fame. When the ballots had been counted for the February 1966 issue, Brubeck, Armstrong and Sinatra led the rest by a handsome margin.

In announcing Mr. Brubeck's honor, the magazine's editors stated: "As the leader of one of jazz's foremost foursomes and one that has remained intact since 1956 (an eon in show-business chronology) the soft-spoken but fierce defender of his music and his musicians has achieved a rare duality. He has been a pioneer in the exploration of new jazz forms while achieving popular and financial success (the Quartet's 'Time' LP series is a perfect case in point). Composer - pianist-leader Brubeck, in carrying his jazz crusade (aided by alto saxophonist Paul Desmond, drummer Joe Morello and bassist Gene Wright) to the college campus, to the recording public and, in recent years, to the four corners of the globe, has shown an unbending dedication to his art."

In other polls results published early this year, the Brubeck Quartet continued to hold first place in the nation as an instrumental combo — a position it has held for a decade. PLAYBOY readers also named Mr. Brubeck for the sixth consecutive year as their choice as pianist in an All-Star Jazz Band.

DAVE BRUBECK

Joe Morello was elected as readers' choice for drummer, and in the musicians' poll for an all-star band Paul Desmond was first choice on alto sax, a position he has held on two previous occasions.

Each of these honored musicians will be given an opportunity to solo during the Dave Brubeck concert on June 4 at the Civic Center Dome.

Tickets are on sale at the Civic Center Box Office and all Carroll's Drive-ins throughout the Tidewater area.

Miss Pam Crutchfield of Newport, R. I., formerly of Virginia Beach, was recently elected president of student government for the 1966-67 session at Marjorie Webster Junior College, Washington, D. C. Miss Crutchfield, daughter of Capt. (USN) and Mrs. Robert Crutchfield, is a graduate of Virginia Beach High School. She is a dean's list student at Marjorie Webster.

New Officers Of THA

VIRGINIA BEACH — The heart is on everyone's mind. It could be because it's June time, or because the press brings vividly to our attention the fact that heart surgery and research goes rapidly forward with Dr. DeBakey's recent artificial heart operation and the left "ventricle by-pass operation of the cardio-vascular team" in Houston, Texas.

In response to Pres. Johnson's call for a multimillion dollar program of international medical co-operation a group of "circuit riding" heart specialists is spending up to five days in each of 34 countries describing the latest method of treating heart disease.

Recently at Pinetree Inn approximately 100 members of the Tidewater Heart Association met at its annual general meeting to elect officers and to hear Wallace R. Heatwole, president of the Virginia Heart Association, spreading the word as a "circuit rider." A brilliant attorney, he has spoken in 44 states to various civic, fraternal and charitable organizations and for the past several years has been active in this regard.

Heatwole was introduced by Richard Henry Caldwell Taylor who had been presented to the group by William (Bill) Campbell. He spoke enthusiastically of the cooperation between the Heart Fund Drives and the UCF drive. "Here in Tidewater," he stated, "you are blessed with a staff and volunteers who do not belong to a heterogeneous organization but to a group of hardworking enthusiastic persons. They do not stand for apathy but for enthusiasm, without which nothing can ever be accomplished."

"Today there are two million persons in America working as heart volunteers, and everyone here seems to realize the fact that 54% of all deaths in America are due to heart disease. Directly or indirectly, each person here has been affected by this killer."

"Efforts have been made in the past by some who say that the heart movement is not necessary, but wherever mortal beings sacrifice themselves and become involved for the good of others, we as an organization will be engraved on the tablets of mankind to brighten all eternity. We must, therefore, continue to be out front in our drives for the heart."

Ford Gives Away Car

NORFOLK — A process engineer at Ford Motor Company's Norfolk assembly plant has been awarded a new Mustang for an idea submitted under the company's management proposal plan.

Leonard Morrell, of 709 Wolfesnare Crescent, Virginia Beach, received notification of the award from Plant Manager James F. Black.

The management proposal plan was initiated locally in 1964. Beginning in October, 1965, top awards made under the program became a new Mustang or Comet automobile, and $800 and $300 gift certificates for Philco products.

Mr. Morrell, who last week was cited by Ford for outstanding service to his community, is the first Norfolk salaried employee to receive a new car under the program.

His suggestion involved removal of a small strip of sound absorber on 4-door Fords and Mercs. Design changes on the new models made the strips unnecessary.

Mr. Morrell joined Ford in July, 1960, at the company's Chester (Pa.) assembly plant. He was

When Ministers Meet

BAYSIDE—The Virginia Beach Ministerial Association met last week at Baylake Methodist Church with the Rev. R. E. Musser as the host to a coffee hour before the business session. More than forty ministers attended and noted with interest the large and extensive addition with scaffolding and bell tower being added to the original handsome structure—another sign of progress.

The Rev. R. A. Beu opened the meeting with an invocation of thankfulness and the hope that some day "we would be working as one church under God."

Retiring president, the Rev. C. N. Clifton, who is leaving the area shortly for another pastorate, reminded the ministers of their invitation from WKVK to give taped sermons of one minute duration, and urged them to sign up.

The pilot project of summer services of worship for campers at Seashore State Park will begin on June 5 and last through August 22. The ministers were asked to volunteer their services.

It will be an informal type of family worship out of doors from 9 to 9:30 a.m. at the amphitheater on the camp-site area. In case of inclement weather, the service will be canceled.

The minister to contact is the Rev. J. L. Coppock at 497-2233 or 420-2882.

As the third study in the Worship service, Chancelin Warren Bost, Oceana NAS, planned a Protestant Worship Service discussion. With the Jewish and Catholic services had been discussed at previous meetings.

He spoke with the aid of charts and displays of different church bulletins and said in part: "Christian worship is the church's response to God's redemptive acts. The response is activated by the Holy Spirit. This is summed up in the phrase: 'God acts — man responds.' Christians hold that God spoke through the Incarnate Word, Jesus Christ. In congregational worship God speaks today through three media — the written Word of the Scripture, the preached word of the sermon, and the visible word of the Sacraments. For most congregations in the Presbyterian and Reformed tradition these beliefs underlie the forms and liturgies upon which congregational worship is constructed."

He was assisted by the Rev. James C. DeFoe who remarked on the emphasis placed on the power of the Holy Spirit by congregations in the Pentecostal tradition.

Chairman of the committee for the Hospitality House for servicemen, the Rev. Samuel Bailey Jr., reported that many meetings had been held with representatives from the City's Park and Recreation Commission and many places had been discussed, but, as yet, there were no definite plans for a "home" for the service personnel. It is still hoped that the USO will see fit to help with the problem.

The nominating committee composed of the Rev. J. L. Coppock, chairman, the Rev. R. E. Beu, and the Rev. R. E. Musser, presented the slate of officers who were unanimously elected for 1967. They are the Rev. Dickson W. Taylor of the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd, as president; the Rev. Gene L. Bucher of the First Church of the Brethren, vice president; and Father Louis J. Berry of St. Matthew's Roman Catholic church, secretary and treasurer.

It was announced that the last meeting of the year will be at the Research and Enlightenment Center on Atlantic Avenue when Hugh Lynn Cayce will speak. The meeting will begin at 10:30 a.m. on Thursday, June 9.

Airman 3/c Joseph M. V. Porter, son of Mrs. Ruth S. V. Porter of 2616 Breezy Road, has been graduated at Sheppard AFB, Tex., from the training course for the Air Force aircraft mechanics. He is being assigned to Langley AFB, Va. for duty with the Tactical Air Command.

Pvt. Lester B. Bramble, son of Mrs. E. Harrell, 5601 Elgin Road, has completed a lineman's course at the Army Southern Signal School, Fort Dix, N. J. He is also the son of John C. Bramble, 1333 Laurel Cres., Norfolk.

Well Child Waiting Room

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Naval Air Station Oceana's dispensary Well-Children's Waiting Room was officially opened on May 9, when Capt. D. C. Ramsey, II cut the ribbon at ceremonies held at the new facility.

The waiting room is designed to give well children a place to stay while their parents visit the doctor or take their ailing brothers and sisters in for medical care.

Chief advantage of the facility is that it provides an alternative to placing well children in the same room with those who could possibly have communicable diseases. In addition, the waiting room relieves mothers of the need to take care of their children while trying to explain to the doctor the symptoms they have noticed in their children.

A free service staffed by volunteers, the Well-Children's Waiting Room will be open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Monday through Friday. The facility will not be in operation on the weekends.

Eskey was cited for "outstanding meritorious service in connection with ground operations against" the Viet Cong from October 1964 to September 1965. The 23-year-old soldier, a helicopter pilot, entered the Army in July 1963. He was graduated from Princess Anne High School in 1963. (Army Photo)

The Granddaddy Club

VIRGINIA BEACH—The annual convention of The Travelers' Protective Association which met at the Cavalier recently produced some remarkable sidelights of profound interest.

The delegation from Roanoke was asked to stand and be recognized at the convention dinner. Why? Because the four gentlemen were 82, 84, 85, and 88 years old respectively! All are in good health and fine looking men. One of them, Robert K. Rector, possesses the unique and signal honor of being the founder of the Granddaddy Ltd. Club which now has members all over the world.

It is the only exclusive club in history that requires "no dues, no meetings and no money." It gives its members the privilege of talking to anyone about their grandchildren at any time and at any place. The purpose is "to band together the proudest, happiest, and most carefree group of men living today."

Coffee House To Open

VIRGINIA BEACH — Next to the ABC store on Atlantic Avenue will be the "D" Coffee House, a relaxing haven for visiting and local college-age youth, including military personnel. Conceived by the Sessions Witness Committee of the First Presbyterian Church, its purpose is to provide a place where the young may meet for conversation and coffee, comfort and companionship.

Dr. Ben Costenbader is the chairman of the Witness Committee which is working to have the place ready for opening on May 28, Saturday night, at 8 p.m. Though jointly sponsored by the First Presbyterian Church and the Norfolk Presbytery, it will be a completely separate operation from the church. Manager of the "D" will be James Holderness of Tarboro, N. C., a rising senior from the Union Theological Seminary in Richmond, who will operate it as a "tame away from home."

The Rev. William D. Russell has stated that the members felt this would be a way to witness to young people without using a theological or religious theme. "The coffee house is being provided as a benefit for them; not for the church." Coffee, cold drinks, and packaged snacks will be available, and entertainment which will probably be mainly in the folk music line, may consist of both professional and amateur performers.

Hours that the "D" will be open will be from 8 p.m. to 2 a.m., and after June 4 will be open on a regular schedule.

"And they lifted up their voices, and said, Jesus, Master, have mercy on us."
—John 17:13

The quality of mercy is shown clearly through the life of Christ upon earth. And yet some of us do not clearly understand the meaning of the word. We think of mercy, perhaps, as something to be received from the hands of a master, a king, or a victor in battle. We do not realize that we, too, can evidence the quality of mercy in our daily lives.

Look to your dictionary. Rate yourself on such things as forbearance; compassion; willingness to forgive and be kind; leniency.

Mercy is something you may extend to others as you expect it for yourself.

Read your BIBLE daily and GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY

MISS WELTON

Members Of May Court

DANVILLE — Two Virginia Beach girls played prominent parts in this year's May Day celebration at Stratford College. Miss Le Reinhardt and Miss Nancy Welton were members of the May Court.

Rain forced this year's pageant to be held in the college gymnasium instead of the amphitheater.

MISS REINHARDT

Pre-Nuptial Fetes For Local Girl

VIRGINIA BEACH — A pre-nuptial cocktail party in honor of the coming marriage of Miss Janice M. Norton to Ensign Richard P. McCormack III, USN, will be given by Capt. A. and Mrs. J. L. McCane Jr. at Virginia Beach on Friday night, May 20. Bristle Point Officers Club, NAS, will be the scene for a dinner after rehearsal being hosted by Mr. and Mrs. McCormack, Jr. of Dixie, New York.

The bride was to be feted earlier at several times given in her honor. A luncheon Bridal Shower was given by Mrs. Jim Mueley and Mrs. Daniel Walkendancer at the Little Creek Amphibious Base Officers Club. Mrs. Robert Heggie and Mrs. Robert Gerberg, sisters of the groom, presented her with a bridal shower luncheon at Mrs. Heggie's home in Smithtown, Long Island, in Trenton, New Jersey. Judge and Mrs. Edward Pielan were hosts for a reception and shower. Miss Patricia Benz of Virginia Beach entertained in honor of Miss Norton at the Norfolk Yacht and Country Club.

Janice M. Norton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Norton of Lake Shores. Her wedding to Ensign McCormack will take place May 21 in Our Lady of Victory Chapel, United States Naval Base, Norfolk.

Two Virginia Beach girls have been selected to positions at Randolph-Macon Woman's College for the 1966-67 academic year. They are: Susanna Church, Lawler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Webster R. Lawler of 6902 Atlantic Ave., elected assistant social chairman; and Susan Elizabeth Sellers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Duncan Sellers of 2713 Sandy Valley Road, selected assistant orientation chairman.

Berkeleys Honored

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Rev. Edmund Berkeley of Galilee Episcopal Church and his family will soon be enjoying his Sabbatical Year after 17 years of faithful service to the community. To honor the minister and his wife, the St. Francis Circle of Galilee invited them to be special guests to a covered dish dinner before the regular monthly meeting.

The Berkeleys were presented with a statuette of St. Francis of Assisi.

The Circle was founded by Mrs. Berkeley for the professional women of the church and who, because of the time and other factors, could not attend meetings of regular church circles. Mrs. Loring Smith is the current chairman of the circle.

The Rev. Berkeley was invited by Eastern Shore Chapel to preach at the eleven o'clock service, after which an informal reception was given for the Berkeleys.

Last week the congregation of Galilee was invited to attend a picnic at Old Donation Church in celebration of its fiftieth anniversary. Bishop Tucker was present and many enjoyed the reunion because of the long association Galilee has had with the Tucker family.

Letter Presented

VIRGINIA BEACH — James A. Hedrick, a sailor from Oceana Naval Air Station at Virginia Beach, was presented a letter of appreciation from Jack Prince, the vice president of WTAR Radio and Television, for his help in rescuing three WTAR employees from that station's weather patrol helicopter after a crash.

The letter was presented in ceremonies held at Oceana Air Station on May 2.

Hedrick was walking his dog in a wooded area near his home in Virginia Beach when he noticed the WTAR helicopter flying overhead. Suddenly, as he watched, it seemed to fall apart and fall to the ground near him.

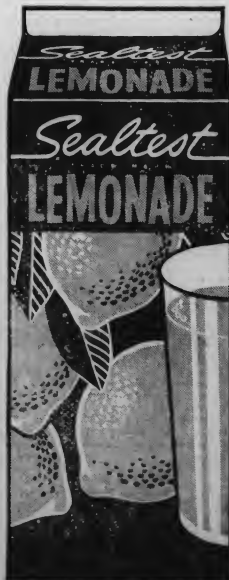

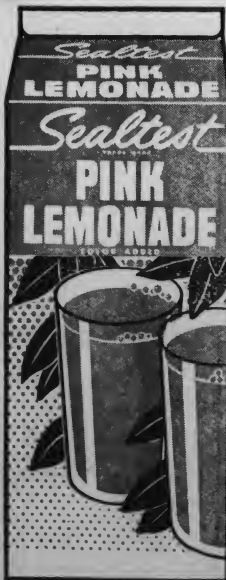

Realizing the danger that could exist were a fire to be ignited from the crash, he nevertheless rushed to the crashed helicopter and pulled the three passengers a safe distance away from the wreckage.

In his letter to Capt. D. C. Rumsey, II, Hedrick's commanding officer, Prince wrote, "It took extreme calmness and courage to assist these gentlemen not knowing whether or not the helicopter might explode or the still twirling blades might somehow harm him."
